

DESCHUTES PEACE
IS OF SHORT DURATION

Second Suit Against Oregon
Trunk May Be Heard in Early September.

COMPROMISE IS DISDAINED

Controversy Now Bears Fight-to-Finish
Aspect—Both Sides Prepare for Next Round—Cotton Sarcastic, O'Brien Confident.

Round two of the legal battle between the Hill and the Harriman forces over conflicting rights in the Deschutes River will not be called probably for two weeks. It was learned yesterday that an effort will be made by the opposing interests to have a second suit brought by the Oregon Trunk against the Deschutes Railroad set for a hearing in the United States Court early in September at Portland. The first 40 miles extending southerly up the Deschutes from its confluence with the Columbia. In it the Oregon Trunk asks the court to adjudicate the rights of the two companies.

That the contest between the two roads will be continued in the courts is assured from the fact that the Harriman people are not at all inclined to make any compromise with the enemy. The promoters of the Deschutes Railroad have not made any overtures looking to a settlement, and during the hearing of the injunction suit, decided Tuesday by Judge Bean, they clearly manifested no intention of considering any proposal, even if tendered by the Hill. The controversy has assumed the aspect of a fight to the finish.

Twelve Miles Involved.

"There are no further developments on the Deschutes, with the exception that we are continuing our operations at such points as we are not inhibited by a pending injunction, and which, by the way, applies only to about 12 miles," said General Manager O'Brien yesterday. "We are getting ready for the next round in the controversy, which, I suppose, will consist of a hearing of the second suit which has been brought by the Oregon Trunk. But we are not going to say much over the situation, so far as we are concerned, and our rights on the lower river. I attended the circus last night, which, as you know, was a grand and afterwards had a good night's rest."

"Now that the Oregon Trunk people have learned that they have a right of way as far as the upper Deschutes, and that the Harriman people are proceeding actively with the construction work they have proposed such great anxiety to begin. There are about 14 miles where their right of way does not conflict with ours, so far as the upper Deschutes is concerned. We are trying to prevent them from building a railroad over that mileage, anyway."

Harriman People Satisfied.

While neither Mr. O'Brien nor Mr. Cotton would further discuss the situation or their plans, it is known that the Harriman people are satisfied that they have a better of the Oregon Trunk people so far as the most accessible right of way is concerned for the first 40 miles up the river. It is this part of the projected railroad which is the subject of the suit of the Oregon Trunk now pending.

In the argument on the injunction suit which is being heard in the Superior court by Judge Bean, the decision handed down in the discussion of the controversy by the Hill attorneys, that the surveyors for the Oregon Trunk went to the site of the construction work on the river to begin surveying in the early spring of 1909, they found Harriman surveyors in the field locating a survey on the banks of the river, as well as covering the first 40 miles. This admission will be relied on to a large extent by the Harriman people to establish their right of way in carrying out a practical survey on the lower river, notwithstanding that maps submitted by the Deschutes Railroad were approved contemporaneously by the Secretary of the Interior.

Must Follow Map.

One thing is certain in the pending dispute, and that is the watchful Harriman agents will see to it that in their operations the Oregon Trunk people, in the construction of their road on the upper 60 miles, adhere strictly to the line of survey indicated in their map, which has been approved and sustained by the court. When Judge Bean rendered his decision in the Federal Court Tuesday, Attorney Cotton, representing the Deschutes Railroad, made the statement that the Hill road in its operations was deviating from the prescribed route indicated in its map of survey. He asked the court to make an order requiring the rival road to follow strictly the route it had mapped out, and which had been recognized by the court.

Second Injunction, Maybe.

Replying, Judge Bean assured the Harriman attorney that the decision he had rendered contemplated such an observance by the Oregon Trunk. The Judge further said he would at any time prepare and enter an injunction against the Oregon Trunk upon the showing by the Harriman attorneys that the rival road was attempting to carry on operations at any other point than that covered by its map of survey. Mr. Cotton asserted at the time that he would submit such a showing before the day was over, but the evidence has not yet been produced. Mr. Cotton said yesterday that he had been too busy on other matters to make the investigation which might establish the fact that the other road was appropriating to itself rights not covered by its approved map of survey.

