

OREGON LAD BEATS EXPERT MARKSMAN

H. O. Roesch, Pendleton Boy in Naval Academy Team, Is Marvel of Camp Perry.

PERFECT 800-YARD SCORE

At Other Distances Youth is Also High Man, Winning Gold Medal, Governor's Cup and Cash Prize.

CAMP PERRY, O., Aug. 21.—(Special)—

The greatest sensation ever developed in connection with National rifle competition was created here this morning when H. O. Roesch, an Oregon young man under 21, was bulletined as winner in the Governor's Match. He beat the world-famous marksmen who for years and walked away with the $500 trophy cup offered. In addition he will receive a gold medal and $50 in cash, as well as a jumping and phenomenal scores were made by the Oregon youth in the match. At 500 yards he made a perfect score of 50. At 100 yards he lost but one point in 50. In the skirmish run he took 26 out of 30 and at 200 yards rapid fire he made the most unusual total of 45, firing 30 shots in 49 seconds.

Expert is Defeated. The second man in the contest, Major Winder, was beaten by half a dozen points, and Winder is one of the foremost military shots in the world, having represented the United States in all the big tournaments abroad.

Young Roesch is a new man at the game. He is at Camp Perry with the United States Naval Academy team and his home is at Pendleton, Or. There were 500 riflemen who entered the match, members of the infantry, cavalry, Navy and National Guards making part of the event. Entering the match as a competitor, young Roesch as first attracted no attention. No one believed he would be able to survive the elimination that followed among those who start off with low scores. A mere boy from a Western town could not be expected to win anything when pits and crack sharpshooters of the United States.

Soldiers Are Amazed. When he got 50 in the skirmish run and finished fourth in the rapid fire, astonishment began to develop among soldiers at Camp Perry. When he took his place at the 500-line running, and took it with the famous marksmen, a great crowd of soldiers gathered about.

It was a novel sight, this mere strip of a boy bucking the grim old veteran of the war at his own game. The spectators looked on breathless as the shots were fired. The Oregon man hit the bullseye with his first shot. So did Winder. Roesch followed with a striking third and fourth. Winder got off on the fifth shot. Roesch then held his place, and finished with the highest score. Winder lost seven points at this range. At the 100 yards the interest was intense. The result was nearly the same. Roesch scored 49 despite a stiff wind. Major Winder, who had been leading in scores were aggregated by the statistical officer during the night. It was seen that Roesch had remarkable rank.

Close Finish in Five-Mile.

The five-mile free-for-all handicap was the most closely contested race of the day and resulted in a victory for Merz, who drove a National. His teammate, Aitken, finished one-tenth of a second behind him. Miller, in a Stoddard-Dayton, with a 26-second handicap, was third. Thirteen cars faced the starter in this event. Barney Oldfield, in a Benz, covered a mile in 42.5-50, falling to equal his record of yesterday by one-tenth of a second. Zedel, in a Chadwick, covered a mile in 49.1. DePalma, in a Fiat, made it in 48.4. The bodies of William Bourque and Harry Holcomb, who were killed yesterday, were taken East today. The speedway owners have announced a 24-hour race, to be run on Saturday, September 25.

Summary: Five miles free-for-all handicap—National (Merz), first; Buick (Chevrolet), second; Stoddard-Dayton (Miller), third; time, 2:24.6-10. National (Kincaid), second; Buick (Chevrolet), third; time, 2:24.6-10. Stoddard-Dayton (Clemons) also started. Ten-mile National (Aitken), first; Apperson (Lytle), second; Lester (Milford), third; time, 5:24.6-10. National (Kincaid) was the only starter to finish. TWO MASHERS CAUGHT

ACCUSED OF ANNOYING WOMEN, YOUTHS OCCUPY CELLS.

Store Clerks Are Arrested at Fifth and Washington for Insulting Passerby.

Two smartly-dressed youths, giving the names of Harry J. Miles and Frank Fritchard, were evidently having fun when they were arrested at 19 o'clock last night for annoying women at Fifth and Washington streets. Deputy Sheriff W. P. Little took the young fellows into custody and made complaint against them at the police station. As they were unable to furnish bail, Captain Moore ordered them locked up for the night. Miles says he is a clerk with the Honeyman Hardware Company, and Fritchard asserts he is employed by Ben Levy & Co., wholesale dealers in produce.

