

GERMANS OBSERVE REPARABLE DATE

Arion Hall Crowded to Celebrate Anniversary of Their First Immigration.

28 SOCIETIES PARTICIPATE

Mayor Simon, Otto Kleemann, Dr. Andrew C. Smith and Others Give Addresses—Music Is Feature of Interesting Programme.

The anniversary of the first landing of German people on American soil was commemorated by the Consolidated German Speaking Societies of Oregon at Arion Hall last night. The anniversary of the event is October 6, but no hall could be secured for that date. Every one of the 28 German Speaking Societies in Oregon was represented at the meeting and an elaborate programme was rendered.

The hall was decorated with flags of Germany, Switzerland, Austria and the United States. The hall, which presented considerable seating capacity, was early filled to the last seat and throngs gathered along the wall in the adjoining rooms and behind the scenes during the rendering of the programme. At the close of the orchestra played "The Star-Spangled Banner" and the Germans joined in the National song with gusto.

The speakers were President Kleemann, Mayor Simon, Dr. P. G. Schmidt, professor of German at the University of Oregon and president of the recently formed German Society of the State University; Dr. Andrew C. Smith and Colonel E. H. Hoyer, president of the Salem German Society. Music was rendered by the Arion Society, Thielhorn's orchestra, the Salem Gesang Verein, numbering 60 members, and the Portland Turn Verein.

President Kleemann Presides.

After a rendition by the orchestra, President Kleemann, of the consolidated societies, opened the meeting with a few remarks, explaining the nature of the gathering and the occasion which was being commemorated, the landing of the first Germans in America in 1842. He then introduced Mayor Simon, who gave the address of welcome, saying in part:

"The City of Portland extends cordial greetings to the Consolidated German Speaking Societies in Oregon that meet here this evening. As I understand it, this gathering is for the purpose of celebrating, and in commemoration of, the landing of the first Germans on American soil some 25 years ago. Since that period German immigration to this country has attained phenomenal proportions.

"The State of Oregon alone has within its borders nearly 50,000 Germans, substantially one-half of whom are residents of the City of Portland. The German people are public-spirited, temperate, industrious and thrifty, and at all time law-abiding citizens. Much of the success and prosperity that this state has attained is due to its German-American citizens.

Mayor Extends Welcome.

"As Mayor of the City of Portland and on behalf of its people it is my fortune to extend to you, one and all, a most cordial and hearty welcome to this city and I wish you every success in attaining the objects of your gathering, for which this assemblage has met and congratulate you on the worthy celebration of this anniversary."

Following the talk of Mayor Simon and the singing of the German national hymn, Dr. Schmidt, of the University of Oregon, delivered a masterly and scholarly address on the achievements of the Germans. He first gave a historical outline of what the Germans had done in this country, telling particularly what had been accomplished by them along intellectual lines, calling attention to their influence upon the literature of the race and dwelling on the effect of the German people upon social conditions today.

Dr. Schmidt outlined the cause of immigration to this country, telling that in the 18th century Germans came here because of religious influences, and in the 19th century because of political causes. He spoke of the work done by Henry Villard, especially for the University of Oregon, and then praised the Germans of Oregon and especially of Portland on account of the fine state they had taken in favor of the State University.

Dr. Andrew C. Smith, the next speaker, outlined especially the military work done by the Germans in the United States and told of the great German warriors who had fought for freedom during the Revolutionary War and who had stood by the American flag during the Civil War. He showed how the Germans had rallied to the support of the Union and had helped carry Abraham Lincoln through to reelection.

Saved Missouri to Union.

Dr. Smith then showed how it was German influence, or the influence of the German-Americans, that saved Missouri to the Union during the Civil War. After a discussion of the military aspect, Dr. Smith went on with a general review of the work done in this country by German-Americans, outlining the accomplishments along industrial and civic lines throughout the country.

Following another selection by the Arion Society, Colonel Hoyer spoke, his main theme being the Germans of Salem. Colonel Hoyer spoke mainly in a humorous vein, but he told of the German leaders in Salem, the many German societies in Salem, the German women in Salem, the German children, the German business men, etc., until the question as to how President Taft gained the impression that Salem was a German settlement became clear from the fact that Colonel Hoyer accompanied him on his trip to the Capital City from Portland. This impression Colonel Hoyer says he purposely created because, said the Colonel, "There are many Germans in Salem and I kept filling him with their doings."

The speaker was considerable applause by a reference to German honesty, telling of the many Germans who held positions as county and city treasurers and detailed the many positions of trust held by Germans, not only in Oregon, but all over the country today.

The meeting closed by the entire audience singing "The Star-Spangled Banner," accompanied by Thielhorn's orchestra. Then there was a general handshaking and expressions of good will. At the end of every speech there was not only the usual applause, but the orchestra struck up "For He's a Jolly Good Fellow," everybody sang and had to grasp the hand of every officer on the platform before he was allowed to take his seat.

SALEMAN DANCE IN COURT

JURY DELIBERATES OVER CASE AGAINST YOUTH.

Girl, 14 Years Old, Testifies Reluctantly—Five Are Accused.

Sealed Verdict Probable.