FOREST GROVE LINE RUSHED

United Railways Expects to Complete
Road to Glencoe in 90 Days.

"We have 500 men working on our Forest Grove line between Burlington and Glencoe, and are working rapidly to extend our present service to the latter point, a distance of six miles beyond Burlington," said Lloyd B. Wickersham, president of the United Railways yesterday. "This will leave only seven miles of road to construct until our line will reach Forest Grove."

Workers in the employ of this company are installing a "Y" on First street connecting with its Star street line for the more convenient organization of its trains. Two new passenger coaches are expected daily, and there will be placed in service immediately to assist in handling the increased traffic on this road, which is now in operation to Burlington, a distance of 14 miles. Additional freight equipment is also expected some time this fall.

CALLS WIFE SHREW

Fish Merchant Laschi Offers
Many Grounds for Divorce.

WOMAN DENIES CHARGES

In Answer to His Complaint, Mrs.
Laschi Accuses Him of Unkind and Violent Acts and Declares
Fortune Due to Her Saving.

E. C. Laschi, a partner in the firm of Covach & Co., charges in a divorce suit filed yesterday that Mrs. Emily M. Laschi threw a plate of steak at him before he arose, attacked him with a knife, poked him in the face with her fist on numerous occasions, locked him out at night so he was obliged to enter through a window, used intoxicants to excess, neglected her household duties, and was found one day in June, 1907, sitting upon the lap of H. Schenberger, suggesting and kissing him. Laschi avers that his wife packed his clothing into a trunk on June 1 last, and sent it to his place of business, where the day after the burglar "stunt" to get into his own home.

But this was not all. Laschi says his wife frequently remained out until 2 and 3 o'clock in the morning, and sometimes did not return home until the next day. When he asked her where she had been, he says she would fly into a rage, and once drew a revolver on him while he was trying to prevent her from burning his clothing. The Laschis were married in 1901. A year later the wife is alleged to have commenced the use of liquor. But the woman, in an affidavit, denies all the charges made by her husband. She says she has just left the Good Samaritan Hospital, where she has been under the doctor's care, and that she has been left destitute by her husband. She has always earned her own spending money, she asserts, although her husband in this case claims that she has a half or two-thirds interest in the fish company at 375 First street. She says that her husband's business has been more than $100,000. Her husband's money is the result of her saving, she asserts, as he was not worth more than $200 when they married.

Mrs. Laschi bemoans her husband's failure to go out with her evenings, alleging that when she asked him to spend the evening with her she was met with the retort: "I wouldn't be seen with a dirty, fat slob like you." He was frequently drunk, she says, and once set upon her with his gun, so that she was obliged to go to the bureau drawer for the revolver. She explains her action in sending him his wearing apparel by saying that he called her on the telephone at 614 East Third street, and told her she could have the furniture, but to send him his things. His husband loves money more than anything else in this world, and is unreasonably jealous," says Mrs. Laschi.

Minnie Jodon has filed a divorce suit against Charles B. Jodon, alleging cruelty. They married June 15, 1906, at Oregon City. She wants her former name, Turney.

OWNERS TO RAISE TUG

UNDERWRITERS PAY STIPULATED
EDUM ON DANIEL KERN.

Delivery of Rock to Columbia River
Jetty Not Retarded—Progress
Is Made on Work.

According to the terms of a signed agreement between the underwriters and the Columbia Contract Company, owners of the sunken tug Daniel Kern, the latter firm will accept a stipulated amount for insurance and will undertake to float the wreck themselves. Work on the raising of the tug will begin as soon as proper gear can be obtained and barges sent to the scene of the accident.

The Daniel Kern was rammed by the steamer Geo. W. Elder and sunk the morning of August 18 at a point off the Waterford light. She went down in 20 minutes and settled on a bed of cement gravel. She is in good shape and no difficulty is anticipated in the raising of the craft.

Rock deliveries to the jetty have not been interrupted by the loss of the tug Daniel Kern. With the exception of one day, that immediately following the wreck, deliveries of stone have been normal. The steamer Hercules, which was called on to have been employed in the work.

According to recent reports made by the United States Engineers, 550,000 tons of rock will be delivered at the Port Stevens dock before the end of the season. The daily deliveries now amount to about 3000 tons. To complete the jetty to the end of the present pier, rock will require 300,000 tons of rock. This additional amount has been asked for.

