GAYNOR SEEKING

Prospect Is He Will Be Lucky to Get Any for Mayor of New York.

FUSIONISTS REJECT

Denounced as Political Judge by Anti-Tammany Organ and Not Wanted by Tammany-Murphy Does Hard Thinking.

BT LLOTD F. LONERGAN. NEW YORK, Sept. 12.—(Special.)—The letter of Justice William J. Gaynor, anthat he will gladly accept any Mayoralty nominations, has caused quite a stir among politicians.

Gaynor, from his statement, apparently expects the support of all organizations.

He intimates that a majority of Republicans are for him "without a pledge of any kind," says he has received assures from "influential Democrats," that the Tammany city convention will give him an unconditional nomination, and remarks of the independence League: "In-astmuch as it has always stood for the up. lifting of city government. I think I may justly expect its support."

From which it would seem that there is really very little need of holding an election in November, as everybody is bound to Gaynor by ties of duty and af-

But this is very far from the truth. In as an independent, if he runs at all, Fusionists Turn Down Gaynor.

Leaders of the fusion forces make no secret of the fact that Judge Gaynor has been wiped off their books. They regard his statement as a direct bid for Tammany support, and are convinced that he would not fill the bill as a non-partisan

"Gaynor would make an excellent Mayor if he knew how to curb his am-bitions," Congressman Herbert Parsons is quoted as having said to a friend. "But if he should be elected he would "But if he should be elected he would want to run for Governor next year, and for President in 1912. We Republicans are perfectly willing to seat a Democrat in the City Hall, if necessary, but we have no intention of supplying campaign issues and candidates for the opposition."

One of the sensible members of the Committee of One Hundred (there are several) made the following intelligent comments researching the aspirations of ents regarding the aspirations of

"No matter what Gaynor or his friends would say, he would not make a non-partisan Mayor, and that is what we are striving to elect. Gaynor is personally honest, but he is a man eaten up by po-litical ambition. He would never dare to nonest, but he is a man eaten up by po-litical ambition. He would never dare to offend Tanmany, because it is that or-ganization which will send delegates to the state and National conventions. Justice Gaynor is willing to be non-partisan this year, but he would be bound to al-low 'regularity' to direct many of his actions if he landed in the City Hall."

Branded as Politico-Jurist. That the fusionists are inclined to look askance at Gaynor is made evident by the attitude of the Evening Post, which is the most bitter anti-Tammany organ in Greater New York. The Evening Post devotes over a column to a bitter attack on Gaynor, whom it calls "an angler for ynor, whom it calls "an angler for ination at the hands of any and all a nomination at the hands of any and all parties. Continuing the editorial says:

Now, we have every what to treat Judge Gaymor and his claims with all respect. We cannot forget the eminent public services which he rendered years ago. If we could forget them, he would not let us; for he would remind us of them, as he does with characteristic modesty, in his letter. But it would not be honest not to point out that it is his later reputation which will now make or break him with the public. And that reputation, unfortunately, is not of a kind altogether to commend him. He has been a political prints! Too many of his decisions appear to have been written with an eye to the applicability. Too many of his decisions appear to have been written with an eye to the applicability in the applicability. An example of the groundings. He has been that figure, always distusteful to Americans—a judge with an iteh for publicity, and with unconcealed aspirations for political reward.

and with unconcealed aspirations for political reward.

Moreover, in his letter announcing his condidace, Judge Gaynor shows that he does not understand the nature of a reform campaign is this city. It must necessarily be anti-Tammany. The great enemy to be defeated in that organization of plunderers masquered in that organization of plunderers masquered in any positive and positive within the two positive all the time. Beyented trial chargest of a "reformed" Tammany has convinced all chargest difficultion in terms.

Judge Gaynor's letter must put an end to all the talk about his being a possible fusion candidate Whether he will get the Tammany nomination time will tell for ourselves, we greatly doubt it. Marchy is not the man to breek a challenge of his power to control a convention made up of his own creatures.

No Chance With Tammany.

No Chance With Tammany.

Tammany men who are in the confi-dence of the boss declare that Gaynor has absolutely no chance of a nomination At one time Murphy thought he would make an excellent candidate, particularly as his nomination would mean the political death of "Fat" McCarren. With a Mayoralty nominee from Brooklyn (Goynor's home), it would be eminently proper and just that the Comptroller should come from Manhattan, and it is the paranese of Comptroller Meta that has tronnge of Comptroller Metz that has kept McCarren at the head of the Brook-Isn organization.
So Murphy believed it would be good politics to boost Gaynor, particularly as he believed he could control Gaynor by deft attention to his political ambitions But recent developments have rather up-set the plans of the Tammany boss. One of the "recent developments" was a visit from a deputation representing the Knights of Columbus. This strong Catholic organization represents 75.000 votes in Greater New York, and it is be-lieved that 85 per cent of them are Democrats. Consequently they are entitled to a #### respectful hearing from Murphy. This Makes Murphy Think.

The committeemen explained that they had never attempted to dictate a Taro-many nomination, but that they desired to enter a formal protest against any hon-ors being paid to Gaynor. They based their objection on grounds that strongly appealed to Murphy personally, although he declined to make any decision at the moment. He promised them, however, that he would give their request his car-mest consideration, and he is doing so. Murphy realizes that Gaynor would poly

Richest of Fall Trimmings Public Is Cordially Invited to View Them

Miladi's dressy gowns for this season will be correctly and richly decorated if we sell her the trimming. We cordially invite every beauty lover in Portland to see the wonderfully comprehensive selection we have to show in these lines. 'Tis a revelation to see what clever novelties and what decided changes have been brought out in the trimmings high in favor for this Fall. While our representative was in Paris she paid close attention to the authoritative styles in trimmings and purchased thousands of dollars' worth of the richest dress decorations to be had. Our own importations direct from Paris and to be found only in this store. Old gold, old silver and gunmetal, in decidedly unique designs, are used on small net foundations. The effect is indescribably rich. Beaded work in original and new designs are also much in demand. We are making a special display this week of these new trimmings and want all discriminating buyers of Portland to come and view them.

CHEHALIS COUNTY MILLS ARE CLOSED INDEFINITELY.

Open Only With Open Shop Unless Weavers Modify Demands.

ABERDEEN; Wash., Sept. 13.-(Speial.)-Within the boundaries of Chehalis County every shingle mill, employing in the aggregate close to 2500 men, has closed "indefinitely," with the exception of two in Hoquiam and one in Montesano. The latter is hardly counted, as it is already running on the "open shop" policy, which manufacturers threaten to install in all plants upon again opening.
This general shut-down has come, as anticipated, from the demand of the shingle weavers for an increase in wages, upon the claim that with the new grading rules the extra care necessistated has made piece work slower in proportion to the requested increase in wages. Not a wheel is turning in this city and local manufacturers declare there will not be until the weaver. until the weavers will regulate their de-
