BY W. J. PETRAIN.

San Francisco profited by the erratic pitching of Al Carson as well as the eccentric fielding of his support yesterday, and won the ladies' day game, which was more of a farce than anything else, by the score of 8 to 6. The Seals were not any too good in the fielding line themselves, but their errors seemed less costly than those contributed by the home guard, and the lead secured early in the game proved sufficient.

It was too bad that such a poor exhibition should have been presented before such a big crowd, for the grandstand was filled to its capacity with the fair fans and their escorts, all of which caused Frank Ish, one of the San Francisco magnates, who was present, to marvel at Portland's support of baseball. "Why, we have three ladies' days in San Francisco and don't get this many at all of them," said Ish.

Carson opened the first inning by fanning Rolly Zeider. He marred this immediately afterward by passing Kid Mohler, but Bodie also fanned, making two out. Mohler stole second and when Breen erred on Nick Williams', chance, Mohler took third. Williams also stole and Melchior's single along the third base line registered two runs.

Portland came back at the Seals by putting two over on its own account in the first. Olson bingled to left, and Speas was safe when Berry erred on his intended sacrifice. Ryan beat out a slow tap to Zeider, Olson taking third and Speas second, filling the bags. McCredie's fly to Jim Williams scored Olsen, and an error by Griffin tallied Speas. A double play ended this rally.

In each of the third and fourth innings San Francisco amassed two runs, the first brace being directly due to Ort's error at first, while the second brace came from couples by Griffin and Bodie and a pass to Mohler after two were out. Carson was then given the exit signal and Graney was substituted. Zeider opened the sixth with a safe hit which dropped just out of reach of Speas, who played a trifle too deep. Mohler's sacrifice and Bodie's single sent the speedy one home.

Singles by McCredie and Fisher and a fielder's choice, Johnson hitting into a double play for the second time in the game, gave Portland one more in the home team's half of the sixth.

A weird toss by Olsen sent Berry to third, from whence he scored on Griffin's sacrifice fly in the seventh.

A belated rally was held by the home team in the ninth. Ort and Breen walked and Graney hit safely, scoring the former. Then Mohler chased Griffin and sent Browning on the hill. Olson was an easy victim, going out Zeider to Nick Williams, without Breen advancing, but Speas' long fly to Jim Williams scored Dick with the second run of the inning. Ryan fanned and the game was over.

Jesse Garrett will pitch today for Portland and the "Little Giant" will endeavor to beat Browning, his old-time rival in the Texas league, who has now won 11 straight games for San Franisco.

SEATTLE, Wash., Aug. 6.—(Special.)—Lefty Fred Miller had Portland's swatters in a trance for eight of the nine innings this afternoon. They woke up in the ninth and slammed out enough hits to drive two runs over the plate. That was after all hope was gone, however. They were 11 runs to the bad and the fighting spirit was not there. Seaton was batted hard, his support was spotted, and there was not a spectacular feature in the whole game. Miller whiffed 12 of the visiting sluggers and kept them scattered.

Crocker led both teams at the bat with three hits, one of them a slashing double, in three times up. Seattle grabbed enough runs in the second on scratch hits and slow fielding to stow the game away. Frisk, Magee and Miller hit, Adams fell down on Whaling's grounder, Capron and Akin walked, netting a count of four. Capron and Magee hit consecutively in the fourth, the latter laying down a perfect bunt just out of reach. Whaling sacrificed and Miller drove in a run with a single to short.

Hits by Akin, Bennett and Frisk netted two more in the seventh, and four hits, a hit by pitcher and a base on balls ran the count up five more in the eighth. With the bases full Seaton walked Raymond.

Portland scored in the third, when Crocker walked, Murray advanced him with a single to left, and Seaton drove him in with a hit to second on which Murray forced at second. Portland was thereafter never dangerous till the ninth, when Ward, Crocker and Murray hit and Akin threw the ball away on Seaton's grounder. Bassey walked and Casey came to bat for Cooney. Murray was run down between third and home, however, ending the inning.

Casey tried out Ward, a new man from Regina, at first in the latter half of the game. He did well. Score:

Claflin's Poor Work in Box Gives Vancouver Game.

SPOKANE, Wash., Aug. 6.—Claflin's poor pitching in the ninth gave Vancouver today's game after the Indians had twice overcome a long lead for the "hoodoo" pitcher. In this inning he hit Davis and passed Nordyke. Cartwright got a single, and Mahon and Scharnweber lined out three baggers. Brinker's two double plays from center field were the only fielding features. Only Connors' error figured in Vancouver's run-getting. Claflin was both wild and ineffective. Score:

PETER GEARHART IN CITY

Olympic Club Sprinter Advance Guard of A. A. U. Entries.

Pete Gearhart, the Olympic Club sprinter of San Francisco, arrived in Portland yesterday and worked out on Multnomah Field in the afternoon. Gearhart is the advance guard of the Olympic Club's track team, which is entered at the A. A. U. games at Seattle next week, and he reports that the rest of the winged "O" team will arrive in Portland Tuesday and remain over for at least one day here.

