

PROVINCE SWEEP BY CONSERVATIVES

Landslide Overwhelms Liberals in British Columbia Election.

LOCAL OPTION CARRIED

Solid Delegations Sent From Vancouver and Victoria and Few Liberals Win—Socialists Have Three Members.

VICTORIA, B. C., Nov. 25.—(Special.)—Today's election throughout British Columbia proved a snowing under of Liberals in British Columbia and such a victory for Conservatives as has never had precedent in Provincial history. At 11 tonight the returns gave Premier McBride a following of 24 in the Legislature of 42 members, while the Socialists have taken from the Liberals but two, Jardine in Esquimalt and Brewster in Alberni, both Vancouver Island constituencies, and, curiously, the two districts which will be most benefited by the McBride railway construction programme as it affects the island.

Local Option Believed Lost.

No cabinet minister was defeated. A publicist taken as to local option is believed to be a fair estimate. Returns are not yet available. There are a few isolated districts yet to be heard from, but they will not affect results. The only district in which results are problematical is Lillooet, which may go Liberal. In this case Liberals and Socialists will tie in the new House, and must adjust the question of local option.

Result Is Great Surprise.

The result, while generally expected to be a Conservative win, was by none expected to prove so overwhelmingly complete, especially as but four years ago the Liberals swept the Province in a Dominion issue. Victoria returns: Richard McBride, 2670; F. Davis, 2660; S. B. Thompson, 2479; H. F. Behrman, 2421. Oliver was swamped. Returns, fairly complete, from all ridings are as follows: Richmond, Carrier-Cotton, Conservative, elected; Columbia, Parson, Conservative, probable; Okanagan, Price-Elliott, Conservative, probable; Cariboo, M. Calahan and Fraser, Conservatives; Alberni, H. Brewster, Liberal, elected; Tmlr, F. Schofield, Conservative, probable; Yale, R. McBride, Conservative, probable; Skema, W. Manson, Conservative, probable; Cowichan, W. H. Hayward, Conservative, probable; Kamloops, J. P. Shan, Conservative, probable; Revelstoke, T. Taylor, Conservative, probable; Cranbrook, T. Cavlin, Conservative, elected; Lillooet, McDonald, Conservative, probable; Rossland, W. R. Braden, Conservative, elected; Greenwood, J. Jackson, Conservative, elected; Sicocan, McInnis, Socialist, probable; Chilliwack, S. C. Cawley, Conservative, probable; Westminister, T. Gifford, Conservative, elected; Nanaimo, I. Hawthornthwaite, Socialist, elected; Newcastle, P. Williams, Socialist, elected; Comox, M. Vanover, Conservative, elected; Fernie, I. Harrington, Socialist, probable; Kaslo, N. McKay, Conservative, elected; Nelson, H. Wright, Conservative, elected; Grand Forks, E. Miller, Conservative, elected; Dewdney, M. Manson, Conservative, elected.

LIQUIQUE, Chile, Nov. 25.—The popular feeling here is that the Alsop claim of the United States against Chile is unjust. A public meeting will be held, probably on Sunday, at which it will be proposed to boycott American importations unless the United States desists from pressing the claim.

CONVICT SEES NEW WORLD

Streetcars Strange to Man Pardoned After 27 Years.

ST. JOSEPH, Mo., Nov. 25.—With the mind of a child, so far as the outer world is concerned, John Rogers, who was pardoned today from the Kansas State Penitentiary, was brought to St. Joseph for his Thanksgiving dinner by Mrs. C. T. Artleip, sister of Governor J. H. Brady, of Idaho. Although 56 years old, Rogers had never seen streetcars and many other modern conveniences, and has never spoken through a telephone. He takes the same interest in these things that a child does when it first sees them. Rogers did not sleep all last night, but huggled in his arm a pet kitten which he had raised. He will have employment here. Rogers entered the Kansas penitentiary 27 years ago, having been convicted of murdering the father of his sweetheart. All his relatives and old friends are dead.

