NO OPPOSITION IS SHOWN

San Francisco, Oakland and Sacramento to Have Continuous Baseball—Annual Meeting of Magistrates Opens at Memphis.

MEMPHIS, Nov. 8.—The practical admission of the California State League, an "outlaw" circuit, to the National Association of Professional Baseball Leagues was the result of the first day's session of the National Board of Arbitration held today.

The board spent the day discussing the terms under which the Californians will be admitted. J. H. Perrill, secretary of the National Association, and Frank Hermann, president of the California State League, were appointed a committee to draw up the agreement under which the new league is to be admitted.

Evening Talks It Over.

J. Cal Ewing, president of the Pacific Coast League, and Mr. Hermann had a conference before the question went before the National board. It was decided that the new league shall share three cities with the Pacific Coast organization. Non-conflicting schedules are to be fixed, and San Francisco, Oakland and Sacramento will be the three.

Contract Jumpers Held.

It was decided that contract jumpers must remain in the California State League for four years, while those who have broken their reserve clauses must remain for two years.

which has never tolerated prize fighting, even in pioneer days. Last Winter, when promoters hoped to be able to give boxing exhibitions during the world's fair it was made clear to them that all the power of the state would be used, if necessary, to prevent the fights. It is doubtful if any state enforces the law against prize fighting any more rigidly than Washington.

in a whirlwind fight of ten rounds, here tonight. The battle was that of a scientific boxer, who was able to hit and get away, against a man whose main asset is slugging, and who could not get near enough to his shifty opponent to land.

In but one round, the second, was Thompson able to send home enough telling blows to make it appear that his strength would carry the fight home to him. Thompson also took a brace in the last three rounds and did some good work.

A mighty shout of approval went up at the end of the tenth round, when referee Joe Coffey, of Chicago, raised Packey's right hand, signifying that he had won. Wearing by the terrific pace of the battle, McFarland did not realize that he had won. Two minutes after the decision had been given he hurried across the ring to the press box and asked: "Did I win?"

Round One.

Round Two.

Thompson rushed McFarland to the ropes and sent a hard right to the jaw. Packey returned straight right to jab, catching his opponent on the jaw. Thompson rushed McFarland to the ropes again, the referee broke them. Thompson landed two hard rights to the jaw, staggering McFarland. They clinched and McFarland hung on desperately and seemed weak. Thompson's round.

Round Three.

McFarland landed right to the jaw. They clinched. Thompson landed good right to body. McFarland drove right to the jaw and staggered Thompson. Thompson rushed McFarland to the ropes. Round Four.

McFarland opened with a savage right uppercut to the face. Thompson bored in, but could not land. McFarland landed two rights to jaw. McFarland sent hard right to jaw and right to head. Thompson rushed McFarland to the ropes. Thompson rushed McFarland and received two uppercuts. Thompson's right ear was badly puffed at the end of the session and McFarland was bleeding at the mouth.

Round Five.

Thompson came in with a rush and met a short right. He landed two straight lefts and crossed with a right. Thompson rushed McFarland and staggered him with two savage rights; they clinched and he sent in another Thompson drove a right to the body and McFarland returned a right and left, but they lacked steam.

VARSITY MEN CRIPPLED

PROSPECT POOR FOR SUCCESS AGAINST IDAHO.

Star Kicker Gets Severe Injury to His Foot That May Put Him Out. Other Players Suffer, Too.

UNIVERSITY OF OREGON, Eugene, Or., Nov. 8.—(Special.)—The varsity football squad that began practice today for the big game against the University of Idaho on Saturday, was so largely a matter of luck that the best sanguine supporters of the varsity are doubtful of the outcome of the Idaho game.

In the Multnomah game it was seen that Oregon had built up a splendid defense, but her offensive work was so ragged the team went to pieces at critical moments. Stopping the "phages" of Multnomah's heavy backs also cost the collegians heavily in injuries. Several of the best defensive men on the team were so badly crippled up and bruised they may not be able to get in the lineup for two weeks.

"Big Lou" Pinkham, the star tackle, had his knee twisted and will not be able to participate in practice at all. Trainer "Bill" Hayward is putting him through a steaming process every night in the hope of getting him in shape to play his position against the Idahoans, but even with Hayward's best efforts, Pinkham may have to be kept on the sidelines. The big fellow is worrying so much over his enforced rest it is retarding his recovery.

Both Hickson and Bill Kiltz, who played star games in the end positions, were severely bruised. Hickson has a sprained ankle that is bothering him notably, and Kiltz got a severe twist of one of his knees. Dodson, who went into the game when Kiltz was obliged to go out, should never have played at all, for he had a bad nose bruise on the thigh which was hurt again in the first scrimmage he got into.

Saturday's game showed that unless Oregon can develop a good quarterback before the Idaho game, she will have small chance of winning. Though Clarke put up a good game in that position, he was needed by the squad at half to give strength to the offensive work. Latourette's natural position is half, as he has shown up there better than he ever did before, but he will probably have to be sent back to quarter. In the very last scrimmage of Saturday's game Captain Clarke received an injury to his right foot that will save the expense of operating a ferry at that point. The matter has been submitted to the War Department. The steel structure will rest about
