

STARVATION STRIKE WANES IN SPOKANE

Prisoners Glad to Get Bread and Water—Habeas Corpus Writs Next Move.

SPEECH ORDINANCE SHAKES

Trouble Over Shouters Promises to Cause Revision of Regulations. Guardhouse Gang Growing More Tame.

SPOKANE, Nov. 11.—(Special.)—Habeas corpus proceedings is the next move by the attorneys for the Industrial Workers of the World in behalf of the prisoners in the city jail and in the guardhouse at Fort George Wright. Two writs were issued today by Judge Hinkle on petition of Bruce Rogers, a Portland attorney. Since the start of the I. W. W. disturbances, November 2, 231 arrests have been made. Of this number 64 were dismissed on account of insufficient evidence. The following disposition was made of the balance: Guardhouse at Fort Wright military reservation, 7; old Franklin School building, 6; city jail, 22. Sentences of 20 days in jail and costs have been given 190. Fifteen Agitators Arrested. Fifteen agitators who were released and rearrested for a second offense face 30 days in jail and a fine of $100 and costs. Foreigners under arrest number 115, and 21 of the malcontents can neither read nor write. In fact, the I. W. W. contingent here for the most part looks, smells and talks like tramps. The starvation strike among the prisoners has about ended, those in the Franklin School partaking of bread and water, those in the Fort Wright guardhouse eating their rations and the City Jail contingent also devouring the taxpayers' food. But the shouters have succeeded in attracting the attention of the Nation, and Socialists and quite a respectable following of citizens demand the repeal of the so-called anti-free speech ordinance. It is probable a compromise will be reached and some vacant lot provided where oratory may flow undisturbed. One Orator Goes Free. The last heavy gnat of the I. W. W. cases, including those of the leaders charged with conspiracy, were today continued until November 15. J. M. Dugan, one of their best orators, whose family reports sickness therein, was ordered discharged by Justice Mann. The prisoners now occupying the guardhouse at Fort Wright have discontinued their song of "Haul down the Stars and Stripes and run up the red flag," which they rendered on their way to the post Wednesday. On the territory of Uncle Sam they are behaving more orderly. This morning they were taken to clean up the guardhouse and scrub and wash the windows, and they obeyed without hesitation.

SPOKANE IS UPHELD BY HAY Governor Pleas With Manner City Handled L. W. W. Controversy. SPOKANE, Wash., Nov. 11.—(Special.)—Mayor Pratt this morning had a long conference with Governor Hay on the subject of the L. W. W. controversy. The Governor expressed himself as well pleased with the manner in which the authorities were handling the situation. He stated to the Mayor that the state authorities stood ready to render any aid, should it become necessary. Governor Hay, when told of the action of the Council last night in refusing to repeal the street-speaking ordinance, said: "That is right. It would be fatal at this stage of the game to give in a foot. If the men are breaking the law, they should be punished and I agree with Lincoln, that it is no time to trade horses while crossing the stream."

JAPAN CHANGES TACTICS

NEW MANUAL INTRODUCED IN INFANTRY EXERCISES.

More Attention to Be Paid Offense Than Defense—Laws to Protect Whales Made.

VICTORIA, B. C., Nov. 11.—A meeting of the Japanese Military Council was held today before the Aki Maru sailed, and several important changes were made in Japanese military works, a new manual of infantry exercises being arranged. This bases all infantry maneuvers on the theory of attack, the idea being that men should be taught to carry the spirit of assault in every engagement without consideration of defensive tactics. Another feature is a greatly increased distance between units of skirmishes and fighting lines. New manuals are being prepared for cavalry and artillery. Arrangements were made for official trials at the big maneuvers just concluded of a traveling military kitchen which boils rice and heats soup, designed after that used in Russia. The Japanese government has formed regulations for protection of whales. Whaling vessels of Japan will be limited to an annual catch of 30, each vessel being licensed for five years, and regulations are now being drawn up for closed areas and closed seasons, but the penalties provided are not calculated to prevent infractions, the maximum fine being $20. Baron Kituchi will leave Tokyo in the middle of December for New York to lecture before the Civic Forum. He is president of the Kyoto University. Alterations may be made in the plans of the Nippon Yusen Kaisha's American line, and but three vessels may be operated next season on a monthly schedule, instead of fortnightly, as at present. The Nichi Nichi, a Tokyo daily, says: "In the American route, three steamers of over 6000 tons are to be allotted, and be run every four weeks."

China is reported to have notified Japan that the Pekin government will not consent to Japanese railway guards for the Antung-Mukden Railway, proposing to place Chinese railway guards instead. Japan will propose an arrangement whereby Japan and China share equally in guarding the line.
