Rates on Lumber and Wool Unsatisfactory, but Free Hides Please All.

GLAD ISSUES ARE SETTLED

Dealers Affected Declare That Even Undesirable Duties Are Better

Than Suspense Existing for Months Past.

Almost without exception, Portland business men are pleased that the long-drawn-out tariff question is at last at the point of being settled. In fact, the word "pleased" inadequately ex-presses the state of mind of a number of leading manufacturers and mer-chants who were asked their opinions of several of the new schedules by The Oregonian yesterday-most of them were unreservedly delighted. Wheth-er some of the revised schedules are all er some of the revised schedules are all that they might be is quite another question, for many Portlanders, par-licularly these interested in the lumber trade, are much disappointed with them, but all agree that, for better or for warse, it will be greatly to the ad-vantage of business in all lines to have the matter definitely settled and disposed of One of the new schedules, at least, That is the provision of the new bill by which hides are admitted free of duty. Portland leather-dealers took an active part in petitioning Congress to place hides on the free list, and they are correspondingly jubliant over the success of their pet project. While there is some difference of opinion as to whether there will be any perma-nent lowering of the price of leather as a result, the local dealers are conident that the removal of the duty will prevent a raise in prices, which they declare would surely have resulted otherwise.

Glad Suspense Is Over.

That business of every nature will be vasily bonefited by the final disposal of the whole matter is the universal belief of all who were interviewed yesterday. Business men will now know, at least, what they have to con-tend with. It was said, and the aus-pense which has been injuring and business for months will he checking business for months will be removed.

W. B. Mackay, manager, of the North w. B. Mackay, manager, of the North Pacific Lumber Company, was the first man asked by The Oregonian for his opinion of the new schedule of $1.25 per thousand on dressed lumber. Mr. Mackay seemed to express the feelings opinion of the new schedule of $1.55 per thousand on dreased lumber. Mr. Mackay seemed to express the feelings of lumbermen generally in saying this rate was a great disappointment. "We shall simply have to make the disappointment to the lumber interests generally," said Mr. Mackay. "It will put us in competition with the British Columbia timbermen with their cheap Japanese and Hindu labor, and their lower taxes on timber there, together with the fact they can put lumber into San Francisco and other United States coast ports on foreign ships-that is to say, their own ships. These three things put Americaa lumbermen under a big handicap. I sim not prepared to say absolutely that the tariff will not afford adequate protection, for time only can tell that, but it looks as though it would not cover the differ-ence between the coast of our product and that of the Canadians." Activity to Be Revived.

Activity to Be Revived.

The tariff as it should be fixed on iumber should be sufficient so that the lumber manufacturer would have enough protection to cover the absolute

The removal of the duy is bound to reduce leather somewhat—it will take some time, but I am sure that in the course of a few months all leath-er will be cheaper. Free hides mean that tanners will be thrown into the markets of the world for their hides and will wrest the control from the hands of the trust. The people are bound to benefit by it." "I believe that no difference in the price of heavy leather will result." said William Bodman, for J. A. Strowbridge & Company. on it." "We are much pleased with the schedule," said W. D. Outman of W. H. McMonles & Company. "The mar-ket-which toos an upward trend when it was announced the Senate would levy a 15 per cent duty-has practically satisfied with the announcement of no duty. If will help out very much. on Dock.

With many members of the local acrie of the Fraternal Order of Eagles on board, the steamer Joseph Kellogy made a run up the Columbia River yesterday. The boat had a permit for a limited number of parsengers and about five times the number allowed by law ap-poared and domanded to be taken on board. It was found necessary to back the boat out from the dock and to take the balance of the passengers over the bow as she lay nose in to the wharf. Those leff on the dock were not bash-ful in expressing the disappointment feit at being left.

