Top Prices of Season Reached at Palouse.

FARMERS STILL HOLDING

Estimated Half of Amount Stored in Palouse Warehouses Is Sold hut Farmers' Union Members Hold Back-Can't Get Cars.

SPOKANE, Wash., Nov. 4.—(Special.)—Grain quotations at Palouse, Wash., to-day are the highest since the season opened. Dealers are paying % cents for Red Russian wheat, 81 cents for forty-fold and $1.29 a hundred pounds for oats, while simothy hay has climbed to $15 a ton f. o. b. Palouse. Not a few farmers are selling on the advanced market, but many believe it presages still higher prices.

It is estimated that To per cent of the crop in the Palouse warehouses and at nearby stations has been sold. The manearry stations has been soid. The ma-jority of those who are holding have their grain stored in the Farmers' Union ware-house. In the Palouse Union ware-house about half the grain is held by farmers. Dealers are handicapped in moving the crop by the scarcity of cars. A. D. Shel-don, representing the Chehalis Produce Company, with a branch office at Pa-louse, has purchased 32 carloads of grain and hay on the Washington. Idaho & Montana during the past week and is unable to secure cars to move it.

TAFT TO RIDE GOAT AGAIN Initiation Into Arctic Brotherhood

Called Irregular.

SEATTLE Wash. Nov. 4—Tos Arctic Brotherhood, the secret order into which President Taft was initiated during his visit to the World's Pair, took steps today at its annual convention to entertain the President elaborately when he visits Alaska next Summer. Some question was raked as to the regularity of the initiation of the President and others who came into the order with him, and the Grand Camp decided that the persons so infiliated were eligible to active membership on visiting Alaska and having the secret work conferred in the usual way by a subordinate camp there.

Knifing of Judge McCredie Believed Fatal.

WILSON PROFITS THEREBY

A large audience insection of the high school in an address on educational progress in the state and the importance of high ideals in both teachers and pupils. Mr. Ackerman paid Klamath Fails the fine compliment of saying that no other city of equal population in the state has public school facilities superior to those found here. He also said no other county in the state has a high school building and equipment equal to what Klamath County possesses. Addresses were delivered by Professors Alderman and Dressler and much discussion in regard to methods of teaching was participated in by the local teachers. The school board convention called Monday by County Superintendent Swan was participated in by the local teachers of the county, and such subjects as school sanitation, industrial instruction, training schools for teachers, were exhaustively discussed. The convention selected P. L. Fountain president for the Looked On as Strongest Candidate for Senator With Judge Burke or Senator Piles as Chief Opponents in Campaign.

United States Senator and owner of the Post-Intelligencer. This belief is based on the assumption that there will be no Tacoma candidate who will have a sufficient following to command the support of the Tacoma press. S. A. Perkins, wner of the Tacoma morning and evening leading dallies, is a strong personal friend of Senator Wilson and it is believed that his newspapers will indorse the Wilson candidacy if it can be done without antagonizing Tacoma interests, as now seems likely. In addition, Perkins owns the two dallies in Olympia, controls one in Everett and owns another in Bellingham. All these, it is pointed out, may be, lined up for Senator Wil-

Wilson Club Active. The Wilson Club in Scattle is continu

The Wilson Club in Scattle is continuing its active work in sounding sentiment in Eastern Washington and endeavoring to secure the support of country newspapers. The assertion is made that more than 100 country papers are already pledged to Wilson's support. Ex-Senator Wilson is not an avowed canglidate, but his personal following has a fairly definite understanding that he is in the fight. Wilson's principal opponent, as now indeated, will either be Judge Thomas Burke or Senator Piles. Here it is believed that what is holding Judge Burke lieved that what is holding Judge Burke back is the uncertainty of Senator Piles' intentions. No one has been able to get a public statement out of Senator Piles, and his friends say he has not yet made and his friends say he has not yet made up his mind.

Close friends of Senator Piles say all that is staying him from seeking re-election is personal finances. The general impression that he is a wealthy man is incorrect, it is declared. Senator Piles, instead of making several hundred thousand dollars out of the famous Sullivan will case, sold his interests therein for about $15,000. He owns a husiness lot on Third avenue, estimated to be worth about $15,000, and his private residence, valued at $2000 or $500. These two pieces of property are said to compose his total personal assets. The very fucrative law practice that he once had was necessarily shandoned when he entered the Senate, and his personal income is not sufficient to maintain his position in Washington successfully as a United States Senator. Senator Piles' health also is not very good, and the two matters combined may cause him to keep out of the physically trying and expensive primary campaign.

Judge Burke's candidacy has already been indorsed by the executive committee of the Young Men's Republican Club at a meeting in which Senator Pile's probable retirement was discussed. Some of the club members at the meeting declared they had confirmation of the story that Piles would drop out of the fight.

drop out of the fight.

As opposed to Wilson, Judge Burke would probably receive more enthusiwould probably recaive more enthusi-astic support from the Seattle Times than would Senator Piles. The Times also controls two daily papers in Bellingham and they may be expected to support Judge Burke if he is a can-didate.

Poindexter Wants to Insure.

The situation is complicated by the probability that Judge Miles Poin-dexter. Representative in Congress from the Spekane district, may enter the race as an avowed insurgent candi-

Judge Poindexter might develop considerable strength in Eastern Washington, but in riew of the fact that Senator Jones is from that section of ington, but in view of the fact that Senator Jones Is from that section of the state, the more largely populated western section will naturally desire a West Side Senator. Judge Poindexter took his seat in Congress avowing his opposition to "Cannonism." The result was that when Speaker Cannon announced his committee assignments. Congressman Poindexter was relegated to the chairmanship of the committee on ventilation and acoustics. Congressman Poindexter is now, it is said, anxious to join La Foilette and "insurge" in the Senate.

Some politicians believe that John E. Humphries, of this citr, will be an important factor in the contest. Judge Humphries biossoms out as a candidate for some important office or other as regularly as an election rolls around.

tice" to the workingman in personal injury cases.

He advertised his candidacy in a manner that scandalized the more ethical members of the bar, but the plan of campaign nearly won him the nomination. Judge Humphries is now an avowed candidate for the United States Senate and is expected to pursue similar tactics. While some believe these will prove telling, opinion still is divided as to their effectiveness in seeking such an office.

Within the last few days, there has been some talk of ex-Governor Me-

As the result of the bitterness of the contest, neither Mead nor McBride was successful and S. S. Cosgrove, now deceased, was nominated on second choice votes. In the past, McBride has lind a strong following in Eastern Washington because of his advocacy of the rallway commission law, enacted since his retirement. Governor McBride is said to have no desire to enter another political contest, but it is thought enamles of John L. Wilson might induce him to run for the Senate for the sole purpose of evening his score with the ex-Senator.
