

Surf Fishing Off the Rocks South of BAYOCEAN

Another Fascinating Sport, With the Place But a Few Minutes' Walk Distant

How is this as an ideal Summer holiday? Your family is staying at your cottage at BAY-OCEAN. You run down Saturday evening—2½ hours from the city. You have no "fishin' togs," but you want to go fishing. So with the simplest of outfits you walk to Cape Mears, dressed as usual. There, in the surf forever pounding against the cliffs, scurry the fish, always ravenous. Out whirls your line. Soon comes a jerk, and pulling in fast, you bring up "porgy," sea trout, black bass or tom cod.

Don't you thrill with the pleasure of it right now?

SUMS OFTEN WRONG

Chief Engineer Clarke's Main Estimate Incorrect.

RAISED PRICES BLAMED

Waverleigh Heights' Pipe Shows Latest Error—Totals Differ by 10 Per Cent—Change in Office Hinted.

A difference of 10 per cent between the original estimate of Chief Engineer Clarke, of the Water Board, and Elwood Wiles, the sole bidder for a chain of mains in Waverleigh Heights, was a feature of the Water Board's session yesterday morning. Mayor Simon intends to secure an explanation as to why Mr. Clarke's estimates on contract work are nearly always incorrect. He referred the bid to the board for consideration. J. P. Sharkey, owner of three-fourths of the land that must pay for the mains, said he had gone over the Wiles bid and was unable to see how the work could be done at a lower figure. He is willing to pay the rate asked by Wiles. If the board sees fit to award the contract, he told the Mayor and the members. Mr. Clarke says increased prices are the cause of the variance.

Clarke's Mistakes Many.
Mistakes that have been frequently made by Mr. Clarke in compiling estimates for various jobs, big and little, have caused the administration a good deal of embarrassment. During ex-Mayor Lane's tenure of office, he encountered the same trouble with faulty estimates. Through inability to secure proper bids, he was obliged to order the whole batch of estimates, covering many months, sent back for correction. Items were not properly quoted at market rates, making it impossible for contractors to submit correct proposals. It is evident that the administration will make some kind of a change in the near future regarding the engineer's office, as it is a constant source of trouble. One thing that is said to irritate Mayor Simon is the fact that Mr. Clarke is drawing a first-class salary—$400 a month—yet he appears unable to compile proper estimates. The city engineer, having charge of the enormous interests that center in his office, receives but $300 a month. It is said that the Mayor believes Mr. Clarke's salary is out of all proportion to the value of his service to the city.

Winter Prevents Hurt.
Only the fact that it is the winter season, instead of summer, saved the Water Board from a very embarrassing situation with regard to the Waverleigh Heights bid. While the district is to be paved with hard-surface next season, along with a vast amount of other territory, this cannot be done while it rains, and this is the saving condition. Because of this, the Mayor said he would not act hastily, but submit the question to the board for consideration. The original estimate is $32,709; the revised $38,110, and the bid $39,000.

The board awarded to the East Jersey Manufacturing Company a contract for $40,000 worth of pipe and specials for connecting the Mount Tabor reservoir. The lock-bar made was ordered for the first time in the history of the city, upon recommendation of Superintendent Dodge and Mr. Clarke.

EVEN BOAT SHUNNED HER

Woman Who Is Dissipated Given Ten Days to Mediate.

Mrs. Rose Ellis, who came to Portland two weeks ago from Coos Bay, was a remorseful prisoner before Judge Bennett yesterday morning in the Municipal Court. She had come to Portland on a shopping trip, and, falling into bad company, was led into a period of dissipation. She had been brought into court before by the police, but was freed without punishment by Judge Bennett on her promise of future good behavior. Later she presented herself at the steamer Breakwater in such a condition that the captain of the boat refused to take her aboard. "Mrs. Ellis," said Judge Bennett, "boats have the reputation of taking anything. You must be getting pretty low if they refused to take you. You will stay in jail now for ten days until you can learn to behave yourself."

BACK TO NATURE.
Nature supplies a remedy for most diseases, and when such a remedy is found it should be used. Oregon Herbs (a tea) is a combination of herbs prescribed by nature for kidney and bladder diseases, and should be used as nature intended her medicines to be used, namely as a tea. No alcohol to irritate, no pills to dissolve and punish the system. Just a good old-fashioned tea, easily prepared and easily taken. All dealers should have it. Price 50c.

GRAND JUROR IS HIT

Judge Compelled to Oust "Drunk" From Jury.

UNUSUAL CASE ARISES

Circuit Courtroom Scene of Ejection of Man Who Persisted in Imbibing Too Much and Once Too Often for Own Good.

