PRELATE'S RELICT AT REST

Funeral of Mrs. B. Wistar Morris Held From Trinity Church. The funeral of Mrs. B. Wistar Morris, widow of the late Bishop Morris, of the Episcopal diocese of Oregon, who died at her home in this city last Thursday, was held yesterday afternoon at 3 o'clock from Trinity Church. Bishop Scadding conducted the obsequies, assisted by Bishop Keaton of Olympia, Bishop Walls of Spokane, Dr. Morris, rector of Trinity Church, and Rev. Horace M. Ramsey, rector of St. Stephens cathedral. The ceremony was attended by many friends of the deceased, and the casket was laden with beautiful floral offerings. Interment took place at the Lone Fir Cemetery.

TILLAMOOK ROAD TALKED

E. H. Virgel Is Enthusiastic Over Highway From Portland.

E. H. Virgel, formerly of Portland, is here now of Woods, Tillamook County, is here to look after his property interests. Mr. Virgel is still urging the construction of a wagon road between Sherwood and Tillamook City, and says the prospects for getting the road through next year are encouraging. It will cost only $800, he says, and Tillamook County is ready to appropriate its portion of the $800, he declares, but Yamhill, which benefits equally with Tillamook, so far has declined to join in the construction of the road. Mr. Virgel urges the importance of this road both to Portland and the two counties and points out that even now there is a heavy travel over the road in its present bad condition. "Construction of this short stretch of road," said Mr. Virgel, "will enable automobiles to make the run to Tillamook in a day, and through many of the finest scenic districts in the state, besides opening up the district for general traffic. We will get it yet before very long."

Canvass of City for $100,000 Festival Fund Starts.

GIVERS ALL ARE CHEERFUL

Some Approached Have Doubled Last Year's Subscription and Are Loud in Commendation of Great Good to City From Fiesta.

Checking up of former contributors to the Rose Festival fund of last June was completed yesterday and members of the ways and means committee inaugurated a preliminary canvass among some of the prominent supporters of Portland's new permanent annual festival event. Only those from whom letters of commendation and praise of the last festival had been received were visited, and these expressed their good will by giving in most cases exactly 100 per cent more than they pledged last year, and a number of them stretched the amount to considerably more.

JOMELLI IS LIKE MELBA

Young Dutch Soprano Often Compared to Australian Singer. Jomelli, who will sing at the Bungalow Theater next Thursday evening under the direction of Lois Steers-Wynn Conan, recently gave a very fine concert in Seattle, and one of the papers said of her rendition of the "Ave Maria," "something of the passionate fervor that makes Melba's singing of this prayer so memorable characterized Jomelli's interpretation of it. Jomelli has, like Melba, a temperament for modern French music, and she sings the beautiful aria from "Thais" with the finest feeling and understanding."

CATCH ALLEGED SWINDLER

J. H. Canley Arrested Here, Charged With Fleecing Unsophisticated Bellingham Man Out of $375 in Vancouver, B. C. Charged with fleecing Lars Olson, of Bellingham, Wash., out of $375 last August, J. H. Conley, recently from Vancouver, B. C., was arrested in this city yesterday by Deputy United States Marshal Nicholson and Charles Mulheim, Inspector of Police, of Vancouver, and lodged in the County Jail. The arrest was made under the provisions of the treaty between the United States and Great Britain. The warrant charges Conley with obtaining money by false pretenses. According to Olson's story, he went from Bellingham to Vancouver August 25 last on an excursion while races were being held in the British Columbia city. Shortly after reaching Vancouver, Olson says he was met by an affable stranger, who, after showing him the sights of the city, intimated he knew where books were being kept on the races, and proposed that they visit the place and pick up some easy money. Olson agreed, and they proceeded to one of the hotels, where they were joined by another friend of Olson's chance acquaintance. The trio then went to one of the rooms in the hotel where Conley was conducting what purported to be a book on the races. Olson's two friends placed their money and won easily. It looked good to Olson, who produced $375, all he had with him, which he placed on the next event. Much to his surprise, he won, but when he went to cash in he was informed the bank had lost heavily and did not have enough money to pay him. In lieu of the required cash, Conley, as bookmaker, and Olson's companions, the "cappers," as evidence of good faith, each executed a check for $500 as a guarantee that his winnings would be made good. The short-change artists at the same time suggested that Olson ob-