Their antics on the street embarrassed a number of women and finally drew a large crowd. Accompanied by the police, the youths were taken to the police station. As they were unable to furnish bail, Captain Moore ordered them locked up for the night. Miles says he is a clerk with the Honeyman Hardware Company, and Fritchard asserts he is employed by Ben Levy & Co., wholesale dealers in produce.

FIRE LOSS IS $130,000

Mysterious Fire Does Big Damage at False Creek, B. C.

VANCOUVER, B. C., Aug. 20.—(Special)—The sawmill of the W. F. Hunting Lumber Company at John McChickie's stone-cutting plant, on False Creek, were destroyed by fire at 4 o'clock this morning, entailing a loss of $130,000. A small dock used for loading lumber on boats was also destroyed. The origin of the fire is unknown. The majority of the loss was occasioned through the burning of expensive machinery in both plants.

FESTIVE GREETING LEADS TO ARREST

Station Agent Says "Fat Guy" Called Him "Old Sport," and Sleuths Get Man.

COUNTERFEIT PLOT GROWS

Mexican Pesos Were to Be Sent to New York Firm and Fake Securities Bought With Them, Says Prisoner.

LOUISVILLE, Ky., Aug. 20.—Flippancy with a dignified station agent of the Louisville and Nashville Railroad and dishonor among thieves are among the causes revealed today for the arrest of John Roberts, the million-peso counterfeiter.

Roberts, confessedly chief maker of the spurious notes, was readily located near Simpsonville, because the agent, approached by Deputy United States Marshal Blyden, remembered that a "fat guy" in a light-colored suit some days ago had called him "old sport."

The treachery ascribed by John Roberts is against his brother, Marion, who, he says, stole some of the Mexican notes from the trunk, and used them to make the proposition to J. M. Fetter & Company, Louisville brokers, which led to Marion Roberts' capture.

Plates Buried in River. John Roberts, who with his brother is in jail under a $15,000 Federal bond, declares that when he had made his million he had considered it enough for any man, and had, one dark night, sunk the plates in the Ohio River. John Roberts examined Mexican money carefully when he was employed as engineer on a Mexican railroad, and for the last five years in New York he had been experimenting in the making of pesos, until his work became almost perfect.

Had Marion Roberts shared only the small ambitions of his brother, and been content to go with John a week ago to Mexico and dispose of the "million," John declares they would have been living off the proceeds for years to come. John Roberts, who was in charge of the making of the spurious money; Marion Roberts, John's brother, who handled the negotiable end of it; Nannie Harp, Marion's wife; and Will Koenig, who confessed to having printed the notes, were all arrested.

The final details of the plot exposed by the police and J. M. Fetter & Co., Louisville brokers, approached by Marion Roberts, show that the plans of the brothers contemplated "faking" even stock certificates of the railroads such as the Louisville & Nashville and Pennsylvania, issuing counterfeit money to pay for them and conducting an imaginary business with imitation collateral.

The brass-bound trunk with $1,000,000 in Mexican notes is the most important capture. In a statement to the press this forenoon, W. G. Osborne, the broker of J. M. Fetter & Co., who revealed the affair to the police, said that Marion Roberts had told him the headquarters of the gang were in Wall street, New York City.

NEW YORKERS SCOUT REPORT

Do Not Believe Counterfeiters Have Branch in Wall Street.

NEW YORK, Aug. 20.—The location in Wall street mentioned in the Louisville dispatch is occupied by old and reputable business firms. The building is in the heart of the business and financial district, and everything points to the improbability that it was or could be in any way connected with the conduct of anything other than reputable business.

TROOPS SURROUND REYES

(Continued from First Page.) While successor to President Diaz desired to make a big demonstration, General Trevino, however, denied the use of military bands and prohibited the mammoth display of fireworks planned. The matter was called to take place in the Alameda, the public square of the city.

Clandestine Masons Back Reyes. One of the most dangerous elements of the situation is said to be the alleged meeting of all the clandestine lodges of Masons throughout the Monterey region. It is said these set-tyled Masons have pledged themselves to support Reyes. President Diaz is a thirty-third degree Mason of the recognized branch of Masonry of Mexico.

