DR. BROUGHER IS STILL UNDECIDED

White Temple Pastor Says Trip to Los Angeles Is Not Significant.

HE WILL DEPART TONIGHT

Clergyman Reminds Congregation He Declined $7000 Seattle Pulpit — Church in Southern City Pays $5000 a Year.

Dr. J. Whitcomb Brougher, of the White Temple, will leave tonight for Los Angeles, where he will confer with the pulpit committee of the Temple Baptist Church there. He has as yet given no intimation of an intention to change his pulpit, and declared yesterday he had not made up his mind to entertain a call from the Los Angeles church, of which Rev. "Bob" Burdette was pastor until recently.

"I have always been perfectly frank with the people of my church," said Dr. Brougher yesterday morning, in the White Temple pulpit. "I desire to state to them that on account of the persistent pressure brought to bear by the pulpit committee of the Temple Church in Los Angeles I have consented to go there this week for a conference with that committee. This has no special significance, except that so long as Baptist churches secure their pastors the way they do, the only way a church can escape the annoyance of having its pastor interviewed by pulpit committees of other churches is to get one that no other church wants."

The Los Angeles church has been paying Dr. Burdette $5000 a year. Dr. Brougher receives $4000 a year here. He said yesterday that in case he does consider a change, the question of salary will not enter into his decision.

"I was offered $7000 a year some time ago to take a Seattle pulpit, but declined it," he said.

Active members of the White Temple congregation, members of other churches in Portland, and many belonging to no church at all, kept Dr. Brougher's telephone buzzing a large part of the time yesterday urging him to remain with his present pastorate. A prominent member of the White Temple, in talking of the possibility that Dr. Brougher will leave Portland, said he had no idea where another preacher could be found to fill his place. The names of pastors in large Eastern Baptist churches have been suggested, but there is none at present who is known to desire a change of pastorate.

"Hard Nuts to Crack" was the subject of Dr. Brougher's sermon yesterday morning, in which he asked the reason for suffering and other evils, answering the questions by Scripture quotations.

The sermon last night was the fourth in the series on Dr. Brougher's trip to Alaska. Taking as a subject "Glaciers and Icebergs," he described the Muir "ice-stream" and ice-floes through which a vessel passes on its way to Alaska. "A great crystal cathedral" was the term the speaker used to describe the glacier.

"It rises at the edge of the water in a wall from 150 to 300 feet high," he said. "It is not a perpendicular precipice, but is broken into towers and turrets and crested minarets. The lance-like spires, all of glittering ice, clear and transparent, are shaded through all the tints of blue. In the full glory of an unclouded Summer day the ice-cliffs blaze and flash in the sunlight until it seems as if we were looking upon a diamond city.

"As the ship creeps close to the glacier the steamer whistle sets the mountain gorge reverberating with the sound, and, incredible as it may seem, the disturbance in the atmosphere causes a great ice-cliff to break away from the glacier and fall with the roar of artillery into the turbid waters below. Some glaciers move 35 inches a day, others 50 to 60 feet."

The speaker went on to say that people of iceberg enthusiasm seldom accomplish much. He urged the young people of his church to cultivate congeniality. He said:

"A secret of success in life is an attractive, winsome personality. Many of the wars of the world, and many conflicts between capital and labor could have been avoided if the leaders of men had been capable of harmonizing the diverse elements of society into co-operation."

The lack of sympathy and hospitality the preacher attributed partly to present-day boarding-house conditions. He said if people would practice hospitality, they would understand each other better.

DR. BROUGHER IS WANTED

Temple Congregation Looks to Portland Man to Fill Pulpit.

LOS ANGELES, Aug. 22.—(Special.)—It was announced at the Temple Auditorium that the Rev. J. W. Brougher, of Portland, would certainly take the pulpit of the big church next Sunday. While it is regarded as almost certain that he will be named as the successor of Dr. Burdette by the members of the Auditorium congregation, no one in authority could be found today who would positively confirm the statements in the local press beyond declaring that he would certainly be here this week.