"The Shepherd King" at the Bungalow

CAST. David of Bethlehem, Wright Lorimer; Jesse, Daniel Giffether; Mother of David, Alison Skipworth; Osean, E. K. Matousek; Samuel, John Westworth; Abinadab, Walter H. Brown; Eliab, Axel Bergstrom; Ahimelech, Frank Campbell; Adonijah, Ruth Cooper; Hondemano, Catherine Adams; Saul, King of Israel, Brigham Boyce; Prince Jonathan, Irving White; Princess Michael, Frederica Going; Princess Merab, Helen Singer; Prince Phalt, Harold La Coste; Captain Doeg, E. F. Roseman; Omar, Daniel Lawler; Captain Tamra, Frank E. White; Goliath of Gath, Eugene Mack; Samuel, W. R. Hodges; Witch of Endor, Alison Skipworth; Ramah, Mr. Mack; Lia, Evelyn MacLosa; King's Daughter, Ivah; David's Arrow, Beazey W. B. Hodges; Priest, James Dolan.

WRIGHT LORIMER'S "The Shepherd King," in which the dramatist appears as star, which opened at the Bungalow at the Thanksgiving matinee, is a magnificently picturesque and impressive production.

While the play is founded on a Biblical theme, it is in no sense a religious one, but it is a purely romantic drama, based on Scriptural history.

The story is that of King David, Israel's chosen monarch, whose career from the tender of his father's sheep, through various vicissitudes and triumphs, is told in a thrilling and scholarly manner. The play is spontaneously mounted and much special music and an artistic ballet add to its charm. The cast is a lengthy one, and the executive and stage staff is equally as extensive as those required for the elaborate first productions of "Ben Hur."

In the opening act is shown the home of David, near Bethlehem, where Jonathan and the Princess Michael come to summon the shepherd to the camp of Saul's army to play and sing before the King. Here begins the strong bond of friendship between David and Jonathan and also David's affection for the Princess. The next scene represents Saul's camp in the Vale of Elah, whither comes Goliath, hurling defiance at Saul, and here from an elevation David throws the stone that kills the giant. Saul's throneroom is next shown and through the growing jealousy on the part of the King he attempts to kill David, whose life is saved by a bond maiden, Idora, who rushes between them and receives the blow intended for David. This scene, with its handsome and faithful costume-gowning and settings, terminates in a most thrilling and dramatic manner.

In the first scene of the fourth act is shown the cave of the witch of Endor, where Saul had gone to learn his fate, and is told by the spirit of Samuel of his own death and that of his son. Saul and his army have been routed and the timely arrival of David turns defeat into victory. He is reunited to Princess Michael and upon Saul's death is proclaimed King of Israel.

Mr. Lorimer, the author of "The Shepherd King," has had a most interesting career, being a graduate of Harvard and also bearing Oxford degrees. Owing to a great love for the stage, his career was diverted from that of a college professor at Stanford University, through the influence of Wilton Lackaye. He is an accomplished and scholarly actor, with a splendid presence and an unusual voice that lends great effectiveness to the intelligent reading of his lines. He received numerous curtain calls from two large, enthusiastic audiences yesterday.

Mr. Lorimer is supported by an excellent cast, the work of Brigham Boyce as the tenacious Saul being especially worthy of mention.

"The Shepherd King" will be produced Friday and Saturday nights, with a special prices matinee Saturday afternoon.

GRANT HITS LIQUOR

General to Aid Temperance Move in Army.

TOTAL ABSTINENCE PLAN

Son of ex-President Declares He Will Cheerfully Help Minister to Oust the Saloon From Its Hold on the Soldier.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 25.—"I shall cheerfully aid in your proposed temperance move in the Army," promises General Frederick D. Grant, in command of the Department of the Lakes, in a letter addressed to the Rev. Wilbur F. Crafts of this city, superintendent of the international reform bureau. The letter was made public tonight.

An invitation recently was sent to General Grant by Dr. Crafts to address a meeting here on December 12 next, to inaugurate a movement looking to the establishment of a total abstinence association in the Army and Navy.

In his communication General Grant expressed regret at his inability to be present, but declared, according to Dr. Crafts, that he is "cordially in favor of the proposition."

Dr. Crafts said that it was proposed to establish an association similar to that

NERVOUS HEADACHES

Become More and More Frequent if Not Cured.

The Tonic Treatment Helped This Case from the Start and Every Sufferer Is Justified in Trying It.

