SULLWOOD GETS MANY STRAITS—Before ex-Councilman Willis retired he succeeded in getting under way improvements on nearly all the important streets in Sullwood. Improvements started more recently are East Eleventh, which will extend the street to the length of the suburb, East Ninth, Umattilla and Tenno avenues. Several streets are to be opened. East Thirteenth will be extended from Main to the railroad. Several short streets are to be opened between Milwaukee and East Thirteenth streets. On part of these streets the surface will be graded. All these street improvements foot up to nearly $160,000, which is a good showing for that suburb. Counting the sewer, which will cost over $200,000, there is a showing of improvements of fully $360,000 for the past two years for Sullwood.

SIX CHILDREN FINE HOMES—J. G. Kirkpatrick, traveling agent of the Boys and Girls Club, started yesterday morning with five children for whom family homes have been found in different parts of the Willamette and Umpqua valleys. These homes have all been thoroughly investigated by the society. The girls are all small and will eventually be legally adopted. Miss Lillian Gardner has also started with a little boy to a home in another part of the state, this making six children in one day. Superintendent Gardner says that in all cases where practically all the names of applicants for children are visited and reported on before the children are placed. There are now 35 children at the Receiving Home, most of whom are for placement.

FUNERAL OF FREDERICK STREIB—The funeral of Frederick Streib, the youngest son of Mayor Streib, of Milwaukie, who died at Cedar Mills after an illness of five weeks of typhoid fever Saturday, was held yesterday from his home in Milwaukie and at the Portland Crematorium at Sullwood. There was a large attendance of friends, business being suspended in Milwaukie while the services were in progress. The young man was popular. He was but 17 years of age and had just completed a tour of the Oregon Agricultural College, and was spending the vacation with his grandparents when taken sick. He was born in Milwaukie.

DATA ON TRAFFIC SCOURGE—W. T. Buchanan, of Des Moines, Ia., managing editor of the Des Moines Capitol, registered at the Cornelius Hotel yesterday. Mr. Buchanan is making a tour of the principal cities of the West for the purpose of obtaining statistics covering municipal growth as related to interurban traffic. He has visited Chicago, Colorado Springs, Salt Lake, Los Angeles, Sacramento and San Francisco. He was much interested in the interurban lines of this region and believed their construction would influence the growth of the city enormously. The fresh green of the surrounding country he much admired.

HAMBURGERS CHARACTER IMPURE—P. Fairchild, M. Friedman and A. Friedman, the two former doing business in the Washington-street market and the latter at 256 First street, were arrested yesterday morning by Constable Wagner and Deputy Kieran on warrants sworn to by State Food Commissioner Bailey, charging the use of preservatives in hamburger steak. All entered pleas of guilty and were fined $10 in Justice Court.

ALLEGED MURDERERS IMPROVING—It is now believed Mrs. Kate Collins will be her normal self again in a few days. Mrs. Collins since the death of her husband, July 24, by which she is charged with murder, has been confined in a hospital under the care of physicians, a nervous and mental wreck. Mrs. Collins' case was taken up by the Multnomah County grand jury yesterday morning. The ballot on her case has not been taken so far.

BOY SETS SMOKE: YELLS FIRE—Heavy volumes of smoke from two of the heavier types of steam rollers in use on the pavement on Fifth street off Washington, caused a small war to well-timed, yesterday afternoon shortly after 2 o'clock and in less than five minutes a crowd of over 1000 persons was vainly trying to assist members of the Fire Department to locate the fire. The fire was not seen afterward.

JOHN DRISCOLL BETTER—A decided change for the better was announced last night in the condition of John Driscoll, of 17 Twenty-second street, North, president of the Boston Packing Company, who was stricken with paralysis last Saturday and whose condition has been critical since until yesterday. This announcement was made by Mr. Driscoll's physician, Dr. Andrew C. Smith.

FESTIVAL IN MONTAVILLA—An open-air festival will be held on the grounds of the Astorson school in Montavilla, Friday and Saturday night. There will be concert both evenings, and other amusements on the ground. Admission will be free to the public.

WEBSTER CASE PUT OFF

COUNTY JUDGE NOT IN COURT FOR HEARING.
Attorney King Says He Is in No Hurry, Just So Accounting Is Eventually Made for Time Put In.

