

BAILEY QUESTIONS
BALDWIN'S BOARD

Dairy Commissioner Sends in Milk Samples Which He Had Carefully Prepared.

INSINCERITY HIS CHARGE

Milk Taken Under Scientific Process Reported on Unfavorably.
While That From Youngen's Dairy Is Approved.

Charges of insincerity and failure to make scientific bacteriological tests of milk were laid against the State Board of Health last night by J. W. Bailey, State Dairy and Food Commissioner.

Mr. Bailey based his charges on the reports made by the board's chemists on three samples of milk submitted through Mr. Bailey's agency Friday without the board knowing the source of the milk.
Two of these samples, he stated, according to Mr. Bailey's statement, and to which he says he is ready to make affidavit, were taken under the most scientific process known in exactly the same way that Dr. H. B. Gurier, of De Kalb, Ill., obtained milk for transmission to the Paris Exposition and which was returned sweet to Illinois.

Sample From Youngen's Dairy.

The third sample of milk was obtained from a wagon from Youngen's dairy which the State Board of Health and the Consumers' League have demanded that Mr. Bailey close because of alleged filthy conditions.

Mr. Bailey declares that the report of the State Board of Health's chemist on the three samples was in exactly the same way that Dr. H. B. Gurier, of De
mission to the Paris Exposition and which
was returned sweet to Illinois.

How Milk Was Prepared.

"Under my direction and supervision, my chemist, R. C. Yennery, took two bottles and corks for each and thoroughly sterilized them. He boiled them 15 minutes, and then instantly corked them.
These bottles I took myself to a dairy on my way home. The milk was secured from the cow in the open air. I instructed the milker not to put in the first milk from the cow, as that is usually infected with bacteria to a greater extent than the later milkings. A considerable volume of milk had been taken from the cow's udder and the bottles and a few ounces was put in each directly from the cow's udder and the bottles were sealed as quickly as the act could be accomplished. The bottles were then plunged in a living spring of water in the dairy which maintains a temperature of 45 degrees, the low temperature securing against multiplication of any germs that might be in the milk.

Balloy Receives Report.

"This morning I received the report of my chemist on the three samples. The sample from Youngen's dairy was declared to show about 200,000 germs or below normal. The other two samples, according to this report, contained so many millions of bacteria that it was impossible to count them. My chemist inquired at the laboratory which was the best milk, and was told that from Youngen's dairy was undoubtedly the best.

"It was exactly under the same conditions that Dr. Gurier, who was the first man to send certified milk into Chicago, obtained samples and sent them to Paris. With any perversion of the milk no obtained was shipped to Paris on ice and back again and was received in Illinois in a sweet condition. And the samples obtained in the same way were comparatively free from bacteria, and all over town under no one knows what conditions and pronounced inferior.

Questions May Be Exchanged.

"I am ready to furnish affidavits from my chemist, the man from whom I obtained the milk and from myself relating these facts, or we will all under oath submit to any questions the members of the Board may wish to ask us in the manner in which the samples were obtained, if they will permit us to ask them questions in the manner in which the tests were made.