ful in expressing the disappointment felt at being left. With a limit passenger list and several hundred disappointed travelers left on the dock, the staumer Balley Gatzert made the round trip to the Cascades yes-terday. Long before the hour set for departure customs officials ordered the gang plank pulled in and the boat got under way. The Balley Gatzert is al-howed 645 passengers on a daylight run. Launches of all descriptions were in evi-dence yesterday and owners of power craft for hire netted large sums. enough protection to cover the absolute cost of difference in production here and in Canada," said W. B. Ayer, presi-dent of the Eastern & Western Lum-ber Company. "It remains to be seen whether the new schedule does offer that protection. I hope to see it work out so that it does, and so there will be a cevival ip activity in the lumber be a revival in activity in the lumber business, now that the tariff bill is at last out of the way. The business has been absolutely stagmant and unprofitfor the past two years 8.111 very glad that the tariff is settled any-

H. B. Van Duzer, of Inman & Poulsen's, declared that of more importance than the amount of the tariff is the fact that the bill is finally out of the way. "Tariff tariff makes little difference to us." Mr. Van Duner. "We are not afraid ald Mr. Van Duner. of free trade. The main thing is to get attled and done with so we can know it settled and cone with a settled and cone with a settled and the settled lumber is where we stand. As far as the new fafe as agreed upon for dressed lumber is concerned, it is not going to affect the market much, except that it will be much better than when we didn't know what was going to happen." "The new schedule disappoints us." de-clared Fred C. Knupp, secretary of the clared Fred C. Knapp, secretary of the clared Fred C. Knapp, secretary of the Peninsula Lumber Company. "We really feel that the lumber of the United States should have had a $2 duty. Anything under $1.50 is really an injustice to the lumbermen, when the tariff changes in other limes are taken into account. We have the matter of taxes against us. Taxes are as low as $1.40 for 190 nores in scores places in Canada, while their I asome places in Canada, while their highest tax is $160 on a section. Compar-ing those figures with taxes in this coun-try, it shows a big difference against us. The Canadians also get off with cheaper transportation and wages. Business in remeater to the tariff question." Charles P. Hogue, secretary of the East Side Mill & Lumber Company, said: "We are altogether indifferent. I expect to see the Canadian government put on an export duty on logs for revenue purposes, which will do much to offset any lack of protection. I don't think it makes much difference what the tariff is-it will not with us.

"Much more important than the tariff is the settlement of the matter. That is what I regard as the essential thing." The sentiment of dealers in hides was well expressed by Charles L. Mastick, of Charles L. Mastick & Co., who is said to be perhaps the best versed man on this subject in the city.

All Wanted Free Hides.

"Free hides are what we have all wanted," said Mr. Mastick, "and of course wanted." said Mr. Mastick, "and of course we are pleased at having obtained them. As I figure it, the world's supply of hides is just enough to go around. There is no surplus. So I do not think the removal of the tariff will result in any reduction, but it will keep the price from going up is or is per conf. as It would almost surely have done otherwise. Thus free hides will prevent an advance in prices, and will do much to keep the product out hides will prevent an advance in prices, and will do much to keep the product out of the hands of the trust. It should be understood that the price of hides has nothing to do with the price of cattle. Thus, for instance, 00 days ago the best states on the hoof were selling at 5% cents a pound, while today they are sell-ing at 4% cents a pound. GRIFFITH REACHES SEATTLE

Vessel Long Overdue Was on Short

Rations for Weeks.

PORT TOWNSEND, Aug. 1.—Complet-ing one of the longest coastwise voyages of recent years, the American barkentine J. M. Griffith arrived in at midnight last night, 71 days from Carmen Island, Mayleo.

Merico. The vessel was feared to have been lost and upon arrival reports the delay as alone due to contrary and light winds against which no headway could be made. Hardship on the long passage was con-fined to a shortage of food. Entering port, the barkentine was destitute of pro-visions, and for three weeks the crew had subsisted upon a half ration allowar

Captain F. E. Sanders' log shows the best sailing of the voyage as 112 miles. For periods as long as a week not a mile toward port was made. The Griffith brings a cargo of sait for Seattle.
