GOMPERS STUNG

European Labor Chiefs Turn Upon Him for Not Urging World Federation.

HIS PLAN CALLED MOCKERY

International Trades Union Congress Opens With Lively Clash, Growing Out of Old and New World Differences.

PARIS, Aug. 26.—Samuel Gompers, president of the American Federation of Labor, was the dramatic center of the first day's session of the sixth International may's session of the sixth international Trades-Union Congress, when several European delegates bitterly denounced what they called the equivocal attitude of the American Federation with reference of the American Federation with reference to joining the international movement.

Mr. Gompers, in reply, insisted that the problems and policies of American trades, unionism were so intermingled with American traditions and ideas that Americans could ill spare the time to encoun-ter the influence of European leaders where the trades-union tendencies were temperamentally different.

His Project Called Mockery.

Nevertheless, as an evidence that the United States was anxious for international co-operation, Mr. Gompers introduced a proposal favoring a world-wide organization, which would "defend the rights and interests of all and create international fraternity and solidarity."

The class cover the coverties of the

The clash came over the question of the exact status of Mr. Gompers and the Pederation in the conference. Mr. Gompers' statement was at first received coldly. Several delegates jumped to their feet to protest. Mr. Hueber, an Austrian felegate, velemently characterized. Mr. delegate, vehemently characterized Mr. Gompers' explanation as mockery.

Stings Gompers to Retort.

"We thank you for your opinions," he said pointedly, "but we do not need them. Your policies may not permit you to come to us, but one day, American workmen, you will realize that your policies are erroneous and you will see the necessity of joining the international confederation." Gompers, stinging under the rebuke, rose to reply.

"I regret," he exclaimed, "that you have misconstrued my remarks as an attack upon European trades unionism. I repeat, we sincerely desire international federation, but only so far as it preserves the American conception of unionism. If Europe does not want us, it will be un-fortunate. Nevertheless, we are going to Europe does not want us, it will be un-fortunate. Nevertheless, we are going to do everything possible 50 attain the goal for which the human race is strug-gling—international fraternity and unity." About Time to Decide.

Hueber retorted that it was seven years since the Americans began talking about joining international confederation and that it was about time a decision was M. Lein, the international secretary, reviewed the controversy with the state-ment that Mr. Gompers was only a guest, but he hoped that that official was con-vinced that the moment had arrived for the American Federation of Labor to join ces with their European brethren.

The regular business of the conference was then continued and resolutions were adopted showing sympathy with the strikers in Sweden and Harcelona and for an appeal to the unionists of the world to strive for the abolition of war.

Keep Out Strikebreakers.

J. Ends Howe, the other American representative, offered a resolution which urged the unions of all countries to fight against the movement of workmen from one country to another in times of econoic depression, when strikes were threat-

Newspapers devote much space to the infernational congress and the significance international congress and the significance of the presence of Mr. Gompers.

The Journal des Debats points out that the American Federation of Labor and the French General Federation of Labor, which did not join in the last two conferences, represent opposing conceptions of trade unionism.

of trade unionism.

"Mr. Gompers, representing the American sentiment," the paper says, "is utterly opposed to building up of unionism on a foundation of Socialism, politics or revolution. Instead, his work lie in the direction of developing the real interests of the workingmen and solving the problems of labor and capital."

FIVE DAYS BETWEEN CITIES

New Route for Cunarders Shortens Trip New York to London.

LONDON, Aug. 20.—London morning papers make a big feature of the success-ful inauguration of the Fishguard route, which brings New York within five days of London. It is heralded as a great triumph on the part of the Cunard and railway companies. Fishguard now takes rank with Liverpool, Southampton and other great ocean ports, and rapid development is anticipated. Railway com panies intend; so soon as sufficient pas-sengers justify the step, to run a special train to Dover for continental traffic, so as to avoid the delay of transference at

Thus, the journey from Fishguard to Dover will be reduced to seven hours, which will place the Cunard Company on an equal basis with the German lines from Paris and continental traffic. It is believed that so soon as superiority of the route is realized, the government will be compelled to abandon the regular mail boats' call at Queenstown.

Fishguard is in Pembroke, the south-western county of Wales, and in 1900 had a population of about 1500.

The final call to the late Samuel A. Clarks

Clarke, was my guest for a week, and vestigated the hortfultural interests of Klickitar County.

"Sam" Clarke's visit marked the beginning of the bortlcultural activities in the now famous Goodine Hills. At that time hortsquiture was given little attention, but enough demonstration was in sight to justify the observing and knowing visitor in saring the soil was the home of the apricot and other fruits.

"Sam" not only presched the fact to the landowners who were not succeeding in other culture, but he was the first writer in a versatile manner to proclaim through the newspapers that there were two distinct fruit belts in Klickitar County. "Sam" was not only one of the few who came to California in 1848 and reached Oregon in 1850, but was one of the very few men on the Pacific Coast who aided by his writings in impressing on the timid mind of the Eastern investor that the completion of railroads across the continent would mean the adventand maintenance of a great population on the Pacific slope.

across the continent would mean the adventand maintenance of a great population on the Pacific slope.

The eventual construction of the North Bank road was one of "Sam's" day dreams years ago, and I am glad he lived to see some of his predictions come trus before his four score and two years were passed. Clarke was a man who was alive to the beauties of nature as well as the actions of mankind. This was evinced during his visit last April to Goldenfale, when wild inwers new to him bedecked the readside, and the meadow lark thrilled the heart to inspiration. A ladies church society headed by Mrs. Jessis Weller, wife of a local pastor, was preparing for a May day programme. The late William R. Dunhar suggested that they put his cld-time Salem neighbor down for an address. Owing to a previous engagnment, he could not be present, but he sent the ladies a peem that was found in every way appropriate for the occasion. Let peace be to "Sam's" long rest.
