

WOMAN MURDERED BY HER ONLY SON

Discovery of Body Followed by Suicide in Presence of Sweetheart.

PALTRY SUM IS GAINED

Young Man Hides Body in Attic, Covers It With Quicklime and Screws Door Tight—Crime Concealed for Week.

POTTSVILLE, Pa., Sept. 2.—(Special.)—Accused of the murder of his mother, George Simons this evening was hanged at the home of his sweetheart, Miss Viola Hartranft, when he heard police officers inquiring for him.

Previous investigation showed that Simons had killed his mother a week ago and left her body in an attic, first stepping up the cracks in the door so her decomposed body would not smell and then screwing the door shut with five screws and marking it "painting" so nobody would touch it. To add to the horror of the crime, Simons had covered the body of his mother with quicklime, hoping to destroy the evidence of his ghastly deed.

Mrs. Simons disappeared last Thursday. Young Simons told his friends at Mahoney City. Hearing nothing from the mother, the father today went to Mahoney City and found that she had not been there. He then came back and talked Chief of Police Davis to investigate.

The Simons house, on North George street, was searched without any clue being found to the murder. The door sealed with paraffine attracted the attention of Chief Davis, and it was broken down. Mrs. Simons, who was 33 years of age, was found lying in the middle of the room, her body already so badly decomposed that it was difficult to tell just in what manner she was killed.

The motive of the murder is believed to be the gaining of a trifling sum with which it is evident Simons expected to get married. He was a civil engineer. The murderer was an only son.

DIRECTORS ASKED TO PAY

Directors to come to the assistance of the defunct bank and make possible its liquidation. If these directors will respond to the request of Receiver Devlin and do their part, it will be possible for the receivership to pay in full all depositors of the suspended institution.

It has been reported that criminal proceedings will be instituted against the directors of the Oregon Trust & Savings Bank. That is a matter to be determined entirely by the creditors of that institution. What Receiver Devlin and myself are striving to do is to convert into cash the assets of the bank, so that we may be able to effect a complete settlement with the depositors. We have submitted a proposal to the directors as a basis of settlement and if they do not respond, we shall institute the proceedings against them and undertake to collect in the courts what we consider they properly owe the institution.

Expert Accountants Engaged.

"Incidentally, the bank has retained the services of Lester, Herrick & Herrick, expert accountants, who tomorrow will begin a thorough investigation of the books and records of the Oregon Trust & Savings Bank from the time it was organized until it suspended operations two years ago. It is their duty to do so in order to establish the legal responsibility of the directors and when we have done that we propose to force a settlement with them."

It is understood that among other things which will be disclosed by the investigation is the fact that a great part of the original capital stock of the Oregon Trust & Savings Bank was never paid. It is further reported that certain assets of the defunct bank are missing and, in event suit is brought, the directors will be asked to account for them in addition to paying such sums as they may be found to be legally liable for as subscribers of capital stock.

Authority to bring suit against the directors of the defunct bank is vested in the officers of the German-American Bank through a clause which is contained in the contract by which it assumed the responsibility for the liabilities of the old institution. The period of two years in which the German-American Bank proposed to complete the liquidation of the defunct institution expires February 12 next. It is for this reason Mr. Reed is demanding that the directors be required to make an accounting.

NATION WILL GREET COOK

him to be absolutely discreet and tactful. Other people have understood him, and it will be necessary to await his arrival at Copenhagen for the facts."

Newspapers Can't Believe It.

The London newspapers are not wholly convinced by the narrative and persist that it will be necessary to await more details and reports. They are unable to conceive how a task that has beaten the ablest explorers provided with everything that money could purchase could have been achieved in such a seemingly off-hand and unprepared manner and with such ease and quickness. At the same time they pay tributes of admiration to Cook.

