Trainer Bill Hayward expressed him-self cautiously, saying: "Idaho always gives Oregon a hard battle, and I look for a repetition of past performances in this year's game. However, I do not think that as many points will be scored by either team as last season. I look for a tight game, with Oregon winning by a margin of one or two touchdowns."

Rooters Coming to Portland. Despite the rival attraction offered by the University of Washington and the Oregon Agricultural College at Corvallis today, several cars of students and citizens of Eugene are coming to Portland this morning, and this after-noon the streets of Portland will re-semble a college town. The University of Oregon team is fully cognizate of the importance of winning today, for a defeat would practically put it out of the running for the Northwestern championship. A victory means that oregon will be ready for the Oregon "Aggies" next Saturday and that on Thankspiving Day "Old Oregos" can go to Seattle with all the confidence of a champion team to engage the Uni-versity of Washington in the deciding struggie of the year in Northwestern football. All this and more depende on Oregon victory today.

Added to the attractiveness of the occasion being an intercollegiate battle, and the only one to take place here this season, will be the attendance at the game of the Governors of the two tracts of the Governors of the two the game of the Governors of the two states represented. Governor James H. Brady, of Idaho, and Frank W. Benson, chief executive of Oregon, will both be there, and friends of each are the suthority for the statement that both Governors are most enthusiastic foot-ball rooters. In running down punts and stopping plays their work was spectscular. Curry played a good game at center and Cobb, aside from his punting, played a good all-around game after he loosened up.

Line a Stone Wall.

Line a Stone Wall. During most of the game the High School buck field, consisting of the Day brothers, Stiles and Gunnell, had things its own way and by brilliant end runs and fierce line bucks made yardage frequently on gains of frequest by Syards. The bril-liant work of these players invariably came to naught, however, through fum-bles and bad luck. The High School line was generally a stone wall as far as the ability of the academics to go through ft was concerned. Gerspach and Toomey, at left tackle and left end, respectively, were stars that glimmered frequently throughout the game. Shearer, al' right tackle, played his position like a veteran. Lincoln High tried several forward pames that resulted disastrously. Quarter-back kicks were used with some success back kicks were used with some success

BAKER CITY HIGH WINS GAMES

Precedents Broken in Game Called

on Account of Darkness. PENDLETON. Nov. 12. - (Special) -Baker City's High School football eleven broke all precedents today when it de-feated the Pendleton High School on the latter's home ground in the annual con-test. The score was 20 to 9 and the game was called six minutes before time was up on account of darkness. The visitors averaged 160 pounds, out-weighing the Pendleton team 15 pounds.

The visitors averaged 165 pounds, out-weighing the Pendleton team 15 pounds to the man. They were well coached in the old style of football and went through or around the line of their lighter opponents at will. Numerous fumbles by the Pendleton team were also costly, the players apparently suffering from an attack of stage fright. The locals were strong with the new style of play and by a series of well executed
