NO CONTRACT IS ALLEGED Judge Webster States Spanton Was Given No Such Instrument.

That the County Court did not present to W. S. Spanton a written contract for his signature after his bid of $154,000 for the old County poor farm on Canyon road was accepted, was the statement made by County Judge Webster Inst night. The only thing the county has to hold Spanton to his bid is the bid itself and his certified check for $5000. If the suit of Frank Bollam in the Circuit Court to compel the Commissioners to readvertise for bids on account of Spanton's failure to pay the $30,000 when due, and because of alleged collusion on the part of prospective bidders goes against the Commissioners, there is a possibility that Spanton will forfeit the $500. That the County Court did not present

County Judge Webster refused last night to say whether he would return Spanton's $5000 in that event. Commissioner Lightner said he understood that this $5000 was a part of the purchase price. He was not prepared to say whether Spanton would forfeit the

"I think the temporary injunction will be set aside as soon as the case comes to hearing," he said, "as I do not think the evidence of collusion is sufficient."

Mr. Rader is said to have informed the church officials about six months ago that he would not remain if an increase in salary were not forthcoming. He was then receiving $1500 a year. The increase did not materialize. Mr. Rader preached his sermon as usual last Sunday night, failing to indicate any intention of resigning immediately.

WOMAN'S PURSE ON RUNNER

Police Nab Man Sprinting Down Alder Street.

Edward Smith, 23 years old, believed by the police to be a purse-snatcher, was prested at 2 o'clock Wednesday morning at Second and Alder streets by Patrolman Madden. He was locked up in the City Jail pending an investigation. Smith. whose name the police believe to be fic-titious, was found running slong Alder street just after the departure of a belated streetcar. He had a woman's purse concealed under his coat. It contained nothing but receipts made out in the name of Mrs. I. Demnery, whose address s not given.

As Smith told several conflicting stories as to how he came into possession of the purse, the police will hold him until the owner of the pocketbook is located.

LACKS AUTO CRASH NEWS

One Issue of The Oregonian Containing No Motor-Car Fatalities.

PORTLAND, Aug 22—(To the Editor.)—
The Oregonian, as a rule, is entirely devoid of sensationalism, but its regular readers must have been startled yesterday morning by the absence of any headlines announcing the killing of anybody by the speeding of the deadly automobile—if we pass by as unworthy of consideration the fact that a fox terrier dog was squashed into saurage meat on Helmont street and a team of horses were trightened by a whizzing auto on First street and plunged into the river, being instantly drowned.

But dogs don't count in such matters. Two weeks ago a couple of playful canines, cherished by their owners, were engaged in a friendly bout for points on the corner of Hoyt and Twenty-second when a joy-tiding machine came rushing along and in a moment the dogs were not, save only as household memories. But, of course, dogs are only dogs, though, like people, should get out of the way and the two little items referred to, although coupled with the fining of a few over-zealous differs didn't zerve to bring the paper up to its usual standard of

of a few over-zealous drivers didn't zerve to bring the paper up to its usual standard of interest.

But Sunday morning's paper was a dandy. It recounted how three men were killed in Indianapolis the day before in an auto race contest, two of them being spectators of the races. Four had been killed two days before. Also, on Saturday George McLean, manager of the Marshall Field store in Chicago, was killed at New Brunswick, N. J., while traveling at 45 miles an hour this touring car being twisted into a mass of steal about a telegraph pole." Incidentally, for good measure, his son was killed also, and five others seriously injured.

On the same day at St. Louis Mrs. Jane McCabe, wife of the head of the McCabe Carriage Company, was run down and killed by E. F. Edwards, president of the National Bank of Commerce of that city. The day hefore that a prominent man in Los Angeles had his neck broken and his wite seriously injured by his machine running off a bridge into the deep water below, the dispatch adding that the strange part of the affair was that the man was "known as one of the most careful drivers in the whole country."

But of course as long as people feel the necessity of speeding across country and around corners, not knowing anything whatever as to what may be "coming their way" at the same moment and with equal speed, perhaps greater, and not for business reasons as a rule, so long will the papers be filled with accounts of death and destruction as certain results, sure as that the night follows the day.

But, as I said at the outset, the unaccountable hall on Sunday made a dull paper Monday morning and save for the removal of a few four-footed beasts by way of variety, together with the striking of a boy by an auto on East Ninth street, there seemed a seasoning of duliness in the new department which even the Hill-Harriman contest in the Daschutes canyon falled to bridge But there'll be others.

Everything at the Oaks "What is there to see at the Oaks?" asked a stranger on the street yesterday. "You put your question wrong, my friend." was the reply; "you should have asked. what isn't there to see?" and that is the way Portlanders regard the great amusement park.

"A Child of the Forest," a Western drama, is the feature of the Star's new bill. It is very thrilling and at the same time pathetic. "Too Gentlemaniy" is a comedy well worth seeing. "Judge Not, That Ye Be Not Judged," a drama; "The Frock Coat," a farce, an illustrated song and another comedy. "Berrowed Clothes," complete the regular midweek change of bill.

COMING ATTRACTIONS.

It will be one of the several exceptional feature acts which Sullivan & Considine are sending to the Grand for the bill which opens next week. Mort Sharp and his dancing girls will be another hit and the Moores, a blue ribbon dancing due, also come with a good reputation.

"The Ranch King" Coming. Next week at the Lyric, commencing Sunday matinee, the Athon Stock Company will present Joseph Clifton's story of the Western plains, "The Ranch King," an elaborate scenic production as pure and wholesome as the unsullied snow. You'll like the Lyric.

Next Sunday at the Oaks. In its time the Oaks has entertained a In its time the Oaks has entertained some big crowds, but from indications there will be a record of visitors next Sunday. The great European sensation, Dosperado; the Tyrolean Quartet, and the wedding in the lions' den in themselves would draw a crowd, but the hand concerts, tenor and trail features all have their followers besides.

Fifty Selected Voices.

The Ohio Maie Chorus, beoked for a concert at the Baker Theater next Tuesday evening, is composed of 5e selected voices from the State of Ohio, each one picked for his particular ability as a vocalist. Add to this the able leadership of Professor Hugh W. Owens, of Chicago, and the result is a singing society strong enough to compete with the best of them. As this chorus is already victor in over 100 contests Portland is assured of an evening of song well worth listening to.