William Parker was placed on trial before a jury in Judge Gantenbein's department of the Circuit Court yesterday, after having been indicted by the grand jury. It was reported that Parker and five others compelled Vada Griffin to go through the Salome dance for them.

Judge Gantenbein, who presided over the case, the girl being but 14 years old, said yesterday that he found absolutely no foundation for the charge. Great difficulty was experienced by Deputy District Attorney Page yesterday in inducing the girl to tell her story to the jury. After being threatened by Judge Gantenbein with a jail term if she persisted in speaking so low that the jury could not hear, her tones became audible. It was necessary for Judge Gantenbein to clear the courtroom and to take the examination into his own hands, however, before anything tangible could be learned.

Max G. Cohen, appearing for Parker, maintains that he was ill at the time the offense was committed, and that Parker does not even know the girl. Witnesses from Arleta, where both the girl and young man live, testified as to his good reputation.

Rev. Charles T. McPherson, foreman of the jury, is pastor of the Epworth Methodist Church. The others are: J. G. Petty, A. McCarl, S. H. Pomeroy, M. O'Brien, D. W. Marsh, John B. Hoffman, A. L. Maney, Floyd W. James, James Keeney, C. James Evey, and J. T. O'Dyke.

Four of those accused with Parker pleaded guilty. They are out on bail. Three of them are church members. The pastor of their church acted as sponsor for their conduct in the future, they may be paroled by the board.

The jury in Parker's case was still out at midnight and will probably hand in a sealed verdict.

HUGE CRUSHER IN SIGHT

State Quarry Near Chehalis to Be Large Affair.

CHEHALIS, Wash., Oct. 7.—(Special.)—Yesterday, Henry Bowley, State Highway Commissioner; Henry Landes, State Geologist; Samuel Hill, president of the State Good Roads Association; Thomas Cooper, assistant to the president of the Northern Pacific; F. H. Finch, who is soon to become assistant superintendent to the Granger Line, and Traill, of the Northern Pacific, Chehalis and made an inspection of the state rock quarry at Meskill, on the South Bend branch, 12 miles west of Chehalis.

The County Commissioners of Lewis County some time ago bought the 160-acre site at a cost of $9500 and presented it to the state on condition that the quarry be established by the state to be located there. The state has accepted the quarry, which was located at Meskill, the report of Geologist Landes. Messrs. Bowley and Hill were pleased with the site and steps at once will be taken to develop it. The Northern Pacific officials gave assurance that the necessary spurs will be put in just as soon as wanted.

It is proposed to make a plant that will have a daily capacity of 10 carloads of crushed rock, which will mean the employment of a large camp of convicts. A gravity system of handling the rock will be worked. Large bunkers will be built at Chehalis, which will be the principal distributing point.

SEES SPAIN TOTTER

Returning Exile Says Alfonso Is Losing Power.

REVOLUTION IS NECESSARY

King's Only Prestige Is With Army, Says Le Roux—French Soldiers Protest Spanish Repression.

PARIS, Oct. 7.—Alejandro le Roux, member of the Spanish Chamber of Deputies, and leader of the Barcelona Republicans, who is returning to Spain for the opening of the Cortes, after two years spent in exile because of his bitter denunciation of the government, declared in an interview in Paris today that all of the liberal elements in Spain were convinced that a revolution was not only possible, but necessary and easy.

He said that although Ferrer was not directly responsible for the rioting in Barcelona last July, he was convinced that he would be condemned to death as Garcia; that the clerical reaction had the upper hand and was determined to put an end to lay education.

Le Roux is of the opinion that King Alfonso is weak and has no prestige except with the army; that the monarchy is irrevocably doomed, and the only way to save Ferrer is through international agitation in favor of a public trial.

The French soldiers are calling meetings throughout the republic to protest against the Spanish repression. The Spanish ambassador to France, the Marquis del Mui, has again formally assured Foreign Minister Pichon that Spain has no intention of departing from her original program regarding Morocco, as communicated to the powers.

Only Punishing Tribes and Has No Designs of Conquest.

PARIS, Oct. 7.—The Temps deprecates General d'Amado's utterances as published in the Matin this morning and in general his harsh criticism of Spain in her Moroccan campaign. The Temps said with harsher designs of conquest, after reiterated assurances that the operation in Africa will be confined to the punishment of the tribes and the pacification of the country.

The Temps considers that Spain is only doing, within the sphere of influence accorded by the Algeiras act, what France did in the Chaudia region.

The Liberte on the other hand boldly declares that, if it is a game of grab, France should immediately take Taza, M. Pichon, the Foreign Minister, in an interview this evening, said that General d'Amado will be severely punished if he uttered the words credited to him. It is inadmissible, he added, for an officer, whatever the value of his services, to intervene in politics. France's rights in Morocco, he said, are adequately protected by the Franco-Spanish agreement.

WHY?

There is a reason for irrigation. Did you ever stop to think what it would do you know that it is a fact that more money is being made off of a 10-acre tract irrigated than on the Yakima and Wenatchee valleys than on any 100-acre tract in the Willamette Valley? It is because here you have to depend on rainfall (which is very uncertain), and in those districts you have the water which you want it (at any point of land that you want it).

RICHLAND
