

Ballinger Soon May Adopt New Irrigation Project in Central Oregon.

LARGE SUM IS DUE STATE

By 1912 Oregon Will Be Entitled to $2,700,000 More-Malheur Project May Be Shelved and New One Adopted.

OREGONIAN NEWS BUREAU, Washington, Oct. 27 .- Secretary Ballinger is determined to give Oregon its full share of benefits under the National reclamation law. In addition to the amounts heretofore allotted, Oregon, by 1912, he says, will be entitled to about $2,709,000, and in the near future he will take up with the Reclamation Service various undeveloped projects in Oregon, with a view to starting work on one or another as soon as the necessary funds become available.

It is by no means certain that the Mal-It is by no means certain that the Mal-heur project will be the one chosen. The Secretary says there is great demand for extension of the Umstilla project, also demand from Cantral Oregon for a proj-ect. Construction of a railroad into that esection may change the entire aspect and result in the adoption of the -Central Oregon project shead of others heretofore considered. The whole question for the considered. The whole question for the present is still in the air.

Would Have Bond Issue. OREGONIAN NEWS BUREAU, Wash-

OREGONIAN NEWS BUREAU, Wash-ington, Oct. 27.-Secretary Hallinger to-day expressed decided objection to mak-ing material change in the method of collecting water payments from settlers on Government irrigation projects. He is not in favor of graduated payments, small for the first year or two, increas-ing thereafter, but would adhere to the plan of ten equal payments now in force. This is necessary, he says, in order that the increment to the reclamation fund shall be as rapid as possible. Money just now is seriously needed to carry on fund shall be as rapid as possible. Money just now is seriously needed to carry on construction of projects under way. He furthermore would not return to the actionary-General, but will recommend that Congress authorize a bond issue, fixing the maximum amount of bonds that can be sold, and giving the Secretary of the Interior authority to issue these bonds for construction, until the maximum is reached. He is not prepared to say what that maximum should, be, but it should greatly exceed $10,000,000.

He says the depart-ment stands ready to do whatever it can to facilitate the establishment of a per-manent supply for the people of this valley. A great deal of misunderstand-ing exists regarding the department's attitude, the Secretary says, adding that the Government has at present no control over or connection with the private companies interested in the canals and irrigation systems supply-ing the Imperial Valley. The Secretary is very emphatic in his commendation of the personnel of the engineers and subordinates in the Reclamation Service and of the high type of construction and durability of the work on the various projects for which they are responsible, as well as their general efficiency and integrity.

Take Up Big Enterprise.

OREGONIAN NEWS BUREAU, Wash-ington. Oct. 37.-The fact that the United States Supreme Court as now constituted has never passed upon the income tax question, and the further fact that the public mind is quite gen-erally imbued with the idea that a majority of the present court would sustain such a law, if carefully drawn, will lead to the introduction of a num-her of income tax bills at the approach-ing session of Congress. Moreover, a serious effort will be made to secure the passage of an income tax law as a separate measure. The Secretary is desirous that the work shall be prosecuted with such dispatch as to enable the Government dispatch as to enable the Government to avail itself of the appropriation and heneficial use of waters in the West-ern states, where large undertakings may be availed of, and which, he says, are generally not within the ability of private enterprise. The passage of an income tax as a separate measure. Congress in late years has not had an opportunity of considering such a measure upon its merifs; the income tax amendment to the Payne-Aldrich tariff directly upon the principle involved. No one knew this better than Aldrich himself, which is the sole reason he resorted to subterfuge, and in the last moments selzed upon the corporation tax propaganda as the only means of shelving the income tax provision. No Hope for Amendment.

While it is true that Congress has opened the way for an amendment to the constitution which will remove all doubt as to the legality of an income doubt as to the legality of an income tax, it is becoming more and more ap-parent that a constitutional convention looking to such an amendment will be provented because more than one-fourth provented because more than one-fourth of the states are likely to refuse to join in the demand, and thus this op-portunity will be lost. Because of the fear that there will be no amendment of the constitution, the friends of the income tax will come forward with a demand that Congress pass a new income tax law and let it take its chance before the Supreme Court. But what will come of any such bills? They must originate in the House of Representatives, for they are bills for raising revenue. Once intro-duced, they will be referred to the committee on ways and means. That duced, they will be referred to the committee on ways and means. That committee did not think enough of the income tax to inorporate it in the Payne tariff bill last March, and as Chairman Payne and some of the strongest members are known to be hostile to the proposition, there is lit-tle chance that the income tax bills will be as much as considered in committee.

That committee would prove an insur-mountable obstacle. Hence the chance for passing an income tax law at the next session amounts to nil. Men who have followed the Supreme Court through its rulings since the old income tax law was declared unconsti-tutional by a vote of 5 to 4, hecline to the opinion that the present court would, by a majority of at least one, sustain such a law if it should be pre-sented. This, however, is purely a.mat-fer of speculation. There are on the bench at the present time four judges who were in the court when the first income tax was knocked out: Chief Justice Fuller and Justice Brewer, who held the law to be unconstitutional, and Justice Harlan and Justice White, who voted with the minority. Of the new members of the court, one, Justice Peckham, was appointed by President Cleveland, another, Justice McKenna, was appointed by President McKinley, and the remaining three, Justices Holmes, Day and Moody, were ap-pointed by President Roosevelt.

How Does Supreme Court Stand?

Roosevelt was an out-and-out advocate of an income tax, and it has been said that he would not have placed upon the supreme bench men who difupon the supreme bench men who dif-fered with him on such a great problem, which he knew would likely be pre-sented most any time. This may or may not be true. The friends of the income tax, however, feel thoroughly confident that the present court would sustain an income tax law, properly drawn, and they long for the chance to present such a law to the court for opinion.

The great trouble, from their view-The great trouble, from their view-point, lies in getting such a law upon the statute books. Not only 'do they realize the pitfalls that exist in Con-gress, but they are aware that Presi-dent Taft will not assist them in their struggle. His message to the Senate last Summer, when he urged the adop-tion of a corporation tax, was couched in such language as to make it abso-lutely certain he will not help secure the passage of an income tax law, espe-cially now that the new tariff has been enacted, and the additional revenue, from the administration standpoint, is not needed. The advocates of an in-come tax law fully realize their posi-tion; they are not carried away by hope, but they are willing to "take a chance," and that is all they can do under the circumstances. under the circumstances.
