Al Carson, McCredie's cleverest slasher, and who has been drafted by the Chicago National League Club, was the original East Lada puzzle to the Hooigans yesterday. As Roy Willett, an ex-Portland, received miserable support, the home team corralled the game by a score of 3 to 0.

The result was not in any sense Willett's fault, for the lad from Golden, Colo., pitched equally as effective ball as did Carson. His support leaked like a sieve and the boots registered behind him handed Portland a trio of runs.

With Cooney in pickle for the first inning Olson slid a long fly to his right Martine got under but muffed, and Olson hooked second. Jack Graney was the pinch hitter with a single to center which rebounded away from Schaeffer, who subbed at short because of the absence of Bernie McCay, who has been called to Seattle by the illness of a relative. On Graney's hit Olson scored the first run.

In the sixth, also with one down, George Ort doubled to center, and took third when Speas went out on a grounder to Staley. McCredie hit to Wild Bill Devaux, who has the habit of seeing funny things in wheelbarrows, but Brashear lost Red Dog's throw in the sun, and Ort scored, while the tail manager was safe on the error. Another tally was added in the next inning when Al Carson worried Willett into issuing a pass, and was advanced to second on Cooney's sacrifice. Olson beat out an infield tap and Carson took third, scoring a moment later on Graney's out at the first station. That was all in the run-getting line, for Willett received better support in the final inning, and Carson was invincible.

"Truck" Eagan is laid up for a few days with a badly smashed finger and McCay's absence at Seattle causes Hogan to call on his utility players. Haley filled in at second base yesterday and played a splendid game. He covered the territory cleverly and handled eight chances without a slip.

In the seventh inning one of the Pacific Coast League's usual long-winded arguments arose because Umpire McCarthy failed to see Ort catch Coy off first on a quick toss from Fletcher, and manager McCredie, when the umpire pleaded guilty of not seeing the play, wanted Umpire Toman, who officiated back of the plate, to decide, but Toman refused. However the play did not count for much, as Coy was caught at second a moment later on a force.

"Excitable" Hogan will delegate either Vance or Brackenridge to the hill today, while Jesse Garrett will probably work for Portland. The score of yesterday's game is as follows:

Caution to Be His Watchword in Coming Fight.

Champion Says He Will Go After His Man From Sound of Gong—Betting More Lively—Both Men Nervous on Eve of Fight.

SAN FRANCISCO, Oct. 14.—Jack Johnson and Stanley Ketchel, the two principals in Saturday's match for the heavyweight championship, spent a strenuous day in their respective training camps. Neither needed any additional work, for both are in the pink of condition, but they worked furiously under the command of a moving picture operator, who spent the greater part of the day in taking the pictures which will be used as an introduction to the road fight.

Ketchel has surprised the pugilistic world by announcing that he will not carry the fight to his opponent, as has been his custom in all his previous matches.

He declares that Johnson must do the leading and says that he will not rear into the big champion unless the latter shows unexpected weakness from the start.

On the other hand, Johnson's manager asserts that his man will go after Ketchel from the sound of the gong to score an early knockout. When reminded that the picture privilege even the prospect of his loss would not prevent the champion putting his opponent down for the count in the first round if possible.

Betting on the big match showed an increase today, but the odds still remain at 10 to 4 with the champion on the long end. Although no change in the odds occurred, it is believed at the pool rooms that the flow of short money, which began today, will soon cause a shortening of the price. Considerable money is wagered on the even proposition that Ketchel will stay 15 rounds.

Both of the fighters are palpably nervous on the eve of the battle, and of the two, Ketchel seems to show the greater strain. Johnson weighed today and tipped the beam at 185 pounds, two pounds lighter than he expects to be when he climbs through the ropes next Saturday. Ketchel remains at his announced weight of 175 pounds. This he declares to be his natural weight and the point at which he feels the strongest.

WILLAMETTE SCHEDULE ANNOUNCED.

SALEM, Or., Oct. 14.—Athletic Director Pierce, of Willamette University, announces the football schedule as follows: Multnomah A. C., at Portland, October 16; State University, at Salem, October 30; Albany, at Salem, November 13; Pacific University, at Salem, on Thanksgiving. The team is working hard under Coach Sweetland, who may surprise some of the larger schools before the season closes.

OREGON AGRICULTURAL COLLEGE, Corvallis, Or., Oct. 14.—Carl Wolff, captain of the 1908 team, and All-Northwest halfback last year, was today summarily discharged from the football squad by Coach Metzger for insubordination. Wolff has always been a bad man to handle and consequently has been

WAIT ON COAST LEAGUE.

Nothing definite was done regarding next season's circuit, for the Northwestern League wishes to retain Portland in the fold if it is possible to do so. As this contingency is dependent on the attitude of the Pacific Coast League, which organization has the prior claim, it will be necessary to await the meeting of the National Association of Professional Baseball Leagues, which will be held at Memphis, Tenn., next month, when the matter will be threshed out by that body.

D. E. Dugdale, of Seattle; Joe Cohn, of Spokane; Walter MacFarlane, and Charles Rowland, of Aberdeen, and President Lucas will attend that meeting on behalf of the Northwestern League. This delegation intends to put up a strong battle for recognition at the hands of that body.

In the first place, the Northwestern League intends to demand the right to Portland as baseball territory, and Judge McCredie is said to sanction this claim. J. Cal Ewing, the head of the Pacific Coast League and owner of the "near" champion club, will also attend that meeting, and as Ewing has always had the happy faculty of getting results with wine sippers and the like, it is practically assured that he will hold the whip hand at the baseball meeting. However, the Northwestern managers are going to make their wants known, and are going to give Mr. Ewing a run for his money at Memphis.

payable to the Portland Northwestern League Club, as the draft price for Player Pyl, and Mr. Lucas is trying to get into communication with Judge McCredie to learn the nature of the deal. Pyl is one of the California outlaw players, and as far as known, has not been reinstated. Last Summer Walter McCredie was dickering with the player, and he accepted terms with Portland, but did not report. Manager McCredie probably submitted his acceptance of Pyl to the Northwestern League, but the awarding of the draft price to Portland is probably a mistake.

President Lucas announced that he would continue to make his headquarters in Portland for the present, and may continue to reside here next season if Portland is represented in the Northwestern organization again.

given his own way in previous years. This season Wolff attempted his usual tactics, to which Metzger objected. Metzger told the ex-captain what he expected of his men and that he must respect his orders. Wolff is said to have made a pretense at obedience but really to have provoked Metzger frequently. Metzger warned him several times and the crisis came when Wolff failed to appear at practice last night and neglected to explain his absence.

Metzger said tonight that Wolff's influence was very demoralizing to the squad and that, while he was a valuable man, the team would be better off without him if he persisted in his present attitude.

The students will support Metzger in his action. They feel that harmony must prevail if the college is to develop a team of any strength this year. They also approve of the methods which Metzger has indicated and appear ready to back him to the end.
