BOOKS OPEN AGAIN

All but Four City Schools to Resume Work Today.

OTHERS ARE NEARLY READY

Superintendent Rigler Does Not Expect Gain in Attendance Until Remaining Facilities Are Available.

Young America, as represented in Portland, will take to study again today when the call to school is given at 9 o'clock this morning after the rest of a summer vacation. Today school will open in all but four of the schools and there is a possibility that one of these may be opened if the day is warm.
School will convene at 9 o'clock when the pupils will register and fill out the regular census cards and will be told what books to secure. After the book lists have been given out the students will be dismissed for the day and allowed to use the rest of the day in securing their books. The registration will take about an hour and a half and after 10:30 o'clock the pupils will be free to go for their books.

May Show Temporary Loss.

Superintendent Rigler estimates that the attendance on the opening day will fall considerably short of the mark of 16,500 set in 1908. This is because the Vernon, Davis, Eliot and Stevens will not be opened at once. Last September these four schools furnished an attendance on the opening day of 901, and Mr. Rigler does not think the growth of the city has been so great that this attendance will be made up in the other schools, although he thinks that after these schools are opened the total of 1714, as compared with 1908 in 1907. The addition of the Jefferson school in Upper Albina will be used for the new high school.

It is pretty hard to estimate or place much faith in the figures of the opening day.

BG AUTO WRECKED

Seven People Sent Flying as Car Turns Somersault.

C. R. HILL'S ARM INJURED

Others of Portland Party Starting for McMinnville Are Unhurt When Wheel Breaks Near Carson Heights.

Thrown out of its course by the breaking of a wheel, a big touring car containing seven people turned a complete somersault yesterday morning at 8 o'clock on the Taylor Ferry road back of Carson Heights, about eight miles from Portland, throwing its occupants in every direction. The party consisted of C. R.
Hill, 311 Hancock street, an employee of the Lutz Manufacturing Company, his wife and little baby; L. W. Jones, of 870 Haight street, a well-known landscape photographer, and his wife and little girl about 10 years old, and a chauffeur.

Miraculously the entire party escaped death, the only person receiving serious injury being Mr. Hill, whose arm was dislocated. The others sustained no injury whatever, and beyond the shaking up and the nervous shock, were none the worse for the accident.
As the machine turned in the air, the passengers were thrown to one side and when it alighted upside down none was caught under it.

The party had started for McMinnville with the intention of making the round trip in the day.
Assistance was rendered to the victims by an accommodating farmer living nearby, who invited them to his home, made them comfortable and went to the telephone. Holman's automobile ambulance was summoned and Mr. Hill was conveyed to the Good Samaritan Hospital, where he was put under an anesthetic and his injuries dressed. His wife accompanied him and remained at his bedside during the day. The others of the party were taken home in another automobile sent out for them.

The wrecked machine was left by the roadside and will be brought back to the city today. Several hundred dollars will be required to repair the damage.

The accident came without warning and its victims were so dazed that when they were at first rendered assistance they could not give an account of what had occurred. Mrs. Hill, who later was watching at her husband's side at the hospital, said:
"It came upon us so quickly that no one knew what had happened. I did not realize what it was until it was all over and I found myself on the ground.
I was frightened for fear that everyone was hurt. We had a lucky escape. My husband will no doubt recover soon."

CHAFING DISH STARTS FIRE

Department Makes Two Sunday Runs to Small Blazes.

The fire department made two runs yesterday. At 1 o'clock a blaze occurred in the apartment of Miss M. Smith, in the Elm Place at 414 Yamhill street, caused by a chafing dish. The blazing alcohol stove rested upon a table by an open window. The breeze blew the curtain into the flames and they ignited immediately. In an attempt to pull the burning curtains down and extinguish them Miss Smith's hands were badly blistered. The flames extended to the woodwork and a small part of the furnishings of the room but were quickly subdued by the firemen.

Another slight fire broke out in the roof of a dwelling at 303 Thurman street a short time after the chafing dish accident. Sparks from the chimney were assigned as the cause. The damage was trifling.

Shark Caught in Fishnet.

ASTORIA, Sept. 12.—(Special).—During the past few days several sealions have entered the river and last night several nets were damaged by them. A shark was also caught in one gillnet and about 50 fathoms of the net were destroyed by it.
