

ZAMORA IS NOW FLOOD STRICKEN

Cloudburst Overflows Rivers and Waters Sweep Part of District.

HALF OF TULA DESTROYED

Conditions There Equal Those at Monterey—Eight Months Required to Restore Highways, Railroads Washed Out.

MEXICO CITY, Sept. 3.—A special dispatch received here from Morelia says that floods yesterday ruined a large section of the Zamora district. A terrible cloudburst in the mountains caused rivers and streams to overflow and miles of fertile valleys are under water. Further details have been received here from the state of Tamaulipas, last Saturday. A wave between 45 and 50 feet high engulfed the lower half of the town. Two hundred houses and the San Juan bridge were carried away and many lives were lost. The storm raged for three days. Terrible as are the conditions at Monterey, the correspondents assure they are just as bad at Tula and vicinity. The entire northeastern section of the state is said to have been laid waste. Railroads and telegraphic communication was destroyed. The population of Tula, some 7000 persons, was cut off from the rest of the nation for four days. It will be six or eight months before the state can be restored. Thirty bodies have been recovered and many bodies of sheepherders and mountaineers are being washed down into the valley below.

High Water in Rio Grande

WASHINGTON, Sept. 3.—The State Department is in receipt of a telegram from C. A. Miller, the United States Consul at Matamoras, Mexico, in which he says that the Rio Grande floods are higher than usual; that a telegram from Matamoras states that serious damage has been caused to the buildings in the city and ranches near the river; that no lives were lost in the city, but 25 bodies were recovered in the surrounding country; and that there are probably many more, but the exact number is unknown. Mr. Miller says that a telegram from San Miguel reports considerable damage to the buildings there, but no loss of life. The river is reported to be falling.

SCHOOLS TO BE SUBJECT

Evening Star Grange Will Hold First Fall Meeting Today.

This afternoon the Evening Star Grange, Patrons of Husbandry, which meets in the hall on the Section Line road, east of Mount Tabor, will consider the subject of improving country schools. The president, J. H. Johnson, assigned this topic to all the Granges of the state, and the general outline and plan of discussion have been furnished by the Superior Grange. The program includes a study of all the conditions surrounding the rural schoolhouse—location of the schoolhouse, its general sanitary condition, its outouses, methods of lighting, heat and ventilation, blackboards and method of employing teachers. Committees have been appointed to examine country schoolhouses, and report on their condition and offer suggestions as to improvements. Addresses will be delivered and essays read by teachers and superintendents at the meetings of the Granges. For the entire month of September the topic will be discussed, beginning today. On Saturdays most of the Granges hold their monthly meetings, some meetings falling on the first Saturday of the month. It is hoped to bring out many valuable suggestions, both from the reports of the investigating committees and from the addresses.

GANG THREATENS VICTIM

Man Escapes and Tells Police of Being Robbed of $25.

Threatened with death if he complained to the police, W. J. Eddy, of Hazel Dell, Or., escaped from a gang of men in the North End last night and ran to police headquarters, where he told a story of having been robbed by a woman in the rear of the Belmont saloon, at 292 Burnside street, at 8:25. When he accused the woman several men in the place, all of whom are under police surveillance, told him if he informed the police of the robbery they would kill him. Patrolman Everett later arrested Julia Shea, a woman with a long pulled cord, in connection with the robbery. Acting Captain Keller sent Sergeant Klemm with a detail of police and the entire neighborhood was searched for the men who threatened Eddy, but without success.

ANNOUNCES HER SUICIDE

WIFE OF FORMER SEATTLE MAN SAYS HE PROVED FALSE.

Writes to Los Angeles Coroner She Took Poison Because She Was Deserted.

