

THAW CONTRACTS EVELYN'S STORIES

Declares He Was Not Jealous of White and Was Ashamed to Carry Revolver.

TELLS OF SNAKE EPISODE

In Order to Refute Statements of His Wife, Thaw Goes Into Details of Life Before the Day of White's Murder.

NEW YORK, July 22.—(Special.)—Harry K. Thaw, who is fighting to be liberated from the State Asylum for Criminal Insane, today, for the first time, discussed for publication the events leading up to his shooting of Stanford White. He did this because of statements made lately by his wife, Evelyn Nesbit Thaw, who has turned against him.

White Terrified Evelyn. He tells of an incident at Martin's restaurant on the night of June 25, 1906, when Thaw, Evelyn and Thomas McCaleb were dining with Evelyn and himself. She happened to see White, and immediately looked terrified, shivering and seemed to be sick.

Tells Snake Story. "When Evelyn and I went to Yosemite Valley I carried a pistol, although I knew handily had previously held up the stage upon which we rode. When Evelyn on that ride saw a rattlesnake with five rattlers. I have kept these rattlers, I had to please her by jumping down and killing it.

JEROME WILL CROSS-EXAMINE Gotham's Prosecutor to Probe Thaw's Mental State.

POUGHKEEPSIE, N. Y., July 22.—It practically has been decided that District Attorney Jerome J. McGraw, who will conduct the cross-examination of Harry K. Thaw when he takes the stand in his insanity hearing.

TAFT WITH INSURGENTS

puted points were before them for settlement, brought about a condition that augurs well for an early agreement. Mr. Taft was able to get a better insight into the obstacles to a "free raw material" plan by his conference with the two leaders than was possible in as large a gathering as that at the dinner last night.

No Hope of Free Raw Material.

Mr. Aldrich met a large number of Senators who are opposed to free hides, free coal and free iron ore, and no encouragement was offered for placing these articles on the free list. In fact, were it possible to get these Senators to yield, the situation in the House would have to be dealt with. The House tariff insurgents who oppose free raw materials adopted resolutions protesting against the plan.

Coal, Iron Ore, Oil.

With regard to the free reciprocity provision on coal in the House bill there was also a firm stand. The members interested in coal declared such a provision would make the situation with regard to operations untenable, and that a reduction in the Senate rate without a clause for reciprocal free trade was more acceptable.

That a nominal duty on iron ore will be fixed by the conferees was the indication tonight. The opinion is expressed that the rate will place the domestic and imported ores on an equal footing at the Atlantic seaboard. Representative Payne is insisting on free ore.

Lower Rates on Cotton Goods.

General Sharreita and Myron DeVries, of the Board of Appraisers, and W. B. Parkhill, an examiner in the New York Customs-house, explained to the conferees at the morning session. It was decided that the headquarters of the Customs Court of Appeals shall be located in Washington.

Leather Men May Come Down.

The President told five Western Congressmen, among others, that he did not wish it to be said that he was making a fight only for free-raw materials. He emphasized the fact that he stood on the republican platform adopted at Chicago last year. This platform, he said, called for downward revision.

Colony's Son Gets Bullet Intended for Fleeing Prisoner.

SPOKANE, Wash., July 22.—(Special.)—Shooting at J. Patterson, a prisoner serving 18 months for desertion, who was making a dash for liberty, Sentryman Langdon, of Company C, stationed at Fort George Wright, this afternoon shot Paul Feibiger, the 16-year-old son of Colonel Feibiger, in command at the fort, as he made an attempt to stop the fleeing prisoner. The bullet lodged in the right thigh of the lad, who dropped to the ground as if dead.

enceau was not afraid to repress revolutionary tendencies. The Conservatives, however, believe that the Briand cabinet would be short lived.

Author of Church Separation.

Aristide Briand is 47 years of age. A few years ago he was hardly known, except among the members of his own party, the Revolutionary Socialists. He was appointed reporter of the church and state separation bill and soon became recognized as an authority on the subject. He aimed to draw up a bill broadly liberal in spirit, but devoid of fanaticism, and designed to assure freedom of worship and of conscience.

Clemenceau Told Truth.

Despite the storm of indignation vented on M. Clemenceau for his remarks to M. Delcasse, even the Minister's worst enemies admit that he told the truth, as it has long been an open secret that M. Delcasse, relying on the friendship of England, wanted to risk a war with Germany when he was Foreign Minister in 1903, but the revelations then made, showing the unpreparedness of the French army and navy, compelled the government to yield to the German threat, dismiss M. Delcasse and take the Moroccan dispute to the Algeiras conference.

Mother, They Told Us Some Day We'll Be Old

Why didn't we listen? Why didn't we look it up when we had our strength? Why didn't we get a little fruit land when our boys were here to help us? Why didn't we, MOTHER? Some day, yes, surely some day, wouldn't it be nice to have a little five or ten-acre tract of land with a little cottage set in among the trees—the trees full of happy singing birds—and surrounding all this, a pretty little garden and a fine orchard, the trees of which are heavy with luscious fruit? Some day don't you want a home like this in the country where there are no extremes of heat or cold, no destructive storms, where your neighbors are the good, honest, substantial folks you and I like to have for friends, where within 12 miles is the State University in one of the finest cities in Oregon, and your own land situated in or near the fine hustling little town of Creswell, where are good churches, good schools, good business houses, good people and no saloons? Creswell, Lane County, in the Famous Willamette Valley of Oregon, is the place.

FIVE ACRES will give you a fine living; TEN ACRES will make you independent for life.

The excursion parties from East say we do not say enough about the country. Every one bought. The selling commenced June 1st and fine sales are being made, and the buyers are writing their friends.
