

BALLINGER MAY BE ONE WHO RESIGNS

Rumor Exists Now He Is Vicinicated He Will Return to Law Practice.

PINCHOT'S HATRED RIFE

Feeling Toward Secretary Is by No Means Allayed, Although Taft Has Smoothed Over Belligerents to All Appearances.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 26.—(Special.)—Now that the Ballinger-Pinchot feud has been tempered by the peacemaking influence of President Taft to a point where Secretary Ballinger has been vindicated and Chief Forester Pinchot's services to the Government insured for a continued period, attention is likely to turn to the future plans of the present head of the Interior Department.

As recent events in the Far West clearly indicate, the personal feeling between the Secretary of the Interior and the head of the Bureau of Forestry is far from being allayed. The partisans of the two men, in subordinate and unofficial positions, are likely to keep this feeling alive perhaps more than the principal actors. Pinchot will be back in Washington in a few days, and his return will be sure to revive speculation of one kind or another.

Ballinger May Now Retire.

There is a belief in certain circles that Secretary Ballinger, having received his indication, will retire from the public service at a time not remote and return to his private law practice with no taint attaching to him by reason of the charges which have been roundly condemned as "disgraceful" by the President, thus relieving the conservation situation of an embarrassment that scarcely can fail to prevail under present circumstances.

Feeling of Relief Evident.

Speaking generally, the announcement from the West that Mr. Pinchot is to remain in his office has afforded a feeling of relief. It was feared when President Taft attempted the role of peacemaker that the Ballinger-Pinchot controversy had reached a stage where one or the other would feel compelled to resign at once. It is gratifying in Administration circles that the President, who has often succeeded in the difficult task of peacemaker, has found his peculiar qualifications sufficient to solve the problem in such a way that neither Secretary Ballinger nor Mr. Pinchot feels his resignation is in order.

It is thought that, for the time at least, the relations between the two officials, which have not been friendly from the beginning, will remain in statu quo, and that there will be no fresh outbreaks. Mr. Pinchot undoubtedly will be retained until such time as the President to the extent of regulating the extension of the conservation policies according to the acts now on the statute books.

TAFT TAKES BIBLE TEXT

best that is in a man and a woman and arouse them to feel that they are to be held to higher standards and higher ideals.
But it has not been given to me to exercise that great influence which I have and which should come from him as he stood before men upon a platform. And yet I have felt that I ought to do something that may sound a little like a sermon, and as sermons are begun with a quotation of a text, having in mind the words which I would use, I am going to give you a text from Proverbs: "A soft answer turneth away wrath, but a severe word will stir up anger."
Some From Orientals.
It is a text that has struck me upon my mind during the last 10 years with especial emphasis, because I have come into contact with Oriental peoples and with those descended from the Latin race of Europe, and I have a chance to compare their views of life and their methods of speech and their social conventions and attitudes with those of the Anglo-Saxon race. We Anglo-Saxons say, we admit, a great deal. We accomplished wonders in hammering and forging and welding and assembling the principles of civil liberty and popular government and making them practical and showing to the world their benefits. But in so doing, and in the course of our life, it seems to me we have ignored some things that our fellows of southern climes have studied and made much of, and that in the form of speech and the method of everyday treatment between themselves and others. At first that seems surprising to me, but as I go on and see how things are done and how things are said, and how things are thought, I begin to understand that our methods and our communications in the shortest and curtest sentences, but my friends, we have much to learn from people of that kind of courtesy and politeness.

The truth is, that a man's life with his family, with his wife, with his children, with his neighbors, with his fellow men, is not made up of grand and noble deeds and noble words, and that sort of thing. It is made up of a series of little acts and those little acts and those little self-restraints are what go to make up a man's character. I believe that there are a great deal better than I seem to be in their families and in their relations to their children and to their neighbors, and that when someone arises who is a traitor and shows forth elements of strength of character that ought to commend them to their fellow citizens and their families.

POCATELLO GREETS PRESIDENT

Brady, Borah, Dubois, Gooding and Hamer Dine With Taft.
POCATELLO, Idaho, Sept. 25.—President Taft spent 30 minutes here tonight, arriving at 8:30 P. M. and leaving a little after 9 o'clock to continue his journey north into Montana. He was greeted by an immense crowd gathered about a stand erected at the station. It was the largest depot through the President had yet encountered.

BUTTE, Mont., Sept. 26.—The labor controversy in Butte cannot possibly have an effect on the proposed visit of President Taft.

ONE MINER FOUND DEAD

TWO OTHER IMPRISONED MEN MUST HAVE PERISHED.
Rescue Party Works 36 Hours Blasting Through Solid Rock to Find Bodies.

GOLDFIELD, Nev., Sept. 26.—

The rescue party tonight broke into the shaft where the accident occurred, and there found the body of Evan Reese, but could find no trace of W. J. Hertzsch and M. C. Matt, who were believed to have taken refuge in the same cross-cut. Reese's body was unmarked, and it is believed that he was suffocated by fumes from the cyanide solution which seeped through the earth from the collapsed tanks above.