An addition of 4000 tons was recently authorized to complete the project. By the end of the present season the work will be well toward completion.

Body of Mate Fidler Is Recovered.
Owners of the steamer M. F. Henderson were advised of the finding of the body of G. Fidler, mate of the craft who was drowned in the wreck Monday night, at a point half a mile below the scene of the accident. The funeral of the dead official was held at Kefau's yesterday afternoon. Fidler went overboard while lowering the fenders on the Henderson. He was 23 years of age and had worked up from deckboy.

CONSULT ME TODAY

The study of medicine is as broad as life and as complex as Nature. It is therefore impossible for any individual to master the treatment of all human ills. The man who attempts to do so is able to cure only the most simple ailments. The ordinary physician is like the man who attempts to master every branch of mechanics. The patient gets well, not because of the physician's efforts, but in spite of them. When the ordinary physician treats men's diseases, HE HARELY EFFECTS A CURE.

DR. TAYLOR.
The Leading Specialist.

I AM A SPECIALIST IN MEN'S AILMENTS.

My practice is confined wholly to the ailments of men, and the fact that I invariably cure every case that I accept for treatment, PROVES that my methods are correct. Indeed, I have for twenty-five years made a specialty of men's ills, and have so closely studied them that I am able to meet every phase and condition of each individual case, in very short time. I am never for a moment in doubt as to my course. I know just what to do and HOW to do it to obtain satisfactory RESULTS. This explains why my practice has grown to be by far the largest in the western part of America.

So confident am I that I can effect a thorough and LASTING CURE in each case that I accept for treatment, that I am able to guarantee BIRTH GUARANTEE. IF YOU ARE WELL, AND YOU NEED NOT PAY ME A DOLLAR UNTIL YOU ARE WELL.

Bear in mind that I could not afford to do this if I did not KNOW the frequency that my treatment will cure the patient who dares to make such a proposition. Under no circumstances do I ever take cases for treatment that are doubtful. Hence, if I accept your case for treatment you may absolutely rely upon it that I will cure you.

MY METHODS ARE ORIGINAL.

My methods are entirely original with me, and are the result of many years of special study and experience. Instead of filling my patients up with powerful drugs and stimulants, as do other specialists, I apply nothing but simple and absorbent remedies. Some of these I call the DISSEMINATED REGION, and thus aid Nature in overcoming the trouble. The best that human skill can do is to ASSIST NATURE. It is Nature that performs the cures. Powerful drugs take the strength from the patient. They merely set up a new disturbance in the system, which, for a time, diverts the energies from the old disease to the new one. This process is invariably attended with fever, and in consequence leaves the patient in a worse condition than before treatment. Another method employed by another class of physicians is to dose the sufferer with tonics, which exhausts the patient, so that he actually believes himself improving under such treatment. But after a very short time these stimulant medicines cease producing the desired effect, when the disease gains a new and firmer grip upon the patient.

HOW I CURE.

My method of treatment overcomes inflammation and congestion by aiding the tissues of the diseased region to throw off the poisonous products which cause the disease. Some of these toxins are more poisonous than the virus of the rattlesnake's fang. Thousands of the cases of sudden death which occur with alarming frequency are due to toxic poison, although such cases are usually pronounced "heart failure" or "heart disease." My treatment completely eliminates these toxins, and thus allows Nature to perform a COMPLETE CURE.

DO NOT BE DECEIVED.

My methods have revolutionized the treatment of ailments peculiar to men, and consequently altered former medical notions. A pronounced success in any field of human endeavor begets imitators. Following the GENIUS, there always come the Counterfeiters. There is a vast number of such imitations, which are similar to those I employ. Such statements are uttered with a base intent to deceive. The facts are that NO OTHER METHOD TREATS MEN'S AILMENTS. MY METHOD IS THE ORIGINAL AND ONLY GENUINE DIRECT-METHOD TREATMENT FOR THE DISEASES OF MEN.

MY MODERN and up-to-date methods effect a certain and speedy CURE OF CONTRACTED AILMENTS, SPECIFIC BLOOD POISON, NERVOUS DEBILITY, PROSTATIC TROUBLES, and all reflex ailments.
