One Hundred Grooms and Brides Get Licenses Here in Two Months. Economy Sends Others to Various Points.

Merchants, doctors and ministers in the State of Washington have lost at least $20,000 in the last two months on account of the new marriage law requiring physical examinations. Portland has been the gainer by at least $250, and if prices in British Columbia tally with local demands wise and lucky grooms still have $13,000 of the $20,000 with which to furnish over the line to Vancouver. B. C., it ceases to be a wonder. Couples, young and old, are coming to Portland to be married for the ceremony performed here costs only $8 and $45 in Washington. Besides, they avoid all the bother attending a physical examination. Here are the figures:

The doctor's certificate of bealth in Washington costs from $18 to $55; average $55. The license costs $5, and the preacher or judge asks $5; total, $55. In-Oregon the license costs $3, and the minister asks $5; total, $5; doctor's certificate not required. With the expenditures for presents, refreshments, and flowers each of the weddings would probably have cost $150. In addition to the $5 for fees. Fifty weddings at $150 each cost $750. To be married at all the other $50 would have been obliged to pay $250. making a total of $10,000 for the $100 weddings. Allowing for a similar number of couples having gone to Vancouver. B. C., to be married, the loss to Washington is just $30,000. Besides Hood River and The Dalles and other towns on the boundary line have had visits from Washington bridal couples.

Harry Mills came to Portland last month from Seattle, bringing with him Sattah Smith, his bride-sto-be. He paid Deputy County Clerk 'Prasp $1 for a license. Circuit Judge Gatens $5 for performing the coremony, went to the ball-game with his bride after the ceremony had been performed, and took an automobile ride in the evening. He was in the automobile three hours, but two other couples had gone with him, so he was called on for but $5 of the $15 charge.

In the evening they went to Council Crest, took two rides on the scenic rallway, spent some time at the joy wheel and in the dancing pavilion, and paid $1 for postcards. They went to The Dalles on the third day. After Mr. Mills had paid his hotel bill of $5 a day he found he had spent $50 in all, besides the $15 for round trip rallroad tickets, and thought had spent $50 in all, besides the $15 for round trip railroad tickets, and thought himself lucky to have spent only $65. When Dave Taylor, of Spokane, came to Portland with Miss Newland, to be married, he spent only $52.60, railroad fare, marriage fees and all, while he would have been compelled to pay $45 for the ceremony at home, without any honeymoon trip at all. He spent $18.60 in Portland, spending one evening boat-Portland, spending one evening boat-riding on the Willamette, and a part of Two Allege Many Cruelties and One Beades this he visited the Forestry build-ing with his bride, went to Willamette Heights, and to Oregon City.

Heights, and to Oregon City.

The average groom probably spends about 35 while in Portland. At a low estimate the 109 who have come from Washington in the last two months have spent 1550 here.

At first thought this would hardly seem possible, but when it is known that between 79 and 100 Washington couples have come to Portland to be married since June 2, when the Washington law went into effect, that Oregon City and field heart couples are flocking over the line to Vancouver, B. C., it ceases to be a wonder. Couples, young and old, are coming to Portland to be married for the ceremony performed here costs only $5 and $45 in Washington. Here are the figures:

The doctor's certificate of health in Washington costs from $18 to $55; average $55. The license costs $3, and the Dreacher or judge asks $5; total, $45. ons? May not the present monstrous vaccination

May not the present monstrous vacaination laws be responsible for so much consumption and cancer? A healthy child can surely be no menace to other school children; then why compel it to be made unisalthy or elck by vacaine poison? There are millions of dollars in it for the doctors and for the vaccine farms and that is why vaccination is so much advocated. In Fortland I notice the parents are considered incapable of looking after their own children and must have a body of M. D's. to impect school children, another example of medical tyranny.

The different state medical examining boards the members of which probably could not pass each other's examinations and who may be far less capable to cure sick people than the applicant to practice, work a hardship and an injustice on the people and on the physicians who wish to come to the different states. This is especially true in these Western states where the people have to pay now larger fees and many communities do without the content beaution because of these medical monopolites. ern states where the propie have to pay now larger fees and many communities do without a doctor because of these medical monopolies. Why should not any physician be entitled to practice anywhere in the United States who has taken four full courses and passed the final examinations in a reputable college?

What if an M. D. must change climate for his health and move to another state? Tan to one he cannot pass its state board, and yet he may be perfectly capable to practice his proteggion with success. Are the people in the different cutes different or more difficult to treat?

As regards my probable loss of popularity As regards my process my recent action, among the doctors, through my recent action, I must say that all the popularity that a homeopath enjoys among his allopathic brethren, he can put into a pipe and smoke.

Underground Wire System to Be Granted More Grace.

ORDINANCE IS PREPARED

Power Company Completes Work in Large Territory-Measure Adds Periods of Six Months and Two Years.