After the rescue party had explored every portion of the mine that could be reached without finding the other imprisoned men, the search was given up, as it is now believed they are imprisoned beneath tons of debris, and it may be weeks before their bodies are recovered.

For 36 hours the rescue party has worked in four-hour shifts, blasting through solid rock to reach the spot where Reese's body was found.

AMUSEMENTS

WHAT PRESS AGENTS SAY

Dustin Farnum Tonight.
Beginning tonight at 8:15 o'clock, at the Huntington Theater, Twelfth and Morrison streets, Lieber & Co. will present the farcical and famous American actor, Dustin Farnum, in the romantic adventure, "Cameo Kirby" for an engagement of one week, with special matinees Wednesday and Saturday. Included in the excellent cast are McKee Rankin and Miss Max Rankin.

"Texas" at the Baker.

One of the best of the Western plays, "Texas" opens at the Baker yesterday for the week, and proved to be even better than the previous production. It is a melodrama, but a strong modern play of the class of "The Virginian," with a beautiful love story strongly told, and a setting of the great Western prairie. The regular bargain matinee will be given today. "Texas" will run the entire week.

AT THE VAUDEVILLE THEATERS.

Valerie Bergeve Heads New Bill.
The Cepheus will offer another strong star bill. Prominent is Valerie Bergeve and her company in a delightful one-act comedy, "Grace Greenwood's Confession." The play is well constructed and while it attracts Miss Bergeve's play of opportunity, it is full of the little farcical touches which add a most delicious freshness.

Cassey and Le Clair at Pantages.

One of the feature attractions on this week's bill at Pantages is "The Irish Tenor," a comedy drama of the class, presented by James Cassey and Marie Le Clair. Realism is given the act by a perfect technical setting and the players handle their roles cleverly.

Skating on Real Ice.

No more novel specialty could be found than the act of Miss Isabel Butler and Edward Asselt, skating on real ice. This is the feature at the Grand, and it is one of the best headlines ever seen here. Miss Butler is the champion woman ice skater of the world. The new programme, which opens with the matinee today, contains many other specialties.

SAILORS OF EIGHT NATIONS GOASHORE

RIVER BOATS CROWDED

Excursion Parties Take Opportunity to See Great Fleet of Battleships Now Anchored in Harbor at New York.

NEW YORK, Sept. 26.—The sailors of eight nations—England, Germany, France, Italy, Holland, Mexico, Argentine and the United States—thronged the streets of New York today. The sailors were granted leave from their ships, which are here for the Hudson-Fulton celebration.

The Half Moon and the Clermont lay quietly at their anchorages, where they will remain until the naval parade of October 1. But circling about the fleet of battleships there was an almost unbroken line of deep-sea excursion steamers, jammed to the rails with spectators.

86,000 MEDALS ARE STRUCK

Celebration Commemorated in Dies of Various Metals.

NEW YORK, Sept. 26.—(Special.)—The Hudson-Fulton Celebration Commission has issued an official medal for the celebration to be held in New York City from September 25 to October 1. In commemoration of those two historical events—the discovery of the Hudson River by the navigator of that name 300 years ago, and the advent of the first steamship, the Clermont, which was built and launched in 1807. More than 86,000 of these medals have been struck off by the Whitehead & Hoag Company, of Newark, N. J., and it is probable that 60,000 more will be issued.

Italy to Send Squadron.

FLORENCE, Italy, Sept. 26.—It is understood that the Italian Government, in order to compensate in a measure for what Italians consider the inadequate representation of their country at the Hudson-Fulton celebration, will send a squadron of its best ships to New York when the monument of Giovanni da Verazzano, the Florentine navigator, who explored the Hudson River, is erected there.

CAR DISTURBANCE NIPPED

Detective Lillis, Hearing of Scheme, Raids St. John Coach.

Upon the reverse of the medal, the Fulton idea is treated with a classical design, consisting of three seated, draped female figures. The central figure holds in her lap a model of the Clermont and represents the genius of steam navigation. The figure at her right rests one hand on an anchor, representing commerce, while the figure at her left holds a pencil and scroll, representing history. Upon a tablet in the central background between two columns, is a portrait of Fulton, made after Benjamin West's painting, and surrounded by a wreath. Under the portrait are the name and date: "Robert Fulton, 1765-1815." In the dexter background is a view of New York from the Hudson River in 1807, and in the sinister background a recent view of the same. At the bottom of the design is the legend: "First Use of Steam in Navigation on the Hudson River, 1807." There are six dies of the medal, ranging in size of 4, 3, 2 1/2, 2 1/4 and 1 1/4 inches. The medals are in nine different forms, varying in size and metal according to the purposes for which they are intended. The four-inch sterling silver medals will go to the members of the commission and Local preparation for the festival, which will begin October 19 and conclude October 23, are practically complete.

Preparations are being made in the Chinese and Japanese quarters for characteristic illuminations and displays. Prizes aggregating $25,000 will be offered for a 200-mile automobile road race.
Gaspar de Portola, in commemoration of whose discovery the celebration is planned, was the first Spanish Governor of California. He first saw San Francisco Bay in 1769.