No general order has gone forth stopping the sale of firearms in Monterey, but none are to be had at any price, as the stores have sold out their entire stocks.

REYES CELEBRATES QUIETLY

Usual Exercises on His Birthday Are Omitted at Monterey.

MONTEREY, Mexico, Aug. 20.—The celebration of the birthday of General Bernardo Reyes passed quietly today, and the serenade on the Alameda tonight was orderly. No disorder of any kind occurred.

It has been the custom for years to make this day a general holiday and to decorate the principal buildings throughout the city with bunting and electric lights. All of these features were lacking this time. A private band furnished the music.

Police were numerous throughout the Alameda and, while no soldiers were seen, the military authorities were prepared for any emergency. The peninsula, with the exception of the Alameda, was reported to be filled with federal troops.

REYES SEEKING WAR FORCES

Reports Indicate That Revolution Is Being Quietly Planned.

BEAUMONT, Tex., Aug. 20.—It was assumed today from Charles Valencia, a wealthy Mexican, of this city, that two agents of General Bernardo Reyes have been here seeking recruits for the overthrow of President Diaz.

These agents, he said, wanted him to sign a paper pledging his services on the field on behalf of Reyes, and, if the movement now impending assumes a more definite aspect.

Mexican Road to Extend. MEXICO CITY, Aug. 20.—A contract has been entered into between the National Railroad of Mexico and the state of Durango and the Compañia Madrera de la Sierra de Durango, whereby the railway is to bring a branch line 100 kilometers westward. The cost will be $4,000,000. The branch will be on the first link of a line from Durango to the Pacific system.

SEARCH HOMIEST MAN

PASSING OF CUSHMAN PUTS CANDIDATES FORWARD.

Bristow, of Kansas, Believes He Should Be Accorded Honor, but He Has Rivals.

OREGONIAN NEWS BUREAU, Washington, Aug. 20.—Since the death of Representative Cushman, of Washington, there has been much haggling among Senators and Members as to who now becomes the "homieliest man in Congress." While Cushman lived there was no question his title. But now that he is gone, there is a diversity of opinion, just as there is a diversity of homes.

A great many people are inclined to accord the title to Senator J. L. Bristow, of Kansas. That Bristow is homely, there is no denying. He does not deny it himself. And what is more, his homeliness is decidedly the Cushman type. Perhaps this fact accounts for a general inclination to accord him the title long held by Cushman.

Bristow has a close competitor in the person of Senator Johnson, of North Dakota. Johnson, like Bristow, is a new Senator, and were it not for Bristow would readily be voted the homeliest man in the Senate.

The House, however, has a few men who are candidates for the distinction of being the "homieliest man in Congress." Hamilton Fish, of New York, stands well to the front; Representative Macon, the diminutive member from Arkansas, is another; and Dr. Mary Walker is very strikingly a likely candidate; while Steierson, of Minnesota, "Bull" Andrews, of New Mexico, and Bartlett, of Georgia, are all strong when it comes to homeliness. It would be difficult to sort out the homeliest man in this group, but the judges will not go far wrong if they choose any one of them.

BOOMERANG IS FOUND

CANNON'S PUNISHMENT OF INSURGENTS HELPS SOLONS.

Constituents Welcome Home Men Who Braved Wrath of Congressional Leaders.

OREGONIAN NEWS BUREAU, Washington, Aug. 20.—According to reports that get back to Washington, many of the Senators who "insured" against Adrich, and not a few of the Congressmen who "insured" against Speaker Cannon, strengthened themselves with their constituents, even if they weakened themselves with the powers that be in Congress. The great ovations tendered Senator Beveridge in Indiana, and Senator Cannon in Georgia, are the result of the people of those two states are proud of their Senators, and thoroughly satisfied with their republicanism.

And yet Senator Adrich, in the late days of the session, in effect declared that Beveridge and Cummins, and those who acted with them, were not Republicans according to present day standards.

