YOUTH WORRIED BY THEFT

C. A. Rosenbaum, of Seattle, Gives Himself Up to New York Police.

NEW YORK, July 25 .- (Special.)-Troubled by his conscience and driven to the verge of insanity thereby, a neatlydressed man who claims to be Charles A. Rosenbaum, 27 years old, of Seattle, Wash., approached Patrolman Hofstedter in North Bergen and asked the officer to lock him up.

Rosenbaum told Captain Leonard Marcy that he was wanted at Scattle on charges of embezzlement and forgery. He says ne stole $5000 from his brother, Louis N. Rosenbaum, a banker, and obtained sev eral hundred dollars by means of forged checks. Worry over the matter, he has driven him wellnigh crazy, and he is ready to go back and stand trial.

SEATTLE, Wash., July 25 .- (Special.) As far as a charge is concerned, it is believed here that none will be pressed against Charles A. Rosenbaum by his brother, Lewis Rosenbaum, who lars were secured. Lewis Rosenbaum is wealthy landowner of Scattle.

No charge is filed against the erring rother, and the police believe that the New York man simply ran out of money and gave himself up to provide a means of transportation to Seattle. Another brother lives in Portland.

PROOF IS ALLEGED TO EXIST

Mrs. Sutton's Counsel Seeks to Show Truth Not Told.

ROELKER CAN'T BE FOUND

Officer Witnesses Show Open Antagonism to Mrs. Parker, Sister of Dead Man-Young Woman Watches the Case Closely.

WASHINGTON, July 25 .- (Special.)-That former Lieutenant Edward P. Roelker was not shot in the early morning struggle preceding the death of Lleutenant James N Sutton, of the Marine Corps, on the parade grounds at Annapolis, in October, 1997, and that Lieutenant Sutton had no means of knowing Lieutenant Roelker was anywhere in the vicinity when he fired the fatal shot, are two of the most important points which Mrs. Sutton's atorney's expect to bring out when the hearings are resumed.

Henry B. Davis, senior counsel for Mrs. Sutton, says he can prove that Lieutenant Roelker had been out with Sergeant DeHart on the night in question, and that he was in no condition to appreciate what was going on when Lieutenant Sutton shot himself. The testimony referring to Lieutenan Roelker's prostrate form on the ground after he had been presumably shot, Mr. Davis says, simply bears out his contention that Lieutenant Roelker, in re turning late from Liberty, was un able to reach his tent at camp, but dropped by the wayside near the spot where Lieutenant Sutton's life was #### Roelker Can't Be Located.

As Lieutenant Bevan has sworn tha Lieutenant Roeiker had tried to prevent Lieutenant Sutton from using his revolvers on the night in question, and had followed him from the camp to where the fatal quarrel occurred, Mrs. Sutton's attorneys expect to make it evident that there is something radi cally inexact in the previous testimony by laying stress on the contradiction concerning Lieutenant Roelker.

As witnesses have also sworn that Licutenant Sutton shot himself, within a few seconds after someone declared. "My Got! he has killed Rocker!" Mrs. Sutton's attorneys believe that Lieutenant Roelker's connection with the affair should be accurately understood. Lieutenant Roelker has not yet been located and his absence and the futile efforts of the authorities to locate him add a mysterious phase to the case.

Sister Would Not Accuse.

Lieutenant Adams and the other officers concerned have become openly antagonistic to Mrs. Parker and show it clearly in court. She apparently does ot reciprocate this feeling. In fact, she says she has no desire to get any of the officers in trouble, and will go out of her way to prevent any action by the authorities involving the officers concerned if she can do so "I would not do anything to any of those boys for anything in the world," Mrs. Parker said. "I do not wish to see suffer as a result of this investigations. I want only to clear my brother's name from the stigma of sul-(Concluded on Page 3.)

TWO TORRENTS VISIT PORTLAND

Oregonian.

AFTERNOON AND NIGHT BAIN STORMS ARE SUDDEN

Day Freshet Registers .20 of an Inch-Fire Is Started by Night Downpour.

Whelmed by a torrent of rain twice yesterday, Portland for a quarter of an our in the afternon and a similar period at night experienced the sharpest downpour in several years. The afternoon cloudburst registered a rainfall of .20 of an inch, and, as for as ould be judged, the freshet at night equaled, if it did not exceed, the first downpour. About 3:30 o'clock yesterday afternoon marked the beginning of the first rain storm, which continued unabated for a quarter of an hour. The night tor rent was terrific at its beginning about 9:30 o'clock, but weakened by degrees its finish being mild compared to the windup of its afternoon predecessor

Women in light Summer attire aught in the afternon storm, huddle in the entrance of office buildings and men sans umbrellas also sought nocks of refuge to save their straw hats. Clear skies, with a slowly rising ten erature and westerly winds are pre dicted for today. By an odd freak of Nature the rain aused a fire last night at 10 o'clock. Barrels of lime which were in the basement of the building being erected by Dr. M. Fried, on Fifth street, between Stark and oak streets, next to the Lumbermens building, were exposed to the rain drops The lime, becoming wet, began to slack and ate into the barrel staves, finally igniting them.

A fire alarm was sent in, and the fire nen were able to put out the blaze with out damage to the building. Fifteen barrels of lime were a total loss