The Daily Telegraph says:

"It is for the moment beside the question to discuss the accuracy or probability of Dr. Cook's statement. It is neither just nor decorous to question in any way the genuineness of such a claim before full details are made public by the travelers. Indeed, we have much sympathy because of the difficulties by which Dr. Cook or any other solitary explorer is hampered in attempting to convince a skeptical world of geographical facts and reports. We trust Dr. Cook will meet with the fairness his particular case especially invites."

Easy to Follow His Trail.

The Morning Post says:

"If Dr. Cook has found a new track to the Pole in so short a time as 35 days, others can follow in his footsteps and verify his story for themselves. When the matter has been settled beyond all doubt, the civilized world will acclaim Cook as one of the greatest explorers of all time."

Dr. Hugh R. Hill, a librarian of the Royal Geographical Society, is skeptical, but says that great weight must be attached to the opinion of polar experts in America.

Sir Martin Conway, a noted explorer, thinks that Dr. Cook's claim should be accepted if his story, on examination, is found to hang together.

Sir George Nares, who commanded the Challenger in 1873, and was with an Arctic expedition in 1875, says: "I should ask Dr. Cook to what distance from the Pole did the polar land extend and whether he communicated with Peary's party."

Professor Milne, the seismologist, thinks that if Dr. Cook has a few properly-taken photographs of the sky at the Pole on April 21, 1908, they may assist in determining the position he reached.

NO REASON SEEN FOR DOUBT

Geographical Librarian Says Cook's Exploit Is Epoch-Making.

PARIS, Sept. 2.—M. Lemesoff, librarian of the Geographical Society and an authority on polar questions, said today that while the society had not received direct news of Dr. Cook's explorations, he saw nothing to doubt in the report of the expedition, especially considering the personality of Dr. Cook.

"We have known the navigator," he said, "for several years. He is a man of rare energy and much experience in Arctic and Antarctic exploration.

"Exploring the pole is of the greatest scientific interest from magnetic, meteorological and geographical points of view. It is impossible to imagine the terrible difficulties that are to be sur-

DID WONDERS AT SOUTH POLE

Belgians Enthusiastic About His Work on Their Expedition.

BRUSSELS, Sept. 2.—Belgian newspapers comment with enthusiasm on Dr. Cook's achievement. They recall how he came to join the Belgian expedition to the South Pole. On the very day the doctor was notified to join the party, he called from New York, asking if by chance there was a place vacant aboard the Belgica. Instructions were immediately sent to him to join the ship at Rio Janeiro.

Dr. Cook's assistance on that expedition was most valuable, not only as a physician, but as a photographer and scientist. He was the life of the party and worked wonders in cheering up the Belgians time after time, when their courage failed.

FOUR-DAY RECORD MADE

LUSITANIA CUTS DOWN TRANS-ATLANTIC TIME.

NEW YORK, Sept. 2.—Three new ocean records fell to the Cunard liner Lusitania on her latest trip from Queenstown, which ended tonight. The Lusitania made the passage in 4 days, 11 hours and 42 minutes, thereby clipping three hours and 15 minutes from her fastest previous time.

She maintained an average speed of 25.55 knots for the entire voyage, beating the Mauretania's record of 23.84 and finally, by landing her passengers at the Cunard pier shortly before 8 o'clock tonight, she became the first liner to dock on the fourth day out from Queenstown.

The Lusitania left Daunt's Rock last Sunday morning at 10 o'clock. Her day's runs follow: Sunday (to noon), 61; Monday, 60; Tuesday, 52; Wednesday, 51; Thursday, 64; and from noon today, 12; total, 274.

The Lusitania and Mauretania herebefore have left Queenstown on Sunday and reached the Ambrose Channel lightship too late on Thursday evening to allow them to dock before Friday. The Lusitania therefore became a real four-day boat.

New Utm. Minn.—John F. Hayner, who was brought to the county jail here Wednesday from Sleepy Eye after he had been arrested for shooting ex-Senator George W. Sumnerville, a lawyer and politician, committed suicide by hanging.