LOS ANGELES, Cal., Sept. 3.—(Special).—Two letters received by Coroner Hartwell in the early morning mail and signed by Mrs. Peter N. Bergman, told of her intention to kill herself by taking poison and of her reasons for doing so, but so far her body has not been found. Investigation proved that there is or was such a woman as Mrs. Bergman and that much of her written statement is correct. One letter follows: "I, Mrs. Peter N. Bergman, have taken poison and consequently there is no holding an inquest. Mrs. Peter N. Bergman." The other letter detailed her reasons. It follows: "I am about ready to take my life. My husband, Peter N. Bergman, has falsely deceived me. He is a barber by trade, but recently has fallen heir to some money. He now refuses to give me what is justly due me. I worked after we were married. He spent all I had when we were first married. He admitted having another wife in Chicago and said he was going to try to make up with her. "We lived in Seattle three years, we roomed at the Olympia Hotel, Foster Way, Kenneth Hotel, First we lived at Siler apartment flats, 737 Mason street, San Francisco; California Hotel, Third street. My husband worked for Johnnie Bernhard, 2-4 Hardy place, Stanford Hotel."

PROFESSORS THROWN OUT

R. E. Hyslop was served with notice Saturday and action was likewise deferred. Both gentlemen undertook to continue their duties, and at this interference with the men previously in charge of the work of their respective departments to prevent a recurrence of their attempts to interfere with the workmen, it became necessary to refuse them permission to go upon the experimental farm. In the meantime it was discovered they had extracted valuable records and correspondence and one of them had taken these to his home. In order to prevent further devaluation of the records, they were locked and they were refused access to them. "Up to the present writing of the office, keys, correspondence, papers, certain valuable experimental work and a considerable sum of money, together with other university property, are being unlawfully held, except so far as I have been able forcibly to obtain possession by virtue of the orders given me."

HAMBURG BELLE BEATEN BY UHLAN

But Time Is Slower Than Made by Loser, Allowing for Slow Track.

HAMBURG BELLE FAVORITE

Second Race of Series for World's Trotting Championship Does Not Equal Record—Soprano Wins Horsebreeders' Race.

READVILLE, Mass., Sept. 3.—Over a Track fully two seconds slower than when the great Lou Dillon started the world with a mile in two minutes, the trotting gelding Uhlan defeated Hamburg Belle in straight heats at the Readville track today in the second meeting of the pair to decide the trotting championship of the world.

Hamburg Belle was a favorite before the start at odds of 5 to 3, because of her success last week in the initial meeting of the cracks at Cleveland. At that time she carried the world's record of 2:04 1/2 for trotters in a race, two seconds better than the previous mark, which had stood since the Cracoeus-The Abbott race at Brighton Beach in 1903.

Uhlan's Many Victories. Uhlan is a 5-year-old gelding by Bingen out of Bloude by Sir Walter, Jr. He was bred by Arthur H. Parker, of Bedford, Mass., once the owner of Bengon, for which he paid $22,000 at auction. When Uhlan was 3 years old, Mr. Parker sold him to Charles Sanders, of Salem, Mass., for $2500.

The same season Uhlan won a race to a matinee wagon over the Readville track in 2:13 1/2. In his 4-year-old form, Uhlan won all his races excepting the American Trotting Derby, securing a record of 2:07 1/2, the fastest race by a gelding of that age. This season his single defeat was by Hamburg Belle at Cleveland, where he previously had won the gelding race record of The Abbots in 2:35 1/2. He repeated this performance at Buffalo and bettered it today by half a second. Results:

BANK WILL FEEL PROBE

Instituting civil suits against the stockholders to recover the amount of their subscriptions for which they are liable under the Oregon law. "My stock in the Oregon Trust and Savings Bank was fully paid," said E. E. Lytle, vice-president of the suspended bank yesterday, "and I have the receipts to show for it. I do not propose longer to stand for the intimation that I am a bankwrecker, and shall assist in running down the charges which have been made against the directors of that institution. I am determined to find out who was responsible for the bank going into the hands of a receiver, and I shall do it if I have to expend $25,000 to do so. I am like Henry or one having authority, to Portland to make the investigation."

Rumor Lytle Was Duped.

When asked if as a director and an officer in the defunct bank he would respond to Receiver Devlin's suggestion and take over the United Railway bonds to the amount of $75,000, which he assisted in selling to the bank and which are included in its assets, Mr. Lytle would not make any statement. The feeling manifested by Mr. Lytle in the foregoing announcement to the management of the bank prior to its suspension is natural and it is said that he himself was duped by some of his associates in the wrecked institution. According to the report, when Mr. Lytle bought an interest in the bank about a year before it went out of business, he made the purchase of W. H. Moore and W. Cooper Morris, president and cashier, respectively. It is reported, was entirely mythical so far as existing and representing that sum or any part of it as a tangible asset.

