Forest Service Methods Attacked by President Burgess-Pinchot-Ballinger Controversy May Stir Up Sheepmen's Society.

PENDLETON, Or., Nov. 2-(Special.)-With 150 delegates, representing all the wool sections of Oregon, in attendance and an abundance of enthusiasm, the 12th annual convention of the Oregon Woolgrowers' Association was convened here this morning. So far peace and harmony have characterized every semion, but it is rumored there will be interesting limes tomorrow when the resolution, offering order of husiness, is reached, Thus far there have only been hints at the Pinchot-Ballinger controversy, but it it expected that a resolution will be offered tomorrow afternoon which will stir the annual address that the policy pursued by the Government in the conduct of the Forest Service was destructive to the best interests of the woolgrowing indus-try. He added that the only cloud on the sheepmen's horizon was the question of an adequate supply of Summer range for the flocks. Evidently scenting the fray expected immorrow, Judge Stephen A. Lowell, of forest reserves, public domain and water power could not be solved by alignment with either the Ballinger of Pinchot pol-ley. He admitted that both were possi-bly right to a degree, but he insisted that any correct solution of these problems must take into consideration the present users of the range. users of the range.

J. Mahoney, of Heppner. The report of Secretary Smythe showed prosperous condition with the member-ship constantly on the increase. More han 150 members were added during the year and the membership now includes so par cent of the sheepmen of the state. Smythe also referred to the fact that strifes and dissensions, which formerly marked the efforts of the woolgrowers to work in harmony had been obliterated. He cited the benefits which had been se-cured to the sheepmen of Oregon as a result of the efforts of the association during the past year.

Agers and Barney autray were pair of a committee that called upon Wilson and obtained this pledge. In the talk the committee had with Wilson a plain infimation was given that he would announce his plan for a fight to succeed Senator S. H. Piles. Wilson has just returned from a tour of the state, and he declares that the pledges of support be has received are flattering and encouraging. From his standpoint, he in-formed the committee that he believed he had an excellent chance of winning. About three weeks ago L. H. Gray shift off the war reminiscences of A. A. Bar-low before the Wilson Club with the ex-planation that "we are all basy men and haven't time for that," and several months earlier he hesitated to break into the time of a big railroad official because "we are both busy men." but Gray in-sists now that he is perfectly content to wait for the Wilson announcement until the candidate is willing to give 'l. There is an official announcement on the days. In the meantime Senator S. H. Piles will not divulge his plans. Piles said this morning that he did not expect to the days. In the meantime Senator S.
