Physician Declares Dr. Collins Told Him Wife Once Before Drew Revolver With Intention of Taking Life.

Although subpensed by the state to attend the Kate M. Collins murder trial, now in progress before a jury in Judge Gatens' department of the Circuit Court, Dr. W. T. Williamson went to Tacoma Wash., and has been placed under $500 bonds by the Superior Court of that city to remain in attendance upon a case which is now on trial there. Chief Deputy Fitzgerald, of District Atterney Cameron's of. fice, said last night that he will ask Judge Gatens for an order citing Dr. Williamson to show cause why he should not be pun-ished for contempt of court. As Dr. Wilis regarded as an important witness for the state, having examined Mrs. Collies at the Crystal Springs Sanatorium soon after the murder, and pronouncing her same the attorneys for the defense are satisfied with the present situation.

"Dr. Williamsen had no legal right to go to Tacoma to attend a trial there at the same time be was needed in Portland, but he was needed in attend the same time be was needed in Portland.

for he had been subpensed to attend the court here" said Mr. Fitzgersid last night. "I am satisfied in my own mind that he and the District Attorney up in Washington fixed this bond business up among themselves, so Dr. Williamson would not have to come back and testify in this Collins case. But we have wired him to come on to Portland and return again, so he may be here tomorrow

The news that Dr. Williamson is held under a $500) bond was conveyed to District Attorney Cameron yesterday in a telegram from Tacoma. This was sent at ce to Chief Deputy Fitzgerald and Dep-

Frisbie's Testimony Important.

The testimony of Dr. C. B. Frisble, in duced by Attorneys Giffner and Sewall for the defense yesterday afternoon, was highly important, as he told of a conference between Dr. Roy A. Miles Collins, the slain man, Dr. Collins' mother and himself, in which the advisability of having Mrs. Collins examined and sent to the insane asylum was discussed. This was about a week before the time of the tragedy, July 24. Some quetion arose over the admissibility of this evidence, and while it was being settled by the court Mrs. Coilins attempted to Jump to her feet, and cried out:

"He don't have to tell it, I knew it." She continued to mumble something which was unintelligible, and was finally quieted by her daughter and son-in-law.
Dr. Frisble said Dr. Collins told him that on July 18 or 19 Mrs. Collins drew a revolver on her husband with apparent intent to take his life. The wifness said Dr. Collins also informed him Mrs. Col-lins had tried to commit suicide, but that Dr. Collins had prevented it. Dr. Frisbie said he made a memorandum of the fact, took the revolver, which was a small one, from Dr. Collins, and, removing the bullets, placed them in an envelope. The re-volver with which Dr. Collins was shot was shown the witness, but he said that

The witness said that although he tes-tified before the grand jury that he did not believe the woman insane, he half changed his opinion since talking with Dr. N. W. Jones and Dr. William House, the latter being a well-known alienist. Dr. Frisbie said he recalled that Mrs. Collins talked to her husband's dead body as though it were alive, that she asked the witness to bring her husband back to life, and that her conversation was at times incoherent. The witness admitted ne had told the grand jury he thought ins sane enough to realize what she was doing when she committed the crime, but that she was "profoundly

"When I came from the jury-room I wondered if I had not done Mrs. Collins an injustice in my statement, when I had conceded she was on the verge of insanity," continued Dr. Frisble, "but I didn't want to crawfish."

Lawyer and Witness Quibble.

"You didn't want to crawfish?" from Mr. Fitzgerald.

"I believe the correct pronunciation of that is 'crayfish." 'crawfish' is good enough for

"Well, 'crawfish' is good enough for common people."

Dr. S. E. Josephi, called to attend Mrs. Kate Van Winkle, 20 years ago, said "she passessed ideas which made her fearsome." He said he didn't consider her capable of caring for herself. The witness expressed at length his opinion upon insanity, asserting it as his belief that if a person is insane upon one subject, their view of all other things will be more or view of all other things will be more or less distorted. He said he believes the will and emotions are so connected that if one portion of these brain faculties are disturbed the reaction affects the others. He did not think insanity could exist without disease, either organic or func-

A letter from Dr. Collins to Mrs. J. A. Siaden, addressed to Genrhart, and post-ed July 33, the day before the tragedy, in which Dr. Collins said he and his uid have to give up the Sinden place ause of Mrs. Collins' poor health, was read to the fury by Attorney Giltner.

P. L. Willis parrated to the jury in detail Mrs. Collins' hallucinations when she was sick at his home 20 years ago. She thought the world would pass away and leave her suspended in space, he said, and jumped from the dinner table once crying out that everything about her was on fife. She looked hadly when she left Portland for the Hawaiian Islands, said the witness, and he saw her only a few times after she returned.

Saw Her Before Shooting.

