The Open Air Plunge Bath at—Largest in the World BAYOCEAN

The Great Bayside Plunge, 500 by 1000 Feet. Only the Half of the Enclosure Nearest the Bathhouse Can Be Shown in the Picture.

Salt water, straight from the sea, yet 20 degrees warmer than the surf! That is one of the advantages of the Plunge Bath. Here is the reason: The tide recedes 2500 to 3000 feet from the shore on the bay side of the peninsula.

At a sheltered point the Open Air Plunge Bath will afford a swimming place absolutely without an equal. The inside dimensions are 500 by 1000 feet. The depth varies from two and one-half feet (safe for the smallest child to learn to swim) to four feet.

This tremendous excavation in the sandy beach is part of the work for which the $40,000 dredge, now in operation 20 hours daily at BAYOCEAN, was built.

Around the outer edge a concrete wall will provide spots for restful sun-baths. A large proportion of the water will be changed by every tide.

Ideal swimming is thus provided at any hour of the day. Four hundred dressing-rooms will accommodate the bathers. One floor of the bathhouse, including a separate fresh water plunge and several showers, will be exclusively for women.

The casinos of the Southern California resorts and the great Suro Baths of San Francisco have been studied by the designers of the Bayocean Plunge Bath, so that it incorporates their best features.

But no place can duplicate this Plunge Bath, for at this peninsula only is there so peculiar a combination of physical advantages. The Plunge Bath is as much a part of Guaranteed BAY-OCEAN as the hotel, the water or the paved streets.