Because he came into the grand jury-room day after day drunk and late, George C. Strow, one of the jurors, was discharged by Presiding Circuit Judge Brough yesterday morning, and John Schlet, a driver, living at 1197 Front street, drawn to take his place. It will now be necessary for District Attorney Cameron to resubmit to the grand jury all the matters which it has taken up during the last 20 days. Strow was formerly a barber, but is now an iron and steel worker, and lives at 421 Hall street. It was apparent to Mr. Cameron as soon as he was drawn that his propensity for imbibing from the flowing bowl might lead to trouble, but nothing was said about the matter until Strow's conduct became unbearable. The grand jury as it now stands, is composed as follows: E. C. Pier, foreman; A. E. Schang, A. L. Johnston, Edward Magee, John Olsen, W. H. Phelan and John Schlet. This is the third change which has been made in the personnel of the grand jury this month.

SHORT TERM FOR YOUNG MEN

Couple Who Wronged Girl Are Given Light Sentence.

Johnston McCulley, a magazine writer and former press agent at the Lyric Theater, and William Churchill, formerly employed at the Kilham Stationery Company, were sentenced to four years in the Penitentiary by Presiding Judge Brough in the Circuit Court yesterday, and placed on parole to Chief Probation Officer Teuscher of the Juvenile Court. Both young men pleaded guilty to having wronged Lena Boyd, a 16-year-old girl, the penalty for which is imprisonment in the Penitentiary for from three to 20 years. Judge Brough said he had investigated the case carefully and was satisfied that the girl in the case was not above reproach. "The fact that a girl has started on the wrong path does not excuse a man," said the Judge, "especially when the girl is lacking in years of discretion. I am extending the parole in the hope that the young men will avail themselves of the leniency of the court, conduct themselves as men should, and respect womanhood, whether that womanhood is worthy of respect or not."

Capital Stock of Million Only Partly Paid, Is Contention.

Circuit Judge Cleland is hearing the suit of J. H. Abbott, of the Portland Engineering Company, against the Clatskanie & Nehalem Valley Electric Railway Company and 41 other defendants, to find out what stock they own in the company, and to compel them to pay an engineering bill of $1147.50, which Abbott says is due him for locating the railroad. The company had a capital stock of $1,000,000, but although much of the stock was subscribed for, the money is said not to have been paid in. About 1000 shares had been prepared, showing the best route to be followed between Clatskanie and Mist, nine and a half miles. He said he had been waiting since September 25, 1908, for his money, only $277.50 of which was paid. A. B. Kurtz, who said he subscribed for $151,000 of stock, testified that he had paid in $1200. It was admitted, however, that this money was not paid by him on stock, but expended before the company was organized in exploiting it. The other defendants are: E. S. Booth, Edward Hughes, W. J. Tichenor, McDonald & Sutherland, John Fringle, Henry Kraus, George Koberstein, W. F. Hatt, V. L. Malcolm, E. E. Hogberg, E. C. Ainsworth, F. E. Turner, C. A. Anderson, A. Sandlin, F. L. Johnson, Libel McCauley Company, John W. Lane, G. H. Stockwell, Jr., E. H. Thornton, administrator of D. R. Nelson's estate; H. S. Glenn, James Miller, Casper Libel, Simmons & Dugal, Joel Hill, Hannah E. Conyers, Birkenfeld & Lewis, A. E. Harvey, J. H. Aldrich, Mrs. N. Merrill, F. E. Malenberg, J. L. Woodson, C. L. Conyers, M. E. Page, E. D. Tichenor, W. A. Hall.

TELEGRAM LOST IN SHUFFLE

Judge Morrow's Court Disturbed by Delayed Message.

Circuit Judge Morrow did not put in an appearance at the Courthouse yesterday morning, although he had a case set for trial at 9:30 o'clock. It was the case of Joseph Ehalonen against Paquet, Gleibach & Joplin for $7500 on account of the death of a workman in the cave-in at the Brooklyn sewer more than a year ago. About 2:30 o'clock in the afternoon a messenger boy walked up to Deputy County Clerk Smith with a telegram, filed at Cliffs, Wash., hours before, which read: "No court in No. 2 this morning. Train late. Morrow."

GOODE ESTATE HELD BACK

Webster Wants to Learn More Before Distributing It.

County Judge Webster desires to hear more regarding the estate of H. W. Goode before deciding upon the disposition of the property. He has issued an order for Clara Elbertson, formerly Goode's stenographer, to appear in court today to tell what she knows regarding Goode's insurance policies and other private papers. Mrs. Edith F. Goode, widow, filed an affidavit in which she says Miss Elbertson possesses an intimate knowledge of some of Goode's legal papers, some of which she believes are being concealed. The widow secured the resignation of S. G. Reed as administrator some time ago.