He told of zeeing her the Monday be-fore the shooting, said her talk was incoherent, and after asking a question she would ramble on without waiting for reply. She suggested to him, he said, that she intended to commit suicide, and remarked that if such a thing should happen in Mrs. Sladen's house Mrs. Sladden would be horrified. Mr. Willis said he advised her to go ber daughter's, but that she demurred to that.

Mrs. Helen J. Stratton, of 41 Union versus testified vertacher worker that avenue, testified yesterday morning that she has known Mrs. Collins'25 years, and that a few nights before the tragedy Mrs. that a few nights before the tragedy Mrs. Collins was at the Stratton home, and walked the floor, wringing her hands, and saying she was going away, and would never come back. She thought Mrs. Collins insane when she shot her husband. Mrs. Laura B. Sutheriand, of MI Montgomery street, also believed Mrs. Collins insane, and told how, wifen the accused woman was packing her trunk abe threw the things in carelessly, and she threw the things in carelessly, and | ident.

Daniel N. Toomey, salesman for Lipman Wolfe & Co., said Mrs. Collins told him at the store after she came back from Honolulu with her husband that Dr. Collins are the Honolulu with her husband that Dr. Collins was in love with another woman, that she had been to consult a fortune-teller, who had revealed the future. Toomey said he told hor she was smart enough to care for herself, even if her husband did lgave her.

E. D. Hall, a coupe driver, must pay J. E. Stowell 3781 because he ran into Stowell's grocery wagon with a big red automobile last April, and caused the latter's horse to run away. Stowell sued in the Circuit Court for $1000 damages. The jury in Judge Gantenbein's depart-ment, which tried the case yesterday, brought in a verdict after about half an hour's deliberation. John H. Stevenson and John F. Logan appeared as counsel for Stowell.

It was between 11 P. M. and midnight of April 3 that the collaion occurred, according to Stowell. The two were driving east along Yambill street, between Sixth and Seventh streets, at the time. Hall bringing up the rear. Stowell says Hall dashed by, striking the horse although there was plenty of room to pass, and continued executions the machine. In and continued speeding the machine. In the runaway which followed Stowell says he was thrown from the wagon and broke two ribs besides being injured about the head and shoulders.

tween Vancouver and Willamette. Before the end of October, a 20-foot hannel will be open between Vancouver, Wash, and the mouth of the Willamette River. The dredge Oregon, Captain Peters, has been working on the bar above Harrington's Point for the past two weeks and to date has cut the chan-nel for a distance of 1500 feet. This is-better than one-half of the distance re-quired to be dredged.

The project calls for the dredging of a 30-foot channel between the mouth of the Williamette and Vancouver. At present this is not practicable. As soon as the 20-foot channel has been opened the dredge will make another cut which will bring the required depth. Recent surveys, nade by both pilots and the Government made by both phots and the Government, showed a minimum depth of only il feet on the bars. The deepest water was found in the old channel, used years ago by beats running to the Cascades. From the Willamette River light, the channel uns across to Harrington's Point, thence up the Washington shore for about two miles, then out toward Hayden's Island and from there to the bridge. It is this line that the Oregon is working.

One day I mot a friend who, when I had seen him last, was hobbling around on crutches like myself. This time he walked like an athlete, without the least sign of rheumatism.

I asked him how he got cured. "Electricity did it." he said.

"Why, I've used electricity for quite a while and it hasn't cured me, although it has done me some good. I replied.

"Yes, you've probably been taking a few shocks from an ordinary battery, but that isn't going to cure you. Electricity must be applied several hours a day to effect a cure, and there's a right and a wrong way of using it." He then told me that the apliance he used was Dr. Hall's Electro-Vigor, a device which saturates the entire body with a steady, unbroken stream of electricity for several hours while the patient sleeps.

To make a loug story short, I sent for Dr. Hall's free book about his treatment, and, after reading it thoroughly, I procured Electro-Vigor. Within four Bad blood is responsible for most of our ailments, and when from any cause it becomes intected with impurities, humors or poisons, trouble in some form is sure to follow. Muddy, sallow complexions, eruptions, pimples, etc., show that the blood is infected with unhealthy humors which have changed it from a pure, fresh stream to a sour, acrid fluid, which forces out its impurities through the pores and glands of the skin. A very common evidence of bad blood is sores and ulcers, which break out on the flesh, often from a very insignificant bruise, or even scratch or abrasion. If the blood was healthy the place would heal at once; but being infected with impurities which are discharged into the wound, irritation and inflammation are set up, the fibres and tissues are broken, and the sore continues until the blood is purified of the cause. S. S. S. is Nature's blood-purifier and tonic, made entirely from roots, herbs and barks. It goes down into the circulamade entirely from roots, herbs and barks.