September 1 is the date fixed by city ordinance when all electric, telephone and telegraph wires must be underground, but an ordinance will be presented at the next meeting of the City Council extending the time from six months to two years. The Portland Rallway, Light & Power Company was delayed nearly a year it commencing this work by the Lane administration, which was figuring on putting in a municipal conduit for the accommodation of all such wires. After this scheme had been exploited and aban-doned, the electric company proceeded diligently with placing its wires underground, with the result that the work has been practically completed in the district bounded by Front, Yambill, Park triot bounded by Front, Yamhill, Park and Oak streets.

Cables have been drawn in the conduits and the work of transferring customers from the overhead to the underground circuits is being done rapidly by various electrical contractors in the city. The electric company is now ready to take down its wires in this district, but until its customers can be connected with the new system, this cannot be done without working a hardship on the business the new system, this cannot be done with out working a hardship on the business interests of the city in the territory de-scribed. The conduit system is being built in the remainder of the West Side fire limits, but cannot be completed for some For that reason an ordinance will be submitted at the next meeting of the Council granting an extension of six months for customers to make their connections in the district referred to and an extension of two years in which to com-extension of two years in which to com-plete the underground system in the re-mainder of the fire-limit district.

The electric company has begun taking down its wires and poles wherever it will not work a hardship on the business in-terests. Its new machinery for operat-ling the underground system is arriving rapidly and most of it is now installed in the Seventh and Alder street sub-

'It has been a tremendous undertaking to install this new machinery, erect a to install this new machinery, erect a nine-story office building over it and keep the service running in the meantime," said President Josselyn yesterday. "It is doubtful if such a condition of circum-stances were ever before met with by any other electric company and credit is due the contractors and electricians for the satisfactory manner in which the work is being carried on under such try-ing cfromustances. The electric company has expended to date upwards of $50,000 in making these changes in its system and it will cost approximately $500,000 more to complete the work.

"The alternating and 500-volt direct current service in the underground district will be abandoned and the Edison 220-volt direct current service will be substituted. This is the most modern and up-to-date system in general use in the large cities of the United States. This makes it necessary for all motors in the underground district to be changed by the consumer, except in a few isolated cases, where 500-voit direct current is used for elevators. That service will be continued temporarily until the elevator motors can be changed to the new type. The electric company is assisting the customer in the costly changing of his equipment to meet the new condition by paying him the difference in cost between the wholesale and retail price of the motors. All wires must enter the premises underground and through the sidewalk and up to the various floors either on the outside or the inside of the building in iron pipe con-duits instead of being served from poles and were trained by the wizard, Albert Schumann. A simple and direct statement of what the marvelous animals do would scarcely be believed. One would think it a physical impossibility for a borse to raise a glass of water to its mouth and drink every drop of the contents, nevertheless that is what these animals do. They also push each other about in immense beer barrels; they walk on their hind feet and waltz to music. One of them actually smokes a pipe.

The trained animal features are one of the wonders of this year's programme. There is a new elephant act in which a half dozen elephants telephone to each other from one end of the main tent to the other. There are pigs that skip the rope and play on musical instruments, zebras, llamas and camels that do many wonderful things in one big act and a donkey that rides a velocipede.

Then for good measure there is the most ghastly of all thrillers, the automobile double somersault and the act of the great Spanish wire dancer. Roblidello. The show will come here with an entire new outfit. The two performances will be given exactly as presented at the Madison-Square Garden in New York City, Such a hit did the show make there that in the five weeks of its stay 50,000 people were turned away unable to get seats.

John McCarthy's Body Quickly Cremated and Guinea Pigs Inoculated With Germs From Man.

City and county health officials expect to know by tonight whether or not John McCarthy died of bubonic piague. McCarthy died Sunday morning, and the results of the post-mortem examination convinced the authorities that he died either of plague or malignant typhoid fever. If it was the plague, they say the rats of the city must have had it for some time, as these animals almost always take it first, it being primarily a rat disease. Several guinea pigs have been inoculated with the bacilli, and if these take the disease it will prove conclusively that the plague exists.

McCarthy was a scavenger, living on the west side of the Willamette River near the North Bank Railway bridge. He fed to ducks the city garbage he gathered. During several days' illness he was attended by Dr. R. J. Marsh. The symptoms of the disease puzzled the doctor and he called in City Health Officer Wheeler, County Health Officer Wheeler, County Health Officer Wheeler, County Health Officer Geary, State Health Officer Yenney and Marine Hospital Surgeon Magruder. A hasty pest-mortem examination caused them some alarm, and they ordered the body cremated at once.

Dr. Ralph Matison, who is making the bacteriological test in the laboratory of the State Board of Health, said last night that the organisms submitted to him had all the appearance of plague bacilli. "But it is impossible in every case to make a positive diagnosis on the appearance of the germ," he said. "A large number of germs which might be found in the same locality resemble this germ very much. The proof will depend on the results of the inoculation. We expect to know positively tonight whether it was a plague case or not. But the inoculation might not take effect for 72 hours instead of 48.
