

OREGON HOP FARMERS ARE SPRAYING VIGOROUSLY.

YARDS LOOKING BETTER

Decided Improvement is Reported in Many Sections and With Hot Weather the Pest Will Disappear.

The hopgrowers of the Willamette Valley, especially the owners of the larger yards, have been waging a battle royal with the pesky hop louse, and there is reason to believe they have conquered. Spraying operations have been carried on vigorously for the past week or more, and with the aid of the warm weather, have decidedly lessened the number and had effects of the vermin. Reports showing decided improvement in the situation were received yesterday from Hoodville, Dairy, Woodburn, Mosier, Astoria and North Tualuma. Hop louse, the pest will be eradicated and the acre forgotten, as has been the case in former years.

The Western Washington yards, thanks to their spraying, are in clean condition, but vermin are giving trouble in California, according to Sacramento advices, the damage done by the red spider to the hop crop in that section is being reported as greater than anticipated by Commissioner Jeffery of the State Board of Horticulture. Hundreds of acres of vines that could have been saved during the incipient stages of the attack, it is said, now lie a barren waste, and the ravages extend over a far greater area than at first reported.

A London cable estimated the English crop at 200,000 cwt. and the continental crop at 450,000 cwt. A cable from Oostende, Belgium, said the crop in that country had been ruined by hot weather. Hop crop in the market and crop.

Hop crop prospects in England are not, on the whole, materially improving. Weather conditions have been rather unfavorable to the growth, but a fresh attack of mildew has made washing operations continuous and expensive. Where this has been a fair average crop being grown, if we are favored with good weather during the next few weeks, the general opinion amongst growers and on the market is that about 250,000 cwt. is possible, and, of course, the question of quality will be of great importance. The danger of mildew in these grounds which have not been thoroughly attended to on the continent, where, last year, we made a personal inspection, was severely from blight, and in some cases a total failure is certain. On the other hand, following the North Dakota, it would be a good half a crop, but this will leave only a small surplus for export to England. From America cables report that a slight reduction in last year's crop, but otherwise conditions are favorable. Under the above circumstances all markets are gradually advancing.

The fact that consumers hold such ample stocks prevents speculation, though many growers who still hold their last year's crop damaged have taken it off sale for the present.

WHEAT MARKET HOLDS ITS OWN. Business is Not Heavy, and Prices Are Unchanged.

Wheat prices held almost steady in the local market yesterday and the volume of business was reported as rather light. Carriage, according to quotations could be made on Walla Walla for shipment.

The New York Journal of Commerce says that Patton is now on the bear side of the wheat market, and is following his usual policy of the following statement:

"If the Northwestern Spring wheat crop is gathered without further harm to it, it looks to me as if wheat prices will be held at the cash market, and that there will be no evidence of any real export demand. If the Northwest crop goes through without accident, it will mean the biggest crop ever raised in North Dakota. I would not be surprised if North Dakota raised 100,000,000 bushels."

The Journal of Commerce continues a year to succeed Mr. Patton with the bull side of the market so that his name has become almost a synonym for higher prices. It will be noted, also, that Mr. Patton is now a bear. As a rule, he has frankly stated his course, and has been followed by the market, which, hitherto, has been profitable. There was no disposition to do other than to take him at his word, and it was difficult for the bulls to undertake aggressive operations as it was until recently for the bears to gain the ascendancy.

May is reaching the local market in large quantities, 60 cars having arrived since the first of the week. While there is a strong demand for good hay, and watercourses and damaged hay is coming in that it has a weakening effect on the market.

Local receipts in cars, were reported by the Merchants' Exchange as follows:

GOOD TRADE IN THE FRUIT MARKET. Considering the Weather, Business is of a Very Satisfactory Proportion.

Trade continues to be of a satisfactory nature. The market for modified pears came in yesterday, but they were rather green. They were quoted at $1.25-$1.50 per box. Ashland Crawford peaches move at $1.25 and other Oregon and California peaches at $1.75 and sell well. Apples are in demand. Blackberries were firm at $1.00-$1.15.

