SON-IN-LAW ASKS REVENGE

Accuses Wife's Parents of Destroying His Property in Feud.

PENDLETON, Or., Oct. 29.—(Special.)—A mountain family feud of long standing was brought to a climax Thursday by the arrest of Mr. and Mrs. William Walker ar their home in the southwestern corner of Umatilla County. Their arrest was due to a complaint filed by their son-in-Inw. William Anderson, who charged his aged parents-in-law with burning his barn and all its contents and making dling wood out of his wagon. Both these deeds are alleged to have been committed lest Thursday night, the wagon being destroyed while it was at the ranch of a neighbor the same night the barn was burned.

According to the story of Anderson, his trouble with the Walkers comes from his marriage with their daughter against their wishes. Since that time he says they have been doing what they could to run him and force the girl to leave him. But insect of deserting her husband, she has turned against ber parents and insists they are the ones responsible for the destruction of the barn.

Walker has been a notorious character in the mountains of Southern Limatilla and Northern Grant counties for many years. Deputy Sheriff Joe Blakely, armed with the warrants of arrest for the aged couple, set out yesterday for the scene of the trouble. Owing to the distance from this city he was not due to arrive there until this afternoon and if he meets with no difficulty, it will require the growter part of two days for him to re-

Federal Agent Who Is Fighting "Bootlegging" Exhibits Stock.

MOSCOW, Idaho, Oct. 28 - (Special.)-Sam Cone's "saloon" is attracting much attention to the Federal Court. Mr. Cone, who is a special agent of the Interior Department, is seeking to suppress the liquor traffic with the Indians. His "stock" consists of a most remarkable exhibition of various kinds of liquor dispensed by "bootlesgers."

There is a good-sized room well filled with this collection of liquors of all colors and in all kinds of bottles. There are suitcases, telescopes, trunks, boxes, jugs, kegz, barreis, tin cans and clothing all used in some manner to protect the ven-dor from being caught at selling liquor

When Mr. Cose made the big raid or the Nez Perce reservation last July he configured over $5000 worth of liquor, destroyed much furniture and confiscated and sold one man's back and team, in which he was caught hauling liquers or the reservation. Since July Mr. Cone has captured over $1000 worth of liquors, and has taken fully $259 worth of liquors from people on the trains while crossing the Baker County Sheriff Traces Man to Pendleton.

PENDLETON, Or., Oct. 29 - (Special.) -Charged with stealing a span of horses in Baker City and taking them past La Grande and Pendleton to Walla Walla, where he sold them, Ed. Newton was arrested here and taken to Baker City last night by Sheriff Rand, of that county. The officer and his prisoner was accompanied by M. Hoff, the Baker City mer-chant from whom the horses were stolen. The officers feel sure they have the right man for in addition to having traced his movements with the horses, he was yesterday identified by George Drumbeller, of Walla Walla, as the man from whom he had purchased the stolen horses. After disposing of the animals, Newton came back to Pendleton, where he has since been staying while Drum-heller sold the horses to a Seattle buyer.

WETS PLAN TO TEST LAW

Legality of Election Petition Will Be Tried in North Yakima.

NORTH YAKIMA, Wash., Oct. 29 .-Special.)-In all probability the legality of the local option election petition filed n this city by the Irvine Brotherhood will be attacked next week, and the state law tested. Pians are now on foot to protest against the holding of such an election upon the ground that instead of one petition bearing over 700 names hav-ing been filed, some two score individual petitions, bearing from 2 to 50 names ach, have been filed.

The petitions will also be attacked be-cause the abbreviation "Wn." has been written in by the Irvine Brotherhood clerks in nearly every address, and berected. This is an alleged technical alteration of the original petitions. There are Z saloons here which would be put out of business should the city vote dry.

MOTHER OF EIGHT INSANE

Woman Torn From Big Family and Sent to Madhouse.

OREGON CITY, Or., Oct. 29 .- (Special.) -A pitiful scene was enacted in the county courtroom this afternoon when Mrs. Emma Dodge, a resident of the Kansas City Addition, was committed to the insane asylum.

Mrs. Dodge is the mother of eight children, the youngest a babe of 10 months. She is violently insane and had to be secured with stout straps in order to prevent bodily injury to herself and others. The complaint was made by Mrs. E. Vanallen, an aunt of Mrs.

Dodge's husband. The woman has been in Oregon City only a short time, and was once an inmate of the State Insane Asvium of New

Two Thousand Turn Out to Hear Salvationist.

