

LATHAM REPORTS SAFELY ON WATER

Airship Descends Gently and Is Picked Up With Aviator Smoking.

WILL TRY FLIGHT AGAIN

Motor Shows Down When Distance Half Covered and Latham Gently Descends — Picked Up by French Destroyer, Uninjured.

CALAIS, July 19.—Although Herbert Latham failed to fly across the channel on his monoplane, his life was at no time in danger and his machine was but slightly damaged. He will repeat the attempt. Mr. Latham got away splendidly under perfect conditions from the top of the chalk cliff at Sangatte and had covered half the distance at an average height of 500 feet when the motor slowed down and he was obliged to descend.

The air space of the wings, however, kept the machine aloft, and the monoplane, lying like a wounded bird, was stretched out on the water when the French torpedo-boat destroyer Harpon, which had kept abreast throughout the journey, came alongside and picked up the aviator. Mr. Latham was not wet and still sat in the saddle, which is located above the wings and behind the motor, calmly smoking a cigarette. He immediately announced that he was not discouraged by the failure and would try again as soon as the machine was repaired.

Machine Slightly Damaged. The injuries to the monoplane were slight, the principal damage being caused when it was hauled aboard the torpedo-boat destroyer. The motor is intact, and the wings were not damaged. The French side, and apprehension was not relieved until the semaphore at Calais reported that the Harpon was returning with Latham uninjured aboard. After landing, the aviator was given a frantic reception.

Hugged and Kissed at Calais. It was with difficulty that he made his way through the throngs and he was compelled to kiss several girls, who threw their arms around his neck.

The failure of the motor is attributed to a bad carburetor on the monoplane which, when 400 feet in the air, began to descend. When the motor was 200 feet above the water, M. Latham shut off the power and the machine glided down gently, alighting on the waves with hardly a splash.

Latham Will Try Again. In a brief interview, M. Latham said: "I cannot say exactly what stopped the motor. I tried to get the engine running again, but could not, and was obliged to fly gradually down to the sea. I believe that previous to the mishap I maintained an even flight of 400 feet above the water. It was unfortunate that the motor stopped, as everything else was favorable and I was going well at the time. Never mind, I will have another Antierette constructed from Calais, with which another attempt will be made to cross the channel within a week or ten days."

M. Latham left Calais for Paris this afternoon.

Cheered as He Makes Start. While the monoplane was being taken out and pushed to the top of a cliff, a crowd of several thousand persons assembled to witness the start and the entire population of the neighboring villages lined the shores below.

Latham was in high spirits as he carefully inspected every part of the machine, and on making several trials with the eight-cylinder motor found the machine perfect.

There was a wait of an hour until the torpedobots and tugs, strung out in a line towards the horizon, took up their positions. Finally all was in readiness and the monoplane was pushed back 200 yards from the crest of the cliff, which has a precipitous fall of 200 feet to the sea. Latham was clad in a knickerbocker suit and had donned a life preserver. He showed no signs of nervousness as he shook hands with his friends on mounting the saddle.

"Start the motor," he cried to his assistants, and then with a nod of his head and the words, "see you in Dover," threw the starting lever off, the machine running along the ground with increased momentum at every turn.

Just before reaching the edge of the cliff, the aviator touched the horizontal lever and the machine, with its white outstretched wings, rose gracefully and sailed over the shining waters amid a roar of cheers from the cliff and shores.

Flies 300 Feet Above Channel. The monoplane after leaving the cliff, ascended gradually until it probably was 300 feet above the sea. Then, straight as an arrow, it continued its flight toward the English coast, apparently under perfect control, at a rate of about 35 miles an hour.

MAY STEAL LATHAM'S GLORY Count de Lambert to Cross Channel in Wright Aeroplane.

WISSANS, France, July 19.—Count de Lambert is here with two Wright aeroplanes, which are now ready to make a series of flights.

In view of Herbert Latham's accident today, it is believed that Count de Lambert will attempt to cross the English Channel with an American machine before M. Latham is again ready to make the flight.

HE FLIES ACROSS COUNTRY Paulham Tries Wright Aeroplane, but Ends With Mishap.

ARRAS, France, July 19.—M. Paulham, the aviator, today made a cross-country flight with a Wright aeroplane from this town to Douai. He covered the 20 kilometers in 23 minutes.

