NO FEAR OF INJUNCTION

Oregon Trunk Had Land Long Before Anyone Else, They Say. Odd Tangle of Relationship Among Lawyers.

THE DALLES, Or., Aug. 10 .- (Special.) The application for an injunction by the Deschutee Railroad Company against the Oregon Trunk Line, incorporated, Porter Bros. et al., calls to mind the close relations of some of the attorneys and the two Judges thus far concerned in the legal fights of the rival railroad Sudge Butler, who dissolved the injunc tion against Porter Bres. at More, Sher-man County, was a law partner of Jay Bowerman, one of the Harriman attor-neys, and Attorney Littlefield, who ap-peared with Mr. Bowerman, was formerly Judge of the district over which Judge Butler now presides. Judge Littlefield is a brother-in-law of Judge W. L. Brad-shaw, of The Dalles, who has cited the Oregon Trunk Line et al. to appear before him tomorrow afternoon at 2 o'clock and show cause why the injunction should that he granted as prayed for.

Porters Do Not Worry.

The Oregon Trunk people are not tak-The Oregon Trunk people are not taking the application for an injunction serfously and are confident it will be denied. "Why," said Johnson Porter in an interview tonight, "how can we be restrained from using a right of way we secured before the land was filed upon by the Smiths? The Oregon Trunk Line has all the land it wants. I have been in the railroad building business for 26 years and have never been in a courthouse, but I am gaining my first knowledge of law.

The newspapers are inclined to give The newspapers are inclined to give us the worst of it, and I want to tell you some of the things we are doing and are going to do. From Freebridge to where they want to enjoin us is about 25 miles. We have three miles of wagon road built and expect to finish about 20 miles mare in the next fifteen days at a cost not be exceed $25.000. We started $250 to the content of the record $25.000. We started $250 to the content of not to exceed $20,000. We started 250 men on the work today and will have Seventeen horses arrived in The Dalles today, besides 52 cars, one and one-half miles of steel rulls and two locomotors. "The Deschutes people claim they will use 17 steam shovels, but as they will use 17 steam shovels, but as they will have to be taken over a narrow wagon road, I don't see how they will be able to use them. It takes 15 feet to clear the jackarms of a steam shovel. They will have to be taken through a 14-foot cut and over a 12-foot roadbed. Porter Bros. will be using steam shovels in 60 days on the lower end of the routs, at the mouth of the Deschutes, where fuel is cheap and easy to secure, but we will not use steam shovels at other places on account of difficult transportation and not being able to secure fuel.

not being able to secure fuel. $200,000 for Wagon Roads.

"From Sherar's bridge down the canyon for 15 miles we have men locating wagon roads. We expect to build a road for 21 roads. We expect to build a road for 25 miles from Tygh Valley around Mutton Mountain, which will shorten our handing 20 miles. It will cost between $50,000 and $75,000 to build this road, but we will sare this amount in the first four months of construction work. We will have to expend altogether about $200,000 in wagon roads.

The Oregon Trunk Line has six camp started clear of conflict, and the Deschutes Railroad Company has only two.
Anyone who will take the trouble to go over the route may easily see man is doing the most towards building a railroad up the Deschutes."

The remark made by Mr. Porter that all that is needed is a connecting line at Portland gives color to the story that the Porters expect to extend the Oregon Trunk Line to that city.

SISTERS FIGHT OVER WILL

Estate of S. J. Irwin, of Salem, to Be Contested in Court.

ALBANY, Or., Aug. 18.—(Special.)— Two sisters will likely fight for $4000 worth of property left by Samuel J. Irwin, who died near Lebanon July 23 last, Irwin left a will giving his property to Bessie Boyle, of Sodaville, Linn County, but Lusens Hood, of Philomath, Benton County, has already taken steps to get her share of the estate. The only other helr is a brother, John Irwin, of Waterville, Wash, who will receive nothing under the will, but who will share equally with his sisters if Mrs. Hood succeeds in breaking it.

On August 5 Attorney J. Fred Yates, of Corvaills, representing Mrs. Hood, filed a petition in the County Court here, after ascertaining that no administration upon the estate had been begun, and secured the appointment of Lusena Hood as administrativa. Today Attorney Samuel M. Garand, of Lebanon, representing Mrs. Boyle, produced a will in the County Court here, and upon it being proved, Judge Duncan admitted it to probate and ordered that the letters of administration heretofore issued to Mrs. Hood be revoked.

Mrs. Boyle is now in the ascendancy, and the only step Mrs. Hood can take to get a share of the property is to break the will. Whether this will be done or not has not been made public.

WOODBURN, Or., Aug. 19 .- (Special.)-A fire of mysterious character occurred early this morning at the undertaking establishment of Rev. J. C. Gregory, on North Front street. At 1:30 o'clock Nightwatchman Keisey noticed the building on fire and sounded the alarm, and if it had not been for the quick action and hard work of the fire department the building would have been totally de-stroyed. The fire boys succeeded in saving the main building, which was somewhat damaged, but the rear, containing a $2500 hearse, was devoured by the flames. The casket stock and some fur-niture also suffered from the fire and water. The fire evidently started in the back The fire evidently started in the back room or shed, from which to the main building had been bored holes through which fuse had been passed and led to a pile of pitch kindlings among the caskets in the middle room. Near by was found a bag containing a quarter pound of powder. The kindlings caught fire after the fire had started in the rear, and the fire was soon extinguished. A large number of feet of common blasting fuse, some used, was discovered. The citizens of Woodburn are much in-