Another unexplainable circumstance which only adds to the mystery of the game of high finance played between the bank and Gus Lovitt, manager of the Golden Eagle Drygoods Company, is the fact that notes to the amount of $58,000, representing the loans made by the bank to the Golden Eagle, were recently found among the bank's effects. These notes were all stamped as paid, and a further suspicious circumstance in the same connection is the fact that in every instance the name of the maker had been torn from the note. If these notes had been regularly executed, depositors are inquiring why it is that they should be allowed by the management of the Golden Eagle

Books in Bad Condition.

It is known that the books of the bank are in a deplorable and an unrecognizable condition. It is understood that there is a shortage of about $200,000 in the bond account, while approximately $100,000 of notes are missing. A "surplus" fund of $50,000, which was used effectively for advertising purposes. It is reported, was entirely mythical so far as existing and representing that sum or any part of it as a tangible asset. to remain in the possession of the bank. Still another question suggested by the same interested inquirers is, if the notes were paid before the bank suspended, why was the same obligation liquidated through the receiver's report into which the dry goods house recently passed. As a matter of fact Receiver Devlin under order of the court was required to accept from the Golden Eagle receiver about $24,000 in full settlement of the bank's claim, which aggregated $158,000. There is also another report which tends to strengthen the suspicion of many depositors that the suspended bank was not truly solvent from the day it began business until it suspended two years ago last August. This report is to the effect that the record of the bank's business on the opening day shows notes to the amount of $87,500 with deposits of between $7000 and $9000, while expenses at that time had been contracted to the amount of $2000. The same record shows that the actual earnings of the bank for the day were $156.

Still another unusual circumstance is reported in the fact that it has been impossible for Receiver Devlin or President Reed to find anywhere among the books of the bank any record of its incorporation, its amended articles of incorporation or the minutes of a single meeting of the board of directors. There is said to be every evidence that the bank was conducted solely on a "get the money" basis, without any attempt at keeping an intelligent record of its business or the disposition of the funds received.

Inaccuracies Are Frequent.

Inaccuracies by the wholesale have been found in the system of bookkeeping that was employed. Frequently items amounting to several thousand dollars have been found to be carried on the debit side of the ledger when they were in fact liabilities. Since Receiver Devlin took charge of the bank and compiled a list of the depositors and the amount of their deposits, it is known that many depositors have called at the bank bringing with them their installment books which showed numerous entries and aggregating several thousand dollars more than had been credited to them on the record books in the bank. In view of what has been learned of the real condition of the bank, the depositors will impatiently await the result of the examination which is being conducted.

W. H. Moore, president of the defunct bank, was out of the city yesterday but he is reported to be in the city.

Receiver Devlin has been notified that he does not intend to take over the hands of the receivership certain wheat and agricultural lands which he assigned in trust to Receiver Devlin after the bank suspended. At that time Mr. Moore placed an appraised value of $175,000 on the lands, declaring that he could sell them in the market for $200,000. He is now listed as an asset of the bank at $125,000 and it was for this consideration that Receiver Devlin asked Moore to take the land back.

FINE DISPLAY OF GRAINS

Multnomah County to Make Fine Showing at State Fair.

That Multnomah County can grow first-class grain is shown in the fine collecting grains and grasses for the State Fair exhibit, and would complete the vegetable and fruit displays this week. In the grain display Mr. Miller secured 32 specimens of wheat and 18 of oats. He said the grain specimens are much finer than secured in former years, and were obtained around Gresham and Fairview, in the Columbia Slough district. However, Mr. Miller says that the fruit will hardly come up to the average of former years, but will be fairly good. The vegetable display, yet to be collected, he says will be as fine as ever. The display will be saved and probably will be used at the Grange Fair, which will be held in Gresham October 6-30, as has been done in former years. Mr. Miller has collected the State Fair agricultural display from Multnomah County for several years, and has won premiums in the past.