After he had covered three kilometers on the return trip, the rising wind forced M. Paulham to descend and on alighting the rudder was broken.

ORVILLE MAKES TWO FLIGHTS 37 Miles Covered and Both Trips Are Successful.

WASHINGTON, July 19.—Showing more confidence in himself than he has exhibited before this season, Orville Wright made two successful flights in the Wright aeroplane at Fort Myer this evening. The first flight began shortly after 6:30 o'clock, and lasted 25 minutes and 18 seconds, during which time the aviator circled the parade grounds 2 1/2 times. The second lasted half an hour, and 2 1/2 circuits were made.

The machine behaved splendidly. In the 55 minutes it covered approximately 37 miles. Wilbur Wright declared it had attained a speed of 41 miles an hour, and reached a height of 190 feet. He said the machine worked very smoothly, but was not yet in perfect condition for the official flights. The time trials will gradually be lengthened.

WRIGHT'S MACHINE CAN DO IT But Wilbur Has No Ambition to Fly Across Channel.

WASHINGTON, July 19.—The failure of Herbert Latham to cross the English Channel today brought forth expressions of confidence from the Wright brothers that their machine can make a successful flight across the body of water. Wilbur Wright said, however, that he had no ambition to cross the channel.

The cause of Latham's failure—the stopping of his motor while in mid-air—seems to bear out the contention made by the Wrights that the future aeroplane must depend on the development of a motor.

WIFE AIDED IN MURDER BLOODY SHIRTWAIST INVOLVES MRS. SAYLER IN CRIME.

Furnishes Evidence She Sat on Husband's Chest While He Lay Dying.

DANVILLE, Ill., July 19.—A special to the Commercial News from Watska today says: Much new evidence in the Sayler-Miller murder case has been discovered. The most sensational evidence yet found is a shirtwaist belonging to Mrs. Sayler, discovered in her bedroom and said to have been concealed under the carpet.

This shirtwaist shows marks from a bloody watch-chain and the prosecution says Mrs. Sayler sat on her husband's chest during his dying moments and, as soon as she saw the blood, she hid the waist.

It is said that the only thing found in the sealed packet left by the murdered man, which bears directly on the tragedy is an intercepted letter from Dr. Miller to Mrs. Sayler. It is said this letter was written in enciphering terms.

Special Grand Jury Called. WATSEKA, Ill., July 19.—Circuit Judge Hoover today called a special grand jury to assemble tomorrow to investigate the murder of J. E. Sayler at Crescent City.

TARIFF SHOWDOWN AHEAD (Continued From First Page.) some of the Western Senators would be afraid to go home and could not expect to continue holding their positions.

Borah is authority for a report that there is in process of organization a combination of Senators who will be pledged to support the conference report if it shall provide for free coal and free hides.

No Danger of Veto. It was persistently reported today that the President would not be satisfied with free iron and oil and reduced duties on coal, hides and lumber.

No one suggested the possibility of a veto in the conflicting views of the President's position exchanged at the Capitol today. Among the older Congressmen it was predicted that the President would demand every concession possible to obtain without endangering the adoption of the conference report.

Corporation Tax Adopted. Today the conferees devoted their attention mainly to the revised corporation tax provision, which was adopted.

An effort was made today to dispose of the wood pulp and print paper schedule. The retaliatory provision concerning pulp wood was rewritten, and it is now believed that it will prove satisfactory to American mills. The print paper schedule is still in controversy.

The only controversy expected on the cotton schedule relates to hosiery. Representative Payne stands firmly for higher duties and the other House conferees are likely to sustain him.

Cullom Expects Early Agreement. Senator Cullom was called away from the conference today by the illness of his wife at Atlantic City. He predicted an agreement in conference on Thursday or Friday.

Before leaving Mr. Cullom left instructions with Senator Aldrich to cast his vote in favor of free hides, for the Senate duty on gloves and hosiery, for free coal and for the Senate provision for a countervailing duty on petroleum.

"If we can't get free coal," he said, "I am willing to have reciprocity on coal, which would give up a proper arrangement with Canada. I would like to have a duty on crude oil, as my state is very much interested in the oil industry."

TRADE ON PUBLIC IGNORANCE Cannon Says Clothiers Use Tariff as Excuse to Raise Prices.