One of the trustees said Dr. Brougher's coming has been considered for some weeks, ever since it became apparent that Dr. Burdette would be unable again to take charge of the labors of the pastorate. Overtures were made at once, upon receipt of the news that Dr. Burdette intended to resign, and the answer received from Dr. Brougher is said to have been satisfactory to the trustees and congregation.

Dr. Brougher is expected here about Friday, or possibly Thursday, and will at that time go thoroughly into the detail of the work with the trustees. The task confronting the pastor of the Temple is in many respects more difficult than that which the minister in charge of the ordinary church has to face, and it requires a man of Dr. Brougher's or Dr. Burdette's capabilities successfully to handle the work.

There has been no hint of the salary which the Temple Auditorium has offered Dr. Brougher, but it is said to be the same that has been paid to Dr. Burdette for several years. Arrangements have been made to welcome and entertain the Portland minister on his arrival, and he will be the guest of one of the members of the Board of Trustees, in all probability.

CAR FAMINE IS FEARED

Railroads Assembling Cars Near Grain Centers—Stocks Drop.

NEW YORK, Aug. 22.—Transactions averaging well above 1,000,000 shares daily is the record last week on the stock exchange. Prices of a dozen of the more important issues receded from 5 to 15 points. The severest declines were recorded by the Harriman issues, Mr. Harriman's state of health being the cause.

Five issues—Union Pacific, Southern Pacific, New York Central, Reading and United States Steel—have made up the bulk of the week's extensive operations. Prices now average about 5 points lower than a week ago, and to some extent the market is much better off. The general trade outlook is encouraging, the volume of orders being probably greater than since the Fall of 1907. There is prospect of a rising tide in business and of unprecedented activity this coming Winter. The enactment of the new tariff has been followed by a heavy release of order.

Traffic officials of Western roads are assembling cars near all the grain centers, and it is their belief that October will bring a car famine. Movements of merchandise are increasing, while railroad earnings, after small declines in June and the early part of July, are again rising and now are well in advance of last year.

BARK HOCHE NEAR REEF

FRENCH SHIP DROPS ANCHOR OFF ELK CREEK.

Port of Portland Tug Goes to Haul Windjammer From Perilous Position.

ASTORIA, Or., Aug. 22.—(Special.)—The French bark Hoche, Captain Augfrey, is lying at anchor today in a dangerous position less than a mile off shore between Elk Creek and Tillamook Head, 20 miles south of the mouth of the Columbia River.

In a fog this morning, the captain of the Hoche is supposed to have lost his bearings, and, in the belief that he was close to the Columbia River, kept too close inshore. When the fog lifted he discovered the currents had carried him one and a half miles inside Tillamook Light, and only a few cables' lengths from shore, in the proximity of dangerous reefs. The Hoche at once dropped anchor.

At 11:20 o'clock the Hoche was sighted by the steam schooner Northland, Captain Erickson, from San Francisco to Portland. Captain Erickson spoke the Hoche with an offer of assistance, which the Frenchman declined. On his arrival here, Captain Erickson at once notified the Port of Portland of the Hoche's perilous position. The Port of Portland tug Wallula went to her relief this evening. It is said the French captain refused the offer of assistance made by the Northland because he did not want to pay the salvage charges.

The Hoche is out 64 days from Newcastle, with coal for Portland. While her position is one of considerable peril, a southeast wind was reported blowing off shore with a light sea, so that unless the wind changes and blows in from the ocean, no immediate alarm is felt for her safety. It is thought here that if the wind continues as it is, the Hoche may even be able to work her way out by herself before the tugs arrive. About 10 years ago the British four-masted bark Iverna anchored in almost the same place as the Hoche is reported to be, for all one afternoon, and then sailed off by herself.

P. F. Dundon Invents Lumber Barge

P. F. Dundon is the patentee and inventor of a skeleton barge, which will be built here and tried as an experiment in transporting logs and lumber from the Columbia River to California ports, and not J. H. Bullock, as reported. Mr. Dundon is so confident his venture will be a success that he will soon advertise for the construction of the new craft, and expects to take out the first cargo on the barge himself. The proposed skeleton barge will have a capacity for handling about 3,000,000 feet of lumber. If a success, it will afford cheap transportation for lumber and logs.
