Happy Hogan tried out a young pitcher named Vance yesterday afternoon, and the youngster seemed to be anything but sure of where he was tossing the ball, which resulted in Portland taking advantage of his wildness and winning by a score of 6 to 1. Jack Grancy mounted the hilltop in Portland's behalf, and. while Jack succeeded in passing almost as many to first as did the new Vernonite, he had his strikeout curve working nicely and seated 11 of the Hooligans by the whiff route. These fanning bees help John Gladstone out of many precarious positions, and resulted yesterday in the visiting bunch being held to one lone

While the game was more or less of listless one it was enlivened by severa double plays, as well as a triple killing performed by the Vernou tossers. While a triple play is an unusual thing, yes-terday's performance by Coy, Brashear and Brown was of the made-to-order kind, made possible because of the reck-less baserunning of the Portland players. Grancy occupied third after having scored Armbruster in the third with a triple to center. Olson had walked, and wher Speas hit a short fly to right field, Olson ran to second. Coy made the catch and the double at first was easy, but Graney made it a triple play by trying for the plate, being retired, Brashear to Brown. Brown had a great deal of had luck in the fourth, and when the fifth luning opened Happicus Hogan, shinguards and all, went behind the bat. Happy was dis-gruntled because Brown failed to stop a highly erratic throw by Charles Eugene Eagan which silowed Howard Guyn to score in the fourth canto. Portland got into the scoring habit so often during the game that the fans lost count of the home guard's rangetting and contented thomselves with watching J. Gladstone extricate himself from the many predicaments his wildness got him into each inning. In fact the ninth inning ion in which there wa not one or more Vernonites populating the sacks. In the eighth the visitors go Graney fanned Haley, Vance and Stovall, thus retiring the side and permitting the anxious baserunners to cool their heels in waiting for the hit that falled to ma-

TACOMA, Wash., Aug. 11.-(Special.) -Portland scored the only run of a brilliant contest today in the fifth inning on two singles, followed by two bases on balls. Aside from this brief lapse, Bert Hall pitched masterly ball and sent Casey's hirelings back to the water bucket with great regularity. Seaton was invincible and, while the Tigers threatened to score in several innings, he always tightened up and, aided by fast fielding, pulled out with a whole skin. Cooney and Staton cut off what looked to be safe hits and by perfect pegs prevented scoring. The

The Tigers looked threatening in the second, when Kippert tore off a single and stole second with one out, and took third on an out. Downle was passed and stole second, Fournier making no attempt to head him off. Conrad, how ever, could not deliver the goods. In the third and fourth Portland got a man as far as third, but the needed hit was not forthcoming. It was in the fourth that the Tigers came the nearest to scoring. Hurley got the second hit off Seaton and was forced by Lussi, who was sacrificed to second, whence