The first car of Malaga grapes left Fresno for Portland yesterday. A few Tokays were received and sold at $1.75. Seedlings were quoted earlier at $1.25-$1.50, blackberries moved at $1.00-$1.25 and Muscatels at $1.00. Three cars of Tokays were in the forenoon, but a car arrived from California later, and they were offered at $1.00 per box. Peppers were a drug on the market. Beans were fairly plentiful, with selling at 4 cents and asparagus beans at 3 cents.

The latest issue of the Boston Commercial Bulletin reports further sales of Oregon wheat on a basis of 25 to 26 cents in the past two weeks. The total transactions within the past two weeks were $1,000,000 worth. A large New Jersey mill is credited with the purchase of more than 3,000,000 pounds of the fine and medium Idaho at about 25 cents in the area, or about 72 cents secured. Original Montana clips are selling all the way from 27 to 30 cents, according to shrinkage and quality, and many sales of original Montana clips are being made on a basis of 26 to 27 cents.

Butter and Cheese Are Firm. The butter market, on the whole, was quoted firm, with the supply cleaning up.

TRY TO BUY STOCKS

Effort Made to Force Prices Still Higher.

BUT ENDS IN A RELAPSE

NEW YORK, Aug. 12.—The speculation in stocks showed a sudden excess of activity today. This aroused the suspicion of operators of the professional class. The relapse late in the day was sharp. The comparative steadiness of some important stocks was suggestive of a process of distribution going on under cover in which the professional class occurred as an effective stimulant to the speculation.

The part played by the excessive prices of a few stocks in the previous average stands out. For instance, in 1909 Great Northern preferred sold as high as $27.50, in connection with the Great Northern Ore disbursement and the subscription rights to the new exhibit. That price compares with 16 1/2 today. Northern Pacific also sold then at $21.14, compared with similar 16 1/2 today. Amalgamated Copper reached 115 1/2 in 1909, compared with 89 1/2 today. American Smelting then touched 174, compared with 104 1/2 today, and Colorado Fuel and Iron compared with 47 1/2.

There was much discussion in the financial district today of a report that the governors of the stock exchanges had announced one of the most active exchange houses in the present market against dangerous overextension and thinning out of margins.

The board of the Harrison Pacific grew out of a rumor that the Union Pacific executive committee had moved to advise an increase in the dividend distribution of the stock. The report came from abroad that French houses would participate in the coming Gold loans and in the Pennsylvania stock subscriptions.

The recent action of some stocks prompted some heavy unloading, which broke prices badly. Bonds were irregular. Total sales, per value, $7,070,000. United States bonds were unchanged on call.

OREGON PEACHES BEST

ASHLAND CRAWFORDS APPEAR IN SEATTLE MARKET.

And the Trade Calls for More—Effort is Made to Advance Egg Prices.

SEATTLE, Wash., Aug. 12.—(Special)—About the fanciest peaches seen on the market this year arrived from Oregon today by express. The shipment consisted of less than 500 crates when the steamer learned the high quality of the fruit, efforts were made at once to secure further shipments. The only fault found with them was that they were too ripe for anything except the local trade. They were offered at $1.10 to $1.25.

There were practically no watermelons on Western avenue today. The few that were available this morning were held at 1 1/2 to 2 cents. This afternoon the supply was two companies. The price of watermelons reached the lower freight yards this afternoon.

Another big shipment of pineapples is due tomorrow morning on the steamer from San Francisco. Berry receipts were very limited today. The supply there appears to be short, at least for shipping purposes.

Small local eggs advanced to 98 cents this morning on the dairy produce exchange. The market was quiet, the exchange established a split price of 85 and 90 cents. The latter to apply on extra fancy eggs. One firm has secured an order for 1000 cases of fancy April eggs for shipment to the coast.