WASHINGTON, July 19.—Speaker Cannon and Representative Dwight, of New York, Republican whip of the House, had a conference with President Taft today regarding the votes the President has undertaken to deliver to the conferees on the tariff bill in support of the sort of measure the President desires—downward revision on nearly every schedule of the Dingley law and but a small duty, if any, on raw materials.

"It's funny," said Mr. Cannon, "how much ignorance there is about the tariff. I bought this old gray suit three years ago—a homespun—from a big importing house in Chicago. Now, with labor employed in this country at full time and higher wages than ever before, and with the tariff on woolenens not changed an iota, we get a circular saying that owing to an increase in the tariff the price of these clothes will have to be advanced 25 per cent."

The speaker intimated that, trading on the lack of exact information on the part of the public, certain dealers and manufacturers were going to raise prices regardless of anything Congress could do. The fact that there has been a long and involved discussion of the tariff and much general talk about "increases all along the line," he suggested, "will give the opportunity to put up the prices to 'the ultimate consumer.'"

MONSTER MOUNTAIN LION IS KILLED IN WILDS OF SKAMANIA COUNTY

JOSEPH A. WEBBER, whose unerring aim felled cougar.

VANCOUVER, Wash., July 19.—(Special.)—A monster mountain lion was captured recently near Stevenson, Skamania County, by Joseph A. Webber, of this city. The animal weighed 150 pounds and measured 7 feet and 6 inches from tip to tip. The cougar was mounted by Jacob Gearon, of Portland.

Mr. Webber and a friend were out hunting near the divide at the mouth of Trapper Creek at Stevenson. Looking ahead on the trail the animal was spied sitting in the branches of a tree 12 feet from the ground, immediately over the trail.

"I threw my .35 caliber automatic rifle to my shoulder and fired," said Webber. "The first shot hit the cougar in the breast and the second one in the eye."

24 hours will endeavor to end the strike by legal and quiet means. This decision was reached after the strikers had been refused permission to hold a mass meeting.

For a time, after the men had been curtly told by the mounted troopers of the constabulary that no meeting would be tolerated, it looked as if serious trouble was imminent. Attorney Levi M. Wise and Father Haczewski, a Catholic priest, however, prevented a crisis by calm counsel.

According to General Manager Altman, of the Standard company, the American workmen now only await favorable auspices and ample opportunity and protection to return to work.

Eighteen alleged strike leaders were arrested today, making 21 in detention. Sheriff Caldwell has removed his deputy from the car company's plant and the constabulary are today in full charge.

While patrolling the roads leading to the car plant, mounted troops today found crude signs bearing the words, "Smoky hand. Strike on. Keep out," posted on telegraph poles and fences. The signs were torn down and idle men about the company settlement were warned against repetition of the offense.

ONE WORKMAN IN OPEN SHOP Other Employees of Tin Works Stay Away From Youngstown Plant.

YOUNGSTOWN, O., July 19.—But one local workman, a roller, returned to work today at the time announced by the American Sheet & Tin Plate Company for starting its sheet plant on the "open-shop" plan. The mill has been closed two years, and has always been a union plant.

Provisions have been purchased this morning to build a commissary for the non-union men who are expected. The town is closely picketed by the strikers. Note of the mills resumed today. The Youngstown Sheet & Tube Company will make no attempt to operate its sheet plant for several weeks. Saturday night the men officially declared a strike.

DISAGREES ON JAP CASE Honolulu Jury Has Long Siege With Jap Rioters' Case.

HONOLULU, July 19.—The jury in the case of 13 Japanese strikers who resisted arrest following the riot on the Waipahu plantation on July 8, which retired at 4 o'clock on Saturday afternoon and which last night reported that it was impossible to agree, came into court today and informed Judge Robinson that it could not reach a verdict.

After charging it further the judge again ordered it locked up. An hour later the jury for the third time reported a disagreement and finally was discharged.

It is reported to have stood seven for conviction and five for acquittal of all of the 13 defendants.

NO ATTEMPT TO SMUGGLE Government Suffers Setback in Seizures of Paris Gowns.

NEW YORK, July 19.—Failure to declare the entire contents of a trunk does not constitute an attempt to smuggle, according to a ruling of Judge Hand in the United States District Court today. This gives the Government an unexpected setback in the recent seizures in which dressmakers have figured.