Yesterday was the time set for County Judge Webster to show cause why he should not be compelled by peremptory mandamus to make a detailed statement of the time he has been out of the city on private law practice. But Circuit Judge Morrow was not on the bench yesterday. Neither did Judge Webster put in an appearance in court. He was represented, however, by Attorney Zera Snow, who appeared as a friend of the court before Circuit Judge Gatens and asked that the matter be continued until he could be heard. Judge Gatens accordingly suspended the issuance of the peremptory writ until September 1.

Attorney H. C. King, who filed the suit against the judge, said he was in no hurry, but that he would like a definite time set for the hearing. Judge Gatens' order says "on or before September 1."
King said he has a backing of heavy taxpayers. He has alleged that Judge Webster has been out of town on private business at least a half of his term, and that the county records do not show when he was away. As soon as the judge has filed his statement of time, King says he will bring suit to have the county reimburse for that part of Judge Webster's salary paid him when he was not attending to county business.

WOMAN HAS GRIEVOUS TALE

Declares Husband Considers Comfort Above Her Life.
What ought to be done to a husband who considers his own comfort of more consequence than the life of his sick wife? Mrs. C. Garrison has decided to divorce such an one. She filed her complaint against Lloyd A. Garrison, a tinner, in Circuit Court yesterday. Mrs. Garrison says she was so sick medical attention was necessary, but her husband refused to pay any of her bills and boarded with her and uncle, Mrs. Joseph T. Bissone, etc., at Laurelwood, while earning $5 a day. He slept in a comfortable bed, she says, compelling her to lie helplessly upon an uncomfortable couch. Besides he flirted, she says, with Mrs. Backum, kissing and caressing her, and otherwise disrespectfully conducting himself. Mrs. Garrison also tells of false charges made by him against her in Juvenile Court, which she says he made to wound her feelings. She married him at Camden, N. J., November 29, 1904.

Mrs. Charles P. Wadist, of 454 Forty-eighth street, Oakland, Cal., has written County Clerk Fitch to send her a duplicate of a marriage certificate which she obtained April 29, 1875. She says the original was destroyed in the San Francisco earthquake and she wishes "my maiden name was Annie A. Pierpoint," she says, "daughter of William Pierpoint, widow of Charles P. Wadist." Mrs. Wadist married Mr. Dillion, editor of the Christian Advocate.

NEW BILLBOARD INVENTED

E. F. Cannon Thinks He Has Eliminated Objectionable Features.
Should the City Council decide that billboards of the present type shall be abolished, E. F. Cannon, of the city, thinks he can furnish a substitute that will answer all the requirements of advertisers and eliminate the objectionable features of the billboards now in use. Mr. Cannon's invention consists of a box frame containing a canvas strip operating under wooden rollers. An electric motor underneath the frame connected with a time gauge shows each advertisement for given time at regular intervals and in this way a large number of advertisements can be shown on a limited surface. Electric lights at the sides of the frame make the advertisements visible at night. The rolls and frames can be made any size to accommodate the size and number of displays. One machine is constructed to take care of permanent or standard advertisements, while the other is for use of bills. The latter machine is provided with a tank through which the bills are run to moisten the paste when removing same. Mr. Cannon has secured patents on these two machines last May, in addition to patents covering a somewhat similar contrivance for indoor commercial advertising. He is also the inventor of a tree-felling appliance which enables the operator to fell and strip a tree without assistance. The billboard invention Mr. Cannon expects to manufacture either here or in San Francisco and have on the market within a year.

Brother Charles Reveals No Secrets of National Import

Relative of Lincoln's, Persistent Presidential Aspirant, Grudgingly Admits That Portland Is Having Pleasant Weather.
BY ARTHUR A. GREENE.
To know a brother of the everlasting great privilege, ain't it, says Grace. Well I did that yesterday and it was a precious moment, or several moments, to be exact—we have no desire to exaggerate.
It happened in this manner: Charles W. Bryan, brother to Bill, was at the Cornelius yesterday, and was afraid he would talk his head off to newspaper people. He is a nice person, is Brother Charles, and said anything that would edit between Chautauqua salutes. Now, I should say at the outset, that all young men who aspire to be brothers to Presidents should be careful to have themselves named Charles. It is a good name and it takes the candy, for what with Charles Bryan and Charles Taft at the present time it is a good game. It helps them and it is good for what ails them.
Brother Charles Bryan is an awful 'traid cat that he will tell something that may change the course of the world's progress. He grudgingly admitted that
