THE MORNING OREGONIAN, MONDAY, JULY 26, 1909 Homer's "Requiem," "Little Boy Blue" (Joyce), and "Spring Song" (Becker). Miss Case has many qualities to com-mend her. Beside richness of volce and a thoroughly intelligent musical under-standing, she has that intangfile some-thing called temperament which she possesses in abundance. It is fitting that oregon girl should be greeted by are that she will be. She has worked hard to accomplish what she has done and realizes that a musical career means constant work which she is not afraid to undertake. Miss Case will not shandon her musi-ful scales, as has receilly been rumored by ortics and artists abroad to study for grand opera. Such people as Gadait, Kriesler, Bauer, and reachtly here in Portland, Miss Emille Francis Bauer, tonaby make a great success. Opera-means more constant work than con-cert, of course, but Miss Case is cager to study the contrainto roles and sho possesses a strong dramatic ability. Miss Case will be work is so delight-tu at the plane. Ministors House Completed and His-sion Home of God's Church, at Falling street and Garfield avenue, in Upper Albina, has been completed and will be occupied the latter part of the present week by Elder Neal, superintendent, and his helpers. The home consists of a 13-room modern residence and a chapel, with hasement and auditorium. The buildings are valued at over $15,000 exclu-sive of the quarter-block site. The church formerly occupied a building on Haw-thorne avenue and East Sixth street. The new property, including the ground, is valued at $20,000. Most of the work was done by members of the church and a considerable portion of the material was donated or sold at a reduced figure. The home will be occupied this week without any special ceromonies, but this Fall the annual assembly of the mis-sionary workers will be held in the new chapel.
