CITY'S NEEDS TOLD

Civic Institute Summarizes Portland's Requirements.

WORK COLONY IS URGED

Place Where Prisoners May Regain Self-Respect Pleaded For-Municipal Art Commission Pointed Out as Necessary to City.

Judge Webster at yesterday's session of the Civic Institute made a strong plea-for a work colony in connection with the iail, and a more reformative treatment of iall, and a more reformative treatment of prisoners.

"Some people say the 'third degree' does not exist," he said. "It does exist; it is one of the burning shames of an enlightened age. We ought to have a law passed which will keep the questioning of prisoners out of the hands of the men who have a direct interest in their conviction. We ought also to have a work farm where a man can regain his self-respect instead of being kept in a sunless hole in the jail. We are arranging for such a farm ten miles out on the East Side."

W. G. McLaren spoke of the need of a municipal lodging-house, and Mrs. Lola G. Baldwin of the need of a state institution for the care of delinquent girls.

Dr. W. G. Eliot spoke on the need of a Municipal Art Commission. "The civil yall. Fortunately, we are prom-

"but there remains the necessity for a body of men who have the taste, education and power to decide on the steps taken for the future beauty of our city. It might consist of a member of the Council, a member of the Portland Library Association, a member of the Portland Art Association, a member of the Women's Club and of the Taxpayers' League."

Miss Strong, organizer of the institute, made a summary of the findings of the different sessions, and referred each need discovered to the appropriate organization discovered to the appropriate organization for further consideration. She said:

City Plan Discussed.

"In the session devoted to city plans, the need of a city plan for Portland was brought out. This matter is referred to the Civic League, which is already taking it up. The need of more playgrounds was also a marked feature. We suggest this matter be referred to the Park and School Boards, and that the Mothers' Club and the Woman's Club be asked to give attention to the matter. In the session on tention to the matter. In the session on public health, the need of an isolation hospital and an emergency hospital is referred to the Visiting Nurse Association, the local advisory committee of 11 on health and to such medical bodies as may have influence in the matter.

"The need of some form of supervision for the private hospitals for nervous diseases was also brought out. The matter is referred to the State Conference of Charities and Corrections. The need of better information among housekeepers as to the state of their markets was also brought out together with the possible.

ised this. The need of a municipal lodging-house and a work farm, brought up at today's session, should also be taken up by the Prisoners' Aid and the State Conference of Charitles and Corrections. The address on employment agencies suggested the establishment of more free municipal employment agencies to deal with diffrent kinds of work and of a state-wide plan for free employment.

"The matter of billboards and theater curtains, brought up yesterday, should be referred to the newly organized Civic League, and also to the Woman's Club." A motion was made that Miss Strong appoint a committee of three to take charge of sending out these suggestions and of any unfinished business left by the instiany unfinished business left by the insti-tute, with power to enlarge luself for any purpose in line with the educational purposes of the institute. MEASURE FAVORS BAILEY

OFFICIAL GETS POWER UNDER MILK ORDINANCE.

Certificate to Be Required as Prerequisite to Selling in Portland. Provision for Inspectors.

State Dairy and Food Commissioner Bailey receives full recognition in the ordinance that is recommended by the City Council committee on health and police for passage regulating the Portland milk supply. After going over its provisions carefully yesterday morning with the members of Mayor Simon's special commembers of Mayor simon's special com-mittee, the committee sent it to the Coun-cil, and it will be considered there next Wednesday morning. That it, will be passed seems certain, for it has the in-dorsement of the Mayor and many other influential persons. Two proposed ordinances were drawn up by the committee appointed by Mayor Simon, differing slightly in the manner provided for the issuance of certificates of beneatless. of inspection. One ignored Commissioner Bailey, while the other recognized his office fully, giving him power to issue permits for the sale of milk in Portland, and authority to inspect dairy herds from which this city is supplied with milk. The ordinance which gives him this power at prices 39 per cent less than anything and recognizes his office, is the one recommended for passage by the committee that the carline and street improvements ommended for passage by the committee on health and police.

Mayor Simon is pleased with the result. He has believed all along that Commissioner Bailey will co-operate with the city authorities in securing a pure supply of milk. The Mayor discussed the proposition with Commissioner Bailey at concilion and placing it on a paying basis, one time. And Balley assured the Mayor he was ready to do all in his power to assist. The Mayor then communicated this to the special committee, and urged distinct surprise to his friends. It is exthis to the special committee, and urged distinct surprise to his friends.

The ordinance provides for a system of inspection, and for the services of not to exceed three inspectors, who shall work not more than four months each year, and whose duties shall be to see that there are no tubercular cows in any herds from which milk is furnished to herds from which milk is furnished to Portiand consumers. These inspectors may be deputized by the State Dairy and Food Commissioner, in order that they may have authority to inspect cattle beyond the limits of the city.

Before anyone can sell milk in this city, under the provisions of the ordinance, it will be necessary to secure a certificate of inspection from the State Dairy and Food Commissioner and from the City Board of Health. A permit to sell milk will be issued by the City Auditor, and it will then be a guarantee that his prod-yesterday afternoon of a meeting of dairymen, to be held in Drew Hall, Second and Morrison streets, next Monday night. The Mayor was invited to attend, and accepted the invitation. The proposed pure milk ordinance will be the principal thing discussed.

The Mayor was notified by Mr. Bailey
