PEWS HIS AUDIENCE

Alfred Montgomery, Painter, Empties White Temple.

DISCOURSE IS RAMBLING

Auditors Laugh Tolerantly at First, Then Protest and Finally Al-most in Body Arises and Walk Out.

Most of a large audience at the White Temple last night arose in a body and walked out while Alfred Montgomery, a painter, was attempting to hold its attention with a rambling discourse, into which he injected what he considered at first the audience laughed, then it protested, and at last, at 9:15 o'clock, when Montgomery picked up one of his paintings and apparently settled down to his subject, which he had advertised as "Religion in Art," the audience began to leave. So many left that the speaker invited the others to go, too. If they wished, and they took him at his word. He continued his speech about a sketch taken from the famous painting, "Christ Before Pilate," to an empty gallery, and less than a hundred persons in the auditorium.

The speaker began by saying that he came to the city because he wanted to, that he took the White Temple pulpit because he was invited, that he was born when he was a small boy in the middle of Illinois, was glad to be born at all, and that he was scared, but would soon get over it. Montgomery stuffed his hands into his pockets, said he was a farmer, told the audience that the one-man idea in mounting public sentiment keeps 5,000,000 people from the coast, said he worked nine years learning to paint a corn kernel and 26 years learning to paint a sheep's head, and incidentally called attention to the fact that he is an "author" and that he is to speak tonight. Dr. J. Whitcomb Brounger, the pastor, is in the State of Washington endeavoring to raise money for McKinville College. Rev. John Bentzen, the assistant pastor, presided at the services last night.

GYPSY SMITH WAITS CALL

Other Cities Must Join in Bringing Evangelist.

Evangelist "Gypsy" Smith will not come to Portland before next Fall, according to Rev. S. Earl Dubois, secretary of the committee on arrangements appointed by the Portland General Ministerial Association. Mr. Dubois said last night that the committee must hear from Los Angeles, San Francisco, Seattle and Tacoma or Spokane before it could be decided definitely whether or not the noted evangelist will tour the West. He did not think the committee could report to the association before its January meeting, as he said the preachers in the other cities must hold their meetings and decide whether or not they want Smith.

The committee of seven, appointed by the Portland association, was composed of the following members: Dr. William Hiram Foulkes, Dr. Luther R. Dyott, Rev. W. T. Easter, Rev. S. Earl Dubois, secretary, Rev. Henry Marcotte and Rev. W. F. Reagar. This committee appointed Dr. Brounger and Mr. Dubois to find out whether a suitable auditorium can be secured. It is thought one of the buildings on the Fair Grounds may be suitable. Mr. Foulkes, Mr. Dyott and Mr. Marcotte have been appointed to learn what can be done toward building a permanent auditorium to seat 10,000 persons, and Mr. Easter and Mr. Reagar to act as a committee on a temporary structure, either an auditorium or tent.

COAST ACTIVITY MARKED

Bay City Man Says New Railroad Has Caused Awakening.

According to Thomas Watt, of Bay City, who arrived in Portland yesterday, Lytle's road will be completed and in operation by June 1 of next year. Mr. Watt comes to Portland to represent the owners of Brighton Beach, the new resort and townsite property which he and his associates have laid out on Nehalem Bay and which comprises 487 acres of land. "It is really amazing the amount of activity that has been going on the past Summer on the coast between Bay City and Nehalem Bay," said Mr. Watt, "and this beginning is only in eight. Contractor Wakfield, who is building the west end of Lytle's road, has something like 1000 men at work, and the line is now in operation from Tillamook City up the coast beyond Bay City."

CAR CRUSHES MAN

Watchman, Hurrying Across Track, Run Down and Killed.

MOTORMAN NOT TO BLAME

Brakes Applied So Quickly That Wheels Do Not Touch Body. Confused by Passing of Cars.

Peter Sonsun, night watchman for the Oregon Transfer Company, was struck by an Alberta car at Union avenue and Beech street at 5:30 last evening and died within a few minutes. The accident was said by the witnesses to have been unavoidable. They exonerated the motorman.

The Alberta car was northbound and was passing a Woodlawn car at Union avenue and Beech streets. The conductor had just given the motorman a bell to drop a passenger at Beech street when Sonsun, who was standing on the east side of Union avenue, started to run diagonally across the street, shouting and holding his hand aloft to attract the attention of the motorman on the Woodlawn car. As a result he ran head first into the Alberta car, which was going in the opposite direction, and was hurled under the fender but not under the trucks. He was breathing when removed, but died within about eight minutes. His skull and left shoulder were fractured. The motorman on the car was Ed Hicks, whose number is 734. The car was Alberta car No. 176, and the conductor was E. J. Thomas, No. 734. Motorman Hicks is said to have done all in his power to stop the car. So quickly did he jam down the brakes that the car was stopped before the trucks reached the feet, although Sonsun was only a few feet ahead of the car when he first stepped on the track. Sonsun was about 30 years old and resided at 571 Beech street. He is survived by a widow and two sons, one of whom is grown. Witnesses to the accident, all of whom agree as to the details, were: C. W. Holmes, 66 Third street; G. W. Peddicord, 1145 East Fifteenth street; North; William Ramsey, Vancouver; W.

TEACHERS WILL ASSEMBLE

County School Superintendent Robinson has completed preparations for the annual Teachers' Institute of Multnomah County, which will be held in the assembly hall of the Washington High School, Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday, of Thanksgiving week. On Monday and Tuesday the institute will be for teachers for the county outside of Portland and St. John, and on Wednesday all teachers of the county, including those of Portland and St. John, will assemble.