He says he never felt better or ran better in his career, and his recent victory at Los Angeles during the Elks' convention there testifies that the veteran has lost none of his speed. "Pete" says the other clubs will have to hustle some to beat the Olympic team, and he even expresses the opinion that Cheek, the California hurdler, will beat Smithson. The Multnomah boys give him the horse laugh on this latter boast, however.

TWO PLAYERS SOLD

Ote Johnson and Ed Kinsella Go to Big League.

M'CREDIES TO GET CASH

Other Players Given "to Boot." New York Americans Get Beaver Infielder, While Colt Pitcher Is Taken by St. Louis.

BY W. J. PETRAIN.

The recent visitis paid this city by the major league magnates and scouts have commenced to show results. Judge W. W. McCredie, president of the Portland ball club, yesterday announced the sale of Pitcher Eddie Kinsella to the St. Louis Americans, while the sale of Ote Johnson to the New York Americans, which was told in the dispatches a few days ago, was officially confirmed.

The sale of the hard-hitting third baseman is the result of a tentative agreement reached between Frank Farrell, owner of the New York Americans, and Walter McCredie made in California last Winter, and which had been almost forgotten by the Portland magnates. Yesterday's mail brought missive from Farrell reminding Walter of the agreement for the disposal of Johnson and also the announcement that the New York club's check in part payment for the player was on the way.

Judge McCredie said that the deal for Johnson embraces a cash consideration and the refusal of three players next Spring. As the McCredies frame all their trades or sales now so as to include the addition of new players, Portland stands to get three players from the American League Gothamites next Spring.

Ote Johnson, the hard-hitting third sacker, has been a member of the Portland club since September, 1907, when he was purchased from the Charleston, S. C., club by the McCredies. Since he has been with the club he has more than made good and is one of the most popular players on the team. His most noteworthy characteristic is his batting ability, for he is known all over the circuit as one of the most dangerous batsmen in the league, and opposing pitchers frequently walk him in a pinch. He is not a great star in the fielding line, but is a steady, conscientious player and possesses one of the best throwing arms of any infielder in the league.

Johnson's many friends here will bid him a fond farewell when he leaves for New York to join the Highlanders, and all hope that he will succeed up in the big brush. As he will not report to New York until next Spring, the fans will see him in action in a number of games yet.

When Kinsella affixed his signature to a Northwestern League contract last Spring it was with the understanding that Walter McCredie would endeavor to place him with some major league club, for Kinsy's ambition has been to get to the top. His work with the Portland Colts this season has been so good that he has attracted the attention of several major league scouts. Dick Padden, representing the St. Louis club, was especially taken with Kinsella's actions, and recommended him highly to President Robert L. Hedges, principal owner of the American League team at the Mound City. Hedges took the matter up with the McCredies and the result in that Portland has contracted to deliver Kinsella to the Browns for a consideration of $2000 and the refusal of two players next Spring. The cash consideration is contingent upon Kinsella making good, but Portland gets the players, anyhow, so the McCredies have not driven such a bad bargain after all.

In stipulating that players be included in these transactions, Walter McCredie has his eye to business insofar as the building up of a new team for next season is concerned. He is one of the shrewdest managers in the business in picking talent, and by arranging with the major league clubs to draft certain players for him, he succeeds in bolstering up the spots likely to be weakened by the loss of his star players.

With Harkness, Johnson and Kinsella disposed of, and deals pending for Buddy Ryan and one or two others, the Portland teams seem likely to be riddled before the drafting period arrives.

THE secret of yesterday's defeat at the hands of the Seals lies in the fact that Portland tossed the ball farther than did the Seals.

* * *

The Seals made at least three errors yesterday, but the Portland batsmen are given hits on two of them. Berry had plenty of time to get Speas in the first inning for one.

* * *

Claude Berry faced the Portland pitchers five times yesterday and reached first base every time. He went to third four times, scoring once. At that, Claude got only one hit.

Rolly Zeider, while he did not get on the paths but once, played in his old-time form, for he scored a run that time. The speed marvel also behaved some about that third sack.

* * *

"Ping" Bodie, the self-inflated outfielder of the Seal aggregation, who can hit the ball, proved this yesterday. He rapped out three hits, all of which counted in the run-getting.

Big Eddie Kinsella, the star twirler of Casey's squad, has been sold to the St. Louis American League team. Kinsy has been ambitious to get up for several seasons.

* * *

Kid Mohler was a prominent factor in Portland's defeat yesterday. In addition to his performance in the run-getting line, the crabbed one handled several grounders in the neatest possible manner. He cut off several clouts ticketed for hits.

Spokane is being handed some fat packages by that Vancouver Club, and if Brown's bunch doesn't commence to hustle soon the Black Cats are likely to pass it in the percentage column.

All the games in the Northwestern League were slugging contests, judging by the scores yesterday. The unfortunate Colts were given another drubbing by Lynch's warriors.

Tacoma came near winning a game yesterday, for Butler's crew had the best of it until Aberdeen scored seven runs in one inning. It seemed to be an off day for good baseball all over.