The House members who rebelled against Cannon did so, in most instances, because Cannonism is a live issue in their districts. The fact that the Speaker undertook to punish the insurgents by degrading the older ones of good committee places, and assigning all to positions of no importance, seems to have placed these insurgents in the attitude of martyrs—at least in the eyes of their home people—something that Cannon probably did not figure upon when he dealt out bad medicine.

Instead of humilitating them before their constituents, the Speaker has probably strengthened these members, and made it easier than ever for them to return to Congress. Thus, they will continue to identify the Speaker and continue their fight against his dictation in the next Congress, provided Mr. Cannon is again a member.

DAVIS SPEAKS UP

Mrs. Sutton's Lawyer Reviews Findings of Court.

HOLDS JUDGE RESPONSIBLE

Counsel Grows Gently Sarcastic in Speaking of Efforts of Inquiry Board to Mete Out Justice and Honor.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 20.—Sharply criticizing the conclusions of the court of inquiry which recently reinvestigated the death of Lieutenant James N. Sutton, of the U. S. M. C., Henry E. Davis, counsel for Mrs. Sutton, mother of the dead officer, in a statement today declared that the Judge Advocate was derelict in his duty in not confirming the two legal propositions submitted by Mr. Davis. Had he done so and submitted a statement, Davis says, "it would have been absolutely obliged to exclude the hypothesis of suicide, and almost certainly to exclude the hypothesis of a wound self-inflicted as the explanation of the cause of Lieutenant Sutton's death."

Two Points for Thought. Of the two propositions Davis said that one of them related to the "quality and extent of evidence necessary to a verdict of suicide, and the other was as to the conditions under which a phenomenal explanation of a given situation—in this case, the nature of Lieutenant Sutton's wound—could be accepted."

Mr. Davis concluded by saying that the court of inquiry, especially the fifth opinion that the charges of Mrs. Sutton were "unsubstantiated by even a shadow of reason," Davis declares he feels it to be his duty to Lieutenant Sutton's mother, whom, he says, "has so faithfully sought to relieve her son from the stigma of suicide," to submit a statement for the consideration of the public. He refers to the language used in the decision of the court as "eminently unjudicial and unnecessarily harsh."

"I am impelled to take this course in large part," said Davis, "by the apprehension that those who know only so much of the case as the press has found it possible to publish, may be led to think that the determination of a body of officers in the military service of the country must be a righteous result, and that Mrs. Sutton's attitude may have been justly estimated by those to whom the honor of the service, as well as the cause of justice, was for the occasion committed."

Mr. Davis concluded by saying that the statement is on his own responsibility, and is given out without conference with any other person.

Mr. Davis declined to state what further action he would take, although it was made out that the case would not be dropped. He left the city today to be absent until October and said that upon his return he would announce his purposes.

Ignored Evidence for Sutton. Accusing the court of inquiry of culling from mixed and contradictory testimony certain statements almost, if not exclusively, those of the accused, which the court held as "standing out clearly, distinctly and beyond dispute or cavil," Mr. Davis declares the court conveniently rejected every statement, whether of the accused or of other witnesses, in conflict therewith.

Mr. Davis then takes up the sixth finding, which declared that Sutton "was killed by a revolver shot from a service Colt revolver," standing out clearly, distinctly and beyond dispute or cavil," Mr. Davis declares the court conveniently rejected every statement, whether of the accused or of other witnesses, in conflict therewith.

Redondo Sutton, brother of the late Lieutenant Sutton, of the Marine Corps, whose death was the subject of a recent investigation at Annapolis. Having packed up their belongings and settled their accounts with the post offices, the six young men appeared on the parade ground just before evening parade.

The bugle sounded and the cadet corps marched upon the field, at one side of which stood the disgraced youths, who apparently watched the scene. As the line broke into column of platoons to march in review, the six youngsters came to a smart attention.

When the companies were marching back into the streets of the camp, the six cadets slowly followed to have a last look at their tents.

When ranks were broken the members of the corps gathered around their dismissed comrades, shook their hands, patted them on the back and uttered all manner of encouraging words. The six young men were uncertain whether to enter the mess hall at supper time, but their former companions insisted on their eating a last supper there. It was a mixture of sadness and at times jocularity, for the dismissed men were among the most popular at the academy. They were accompanied to the railroad station by dozens of sympathizers.
