BROTHER ILL, SHE SAID

A tilt between Mrs. James Mcl. Woodand Edward Quackenbush, the executor of her father's estate, occurred in County Judge Webster's court late yesterday afternoon when Mr. Quackenbush took the witness-stand to explain to the court his manner of handling the estate, which Mrs. Wood alleges has been careless.

"The allegation is made that you advanced too much money to Mrs. Wood, formerly Miss Almira Calef, and her brother, Alien Calef, what have you to say about it?" asked Quackenbush's at-

"At stated periods that charge may have been true, but Allen had frequent lapses on account of his morphine habit, from which we frequently had to pull him, and"Your own sons have been invalids all their lives," broke in Mrs. Wood, "and I don't think you have any reason to bring these things to the front. To have said that my brother was ill would have been Prompted by Oath.

You have assailed me most bitterly in rour charges here," retorted Quacken-bush, "so I think the whole truth should be known, as I was sworn to tell it. These advances were made after Mr. Calef became of legal age." Judge Webster asked if any claims were made analyst Quackerbush on acwere made against Quackenbush on account of the sums paid the heirs. Mrs. Wood's attorney replied there were none.

The will of Charles E. Calef, filed for probate in the County Court July 14, 1876, provides that $1000 be paid to Mary B. Crouch, of Napa, Cal., a sister of the decassed, to maintain her mother's and failer's graves; that she receive the family relics, and that the balance of the extate be divided county.

family relics, and that the baiance of the estate be divided equally among his wife. Harriet A. Calef. Allen Calef and Almira Calef. The property was to be divided equally between the children after the death of their mother.

The widow, Charles Hodge, Edward Quackenbush and M. S. Burrell were named as executors, to act without giving bonds. The property was to be entirely converted into cash, and inwasted in interest-bearing mortgages and securities for the benefit of the children. When Allen became 30 years old, and

A peculiar thing about this eclipse is that through if all the red-eyed planet will continue to shine its brightest. There will be an occultation all right, or at least the astronomers have it all figured out that way, but no one in Tals part of out that way, but no one in fals part of the world who isn't gifted with occult sight will be able to see it. In other words, speaking astronomically, there will be an occultation, but speaking ocularly, Mars will not be occulted so that you can see it. How can you eclipse that? Anyway, Nautical Expert John Mc-Nuity, in charge of the United States Hydrographic Office in the Custom-house, has it figured out somewhat like that. Mr. McNuity delved through a beam of has it figured out somewhat like that. Mr. McNulty delved through a heap of big books containing figures about Mara, the Martians if there are any, occultations, eclipses and all that yesterday, and he found that the eclipse will not even be visible in Washington, D. MOTORMAN AND DRIVER HELD RESPONSIBLE FOR CRASH.

Coroner's Jury Censures Them for Accident Fatal to William Barker, Engraver.

Inquest into the death of William Barker, the young engraver who was killed in the wrecking of a picnic wagon at Commercial and Failing streets last Sunday night, was held vesterday afternoon at 4 o'clock by Coroner Norden before a jury of six men. The finding of the jury, after listening to three hours of testimony, was that the blame for the accident was equally divided between Motorman Clinton and the driver of the wason Brant killed in the wrecking of a picnic wagon wagon, Brant.

The testimony tended to show that Driver Brant did not take the precaution to see if a car was approaching. Te mony also adduced showed that when had driven part way on the tracks he hesitated and was about to turn to one side to allow the car to pass, when he changed his mind and whipped up the horses and attempted to cross before the ear. It was also shown that Motormo Clinton was probably slow in reversing the power and applying the brakes. Deputy District Attorney Hennessy was Deputy District Attorney Hennessy was present and assisted the Coroner in conducting the inquest. On the evidence shown Motorman Clinton will not be prosecuted for criminal carelessness.