PROGRESS OF WORK TOLD

Commander Also Takes Up Plans for New Headquarters in This City. Whose Establishment Has Been Proposed.

More than 2000 people who heard Eva Booth, commander of the Salvation Army, speak at the White Temple last night, smiled and wept_at her will as she delivered her address, "The Seng of the City." Not once but many times were handkerchiefs resorted to by the audience that taxed the capacity of the auditorium, to check the tears that followed after Miss Booth had finished vivid word pictures.

Although laboring under a physical strain caused by a severe cold. Miss Booth held her audience in breathless attention for nearly two hours. Her soft but penetrating voice thrilled her auditors. Her wide experience in resone work served to add extraordinary interest to her address. Miss Booth is the third daughter of General William Booth, the head of the Salvation Army, and has entire control of the movements of the army in the United States. From her childhood days in Lon-don she has been on the firing-line for the soul-saving army, and has won her way to her present high station by the strength of her own genius and energy. Under her command are more than 7500 officers, men and women, who occupy posts in all parts of the United States, posts in all parts of the United States, Besides her arduous task of inspections of the various posts throughout the land, Mira Booth is constantly planning, organ-izing and executing movements for the betterment of the conditions of the Sai-vation Army. She spent several hours with the officials of the local branch of the army here yesterday, after her ar-rival from San Francisco, going over plans and offering suggestions toward se-curing a home for the Salvationists in Portland. The preliminary plans for the purpose are already well formulated. A suitable site has been selected, yet the depleted condition of the army's finances does not warrant further action at once. As a consequence, the erection of the home will be deferred until a necessary fund is secured.

Miss Booth, accompanied by her corps of aldes, left for Seattle at midnight, where she will continue her tour of in-spection of the army posts before her departure eastward.

SETTLED IN AURORA IN '62

William Fry, Well Known in Marion County, Passes.

OREGON CITY, Or., Oct. 28.—(Special.)
-William Fry, one of the old German colony that settled in Marion County in the early '60s, died recently at his home in Aurora, after a brief illness. He was born near Pittsburg, Pa., September 16, 1835, and moved to Bethel, Mo., with his parents in 1844, and after the death of his parents he came with the colonists to the place where Aurora now stands in 1863, coming across the plains with an ox team. As long as the colony was under the able management of the old Dr. Kiel, Mr. Fry was one of the leading citizens, as well as the head blacksmith of the colony, and in this way he came to be known as "Bose" Fry. Perhaps no man in Marton County has been better or more favorably

COMING ATTRACTIONS

New Play to Be Produced Sunday. Russell & Drew will present for the first time on any stage "The Girl From Alaska," at the Portland Theater for one entire week, commencing Sunday evening, October 31. In the leading roles will be seen Miss Helen Barham, a charming leading woman, and Miss Elizabeth Hale, the famous emotional actress.

Billie Burke Next Attraction.

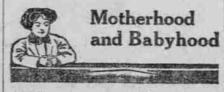

The next attraction at the Bungalow Theater, Twelfth and Morrison streets, will be the charming American actress, Billie Burke, in the exquisite comedy, "Love Watcher." Charles Frohman will present this, his latest star, at the above theater for three nights, beginning next Thursday, November 4, with a matting Wednesday.

Comedy at the Orpheum.

"A Baby Grand" is the name of a splen-did one-act comedy presented by Walter Lewis and company and will appear at the Orpheum next week. The author introduces a new and novel plot, with much of the youthful romance and shows how young lovers outwit an obstinate parent and win his blessing in the long run.

"The Spoilers" Runs Till Thursday. Those hundreds of theater-goers who intend to see "The Spoilers" at Baker Theater next week, should take note that the engagement is only for five nights and two matiness, opening Sunday matines and continuing till Thursday night with the bargain matines Wednesday. It is the famous Rex Beach play of Alaska.

New Acts Coming.

A long and excellent bill is promised for the Grand the coming week. The Kliaban-nal troupe of Japanese tumblers and bal-ancers will top the bill. This act has the greatest embroidered curtain ever made. It is the work of 30 people who labored on it for half a year and the curtain, as used in the act, is worth $19,009.

The Athon Stock Company has selected for the week commending next Sunday matinee. Lawrence Marston's greatest story, "An lineocent Sinner." The play deals entirely with hypnotic suggestion and has a strong vein of humor and romance throughout the plot. The character of Dr. Jacob, the hypnotics is one of the most remarkable characterizations ever penned.