The defendant was Mrs. Anna McNally, a dressmaker, whose trunk, containing Paris gowns, was seized upon arrival here in March, 1908. The Government held that the goods were forfeited, but Judge Hand ruled that, if the trunk was regarded as personal baggage, its description by the owner as "personal effects" was sufficient.

"If it is considered as merchandise," he says, "the owner's action cannot be taken as intent to smuggle, for there is no proof that attempt was made to bring the goods in without payment of duty."

BOTH NOT GUILTY IN GINGLES TRIAL

Jury Acquits Girl of Theft, Agnes Barrette of Attack on Her.

JUROR GIVES ELLA ADVICE

Her Charges Against Accuser Pronounced Untrue by Jury and She Is Called "Natural Liar" by Prosecutor.

CHICAGO, July 19.—Ella Gingles was cleared tonight from the charge of stealing lace, but the story she told on the witness-stand of being a "white slave" victim was denounced as untrue by the jury that freed her. The verdict said:

"We the jury find the defendant not guilty, and we further find that the charges made against Miss Agnes Barrette were unfounded and are untrue."

The basis of the defense made by the Gingles girl, who was on trial for stealing lace from Miss Barrette, was that Miss Barrette and others had attacked and mistreated her twice last winter and that the object was to sell her to an unnamed man in French Lick, Ind.

"Now, be a good girl, Ella. Go back to your home in Ireland and be a good girl," was the advice given the defendant by Juror Thomas Mackey as she shook hands with him after the verdict had been read.

Assistant State's Attorney Short delivered the final argument today, and ridiculed the defense's attempt to show that Miss Gingles' stories of attacks on herself, including the sensational bathroom incident of the Wellington Hotel, were true. He insisted that the defendant was a "natural liar."

Olympic Champion Beaten. SAN FRANCISCO, July 19.—The world's record for throwing the 56-pound weight for height was broken at the annual games of the Original Gaelic Dancing Club here yesterday when Patrick Donovan hurled the weight over a bar 16 feet 7 1/2 inches from the ground. Ralph Rose, the Olympic champion shotputter, was second with a toss of 14 feet.

OHIO MAN IN DIFFICULTY Arrested on Charge of Embezzling $13,500 From Woman.

LOS ANGELES, Cal., July 19.—James H. Mackie, president and general manager of the Columbus Sporting Goods Company, of Columbus, O., is held under arrest here today on charges preferred in the East of having embezzled $13,500 from Mrs. J. T. Green, a wealthy resident of the Ohio city. Mackie said when arrested last night that the arrest was the result of a plot concocted by foes.

He declined to say more until advised by attorneys. According to the police, he induced Mrs. Green first to invest $3,000 in the sporting goods concern. Later he procured $2,500 more from her. Immediately afterward the store burned, and the police assert that Mrs. Green now alleges that the man never invested the money. Mackie says he is a 32d degree Mason. When arrested he was with an alleged affinity, who is said to have come here with him from Columbus three months ago.

REV. B. C. COOK The Recipient of the Bush & Lane Piano given away Saturday night.

PORTLAND, July 19, '09. Bush & Lane Piano Co., 336 Washington St. Gentlemen—Being the fortunate recipient of the beautiful Bush & Lane piano given away Saturday night, I now take great pleasure in thanking you for same.

Contemplating the purchase of an instrument, I visited most of the piano stores in city, but have heard no pianos I like so well as the Bush & Lane, and after having examined them thoroughly I was surprised at the thorough way in which they are built. The workmanship is perfect. The tone is ideal.

I also take great pleasure in recommending Bush & Lane pianos to any of my friends who are thinking of buying. Mrs. Cook and I will be glad to have them and all others interested in securing an instrument call at our home and see ours.

Again thanking you for the beautiful Bush & Lane piano, I beg to remain sincerely yours,

If the Box Isn't Green It Isn't a PUCK.

PUCK THE BETTER THAN 5¢ CIGAR with the Havana taste

Puck is the first five cent cigar that the makers ever talked about. There's a difference between talking about a cigar and around it. PUCK is made in the way that will stand describing—it's a real, long filler, well made cigar, in two, different imported shapes. It will burn freely because there are no stems to check the fire and start it burning un-evenly. The wrapper is Sumatra, grown in the tropics under the sun where it can ripen and get the delicate, exquisite flavor of tobacco from the far Eastern Islands. Remember that there's a difference in five cent cigars and the best way to learn the difference is to experience it worth more than five cents.
