BROOKLYN CITIZENS COMPLAIN—Residents of Brooklyn complain of bad service on the Brooklyn line. They say it is irregular and uncertain. "Saturday evening," said a resident, "a Brooklyn car left Third and Yamhill with a heavy load. Immediately following came another Brooklyn car half full. Then came the third with hardly any passengers. All three went on toward the carshops, but at the Inman-Poulsen sawmill there came a general mix-up there being four or five cars all bunched up. Passengers were transferred from one car to another after the cars had been backed to East Harrison, causing great inconvenience and delay. From the time I started from Third and Yamhill it took nearly one hour to get to Ellsworth street. This mixing up on this route has become frequent of late. To some extent this is due to the single track between East Harrison and Ellsworth street. A double track between these two points would do away with the delays."

BRIDGE COMMITTEE TO MEET—The bridge committee of the North East Side Improvement Association will meet this afternoon at 2 o'clock, in the office of M. G. Munly, Wells-Fargo building, to consider ways and means of raising money to employ special counsel for the Broadway bridge litigation. Able attorneys are fighting the bond issue, and the association feels that special counsel should be employed to assist the city attorney, who is overworked with a great volume of legal business and problems. Chairman Munly asks the presidents of the push clubs north of Sullivan's Gulch either to attend this meeting, or send a representative. There will be full discussion of plans for raising funds to pay for special counsel.

CHURCH WILL ENTERTAIN—Entertainments will be given in Sacred Heart hall, on Milwaukee street, each night this week, up to Saturday. M. G. Munly will deliver the opening address, a sermon, which will be followed by a comedy by local talent. Tuesday night will be German night, when German songs and selections will be rendered. Wednesday night will be children's night. The Irish will be in charge Thursday night with an appropriate programme. Friday night, the close, will be the social evening. Luncheon will be served. The result of a contest for the gold-mounted gavel, among the fraternal societies, will be announced Friday night.

ANALYST SHOLM ELECTS—Officers for the ensuing year were elected at the annual meeting of the Analyst Sholm Congregation at the Synagogue, Park and Clay streets, yesterday. This congregational meeting was largely attended and the officers-elect were the unanimous choice of those participating. The new officers are: President, A. Rosenblatt; Vice-president, H. Miller; Secretary, Isaac Swett; Treasurer, John Dellard; Board of trustees, J. P. Singer, Jacob Lasser, Charles Asher, M. Gilbert and S. H. Abrams.

YOUTH LOST SALOON—After looting the saloon of Albert Serrin, at 240 Williams avenue, of two bottles of whisky, a box of cigars, cigarettes and tobacco, of various kinds, Alfred Serrin, the saloonman's 16-year-old son, and Claud Dixon, 15 years old, of 21 North First street, were arrested last night. The youths were distributing cigars at Fourth and Oak streets when apprehended. Patrolman Wanless and Shafer filed charges of drunkenness against them.

PORTLAND AUTHOR ADAM BERT—Portland is to have a book exclusively its own. Marion Cook, who, in 1907, published "Where Flows Hood River" and last year "The Child and the Dream," is about to issue "Voices of the City," a book touching on the varied phases of city life. The author has illustrated her work with sketches of the city and the book also contains full-page border designs in color. The edition is limited, and each copy will be numbered.

CAPLES GOES TO CALIFORNIA—R. E. Caples, private secretary to George H. Chamberlain, United States Senator from Oregon, left for California last night to meet the Senate irrigation committee, of which Senator Chamberlain is a member. The Senatorial committee will come to Oregon to make an inspection of the Klamath Falls irrigation project on November 10.

MAN HURT BY BLAST—His skull fractured, R. S. Warner, a laborer employed by the Cascade Construction Company, at Stella, Wash., was brought to St. Vincent's Hospital yesterday evening. Warner, with other workmen, was blasting rock in the canyon of the Columbia river when he was struck by a falling rock on the head. He is not expected to live.

on Marshall street. Why not find out what the law is and how to operate it? It would be a great labor-saving device yet discovered, and it would be of incalculable benefit to the world.

If, as many assert, it was the "devil, working" through the little boy who lived in this house, why not try and find out how he does it and use it for constructive purposes, rather than let it be used to destroy what man has constructed for his welfare? It will not be any more wonderful to discover what this force is, or the force that manifests as a cyclone than it was to learn how to use electricity for all the purposes for which it is now used. This is a new idea. We have grown out of the old superstitions when people feared everything they could not understand and thought it was some devil, or some force trying to capture them for his kingdom.

Yes, this is the woman's and the man's age, and we are going to control all these forces that operate so destructively now. We will "tame" the "devil." We will make our own climate. We will transform disease to health, pain to pleasure, death to life. All this is needed to do this is wisdom, and we are getting that fast.

THE George M. Cohan trademark of stardom was evidenced in last evening's opening performance of "The Talk of New York" at the Bungalow, when Victor Moore appeared in the most recent of the Cohan works to be offered west of the Mississippi. Since, too, it is Mr. Moore's first trip into the city, the play was a really rampant to view the creator of the character of Kid Burns, in which he made such a hit in "Forty-five Minutes from Broadway." The more fact, the Cohan manufactured the play is equivalent to jolting down much about a biffoom-bang-chorus, stunningly clad, with clasp of much brass and cynicism, and rapid-fire plot and dialogue.

Everybody works—and when they aren't singing and dancing the chorus is in the act. Needless to say the American flag is waved occasionally—which again betrays the Cohan stamp.

In this particular vehicle, Mr. Moore concludes the Kid Burns serial. His methods are extremely quiet, and he doesn't beat his humor into his audience.

The play is a modern musical show, to story—one may judge when it is known there are 18 song numbers.

It is a modern musical show, staged in an excellent manner, and the play is a fifty-looking chorus handsomely gowned, and every evidence of detail in presentation.

"The Talk of New York" will remain at the Bungalow four nights, with a matinee on Wednesday afternoon.

Queen of the Highway at the Portland

FILLED with the movement and some of what overdrawn excitement typical of melodrama, yet with some features worthy of much of the good acting put into it, "The Queen of the Highway" was presented yesterday afternoon and last night at the Portland Theatre.

Through all the play runs a strain of something that appeals to the popular taste of showing people. Perhaps this is due somewhat to the individuality of some of the actors, who would certainly be more at home in a play of a more conservative character.

"The Queen of the Highway" deals with early pioneer life among the Indians. It was well attended yesterday.