Nervous headaches are the direct result of starving the nerves. It frequently happens that through grief, worry, digestive disturbances, eyestrain, or mental or physical overwork the blood becomes impure and the system runs down. The nerves fail to receive their usual nourishment and, in persons who have inherited a tendency to nervous headaches, they almost certainly develop. Unless cured they invariably increase in frequency and intensity.

Mrs. Katherine Ruppel, of No. 1270 Sunset Boulevard, Los Angeles, Cal., who is a member of the Eastern Star, tells of a cure for this trouble. She says: "I suffered with nervous headaches for nearly twenty-one years. When they began they would occur about every three months. Then they became more frequent and for years I had them every two weeks. While they lasted I was often confined to bed. The pain was mostly in the back of my head and lasted from two to five days. During the attacks I would be very dizzy and it seemed as though I was going blind. I was nervous and many nights I could not sleep at all. About three years ago I had a severe attack of headache and was in bed for two weeks. I was partially paralyzed and numb in my left side. "I was treated by doctors for many years. They were afraid of apoplexy, and paralysis and gave me pills only while I was using their medicine. When I gave up taking their medicine I would soon be as badly off as ever. I finally decided to try Dr. Williams' Pink Pills as I had seen them recommended for cases similar to mine. The pills helped me very soon and, as they were the only medicine that left no bad effects, I kept on with them. I haven't had a headache in I don't know how long and I feel certain that I am entirely cured."

Dr. Williams' Pink Pills are sold by all druggists or sent, postpaid, on receipt of price, 50 cents per box; six boxes for $2.50, by the Dr. Williams Medicine Company, Schenectady, N. Y.

JUDGE RESCUES COUPLE

CALIFORNIA FAMILY REUNITED ON THANKSGIVING.

Carters Feast and Renew Marriage Vows on Advice of Jurist.

Happy Again.

LOS ANGELES, Cal., Nov. 25.—(Special.)—Roast turkey and home-made cranberry sauce was on the Thanksgiving day menu today of the Carter family on the big Carter ranch near Lawndale.

When Mrs. Kate Carter left her husband on his 800-acre ranch last July, Sylvia, the daughter, and Roy, the son, went with their mother. Walter Carter, the husband, was left alone. He brought suit for divorce against his wife on the ground of desertion.

Mrs. Carter yesterday appeared in court to defend the action. She told Judge Houser that her husband had used blasphemous language in addressing his nudes. In the 21 years they had lived together on the ranch he had never called his wife "darling." Mrs. Carter smiled at her husband as she testified.

"I think you folks ought to get together and talk it over," advised the court. "You don't want to be separated. You have lived together happily 21 years and should make an honest attempt to keep it up. I will not grant a divorce. Kiss and make up."

A look of friendship passed between the man and woman. The stalwart son and pretty daughter watched their parents anxiously for a moment. A lump rose in the grizzled father's throat; a tear gleamed in the mother's eye.

"Come, darling," the old man said, and they went home together.

A Hypothetical Question

If Prof. E. R. Lake, Professor of Botany at the Oregon Agricultural College, and an authority upon the subject, stated, "The location and soil of Linnhaven is the best for fruit culture in Oregon," and he did say so; and, if this 3000 acres were to be put under expert horticultural cultivation, which it is; and, if this same land were to be placed upon the market at an average of $250 per acre, in small tracts, which it is; and, if you were secured by 20 acres of this land on a loan of $500, maturing in five years at 5 per cent; and if, instead of a secured note, you were to receive secured preferred stock, under a guarantee that it would be redeemed in five years; and, if, at the same time, you were to be given one share of common stock with every share of preferred stock you subscribed for; and, if this common stock were to entitle you to a share of all the profits when this magnificent fruit tract is sold, in addition to your 5 per cent and your money back; and, if it would require but ten minutes of your time to demonstrate that all of these questions were actual statements of fact, would you, or would you not, Think It Worth While to Investigate?

This is an opportunity that seldom comes to the man with either a small or large investable capital, to become a participating member of a big land syndicate, promising unusually large profits. The character of men who are officers of the company will commend the sincerity of the plan, as well as the practicability of it. At any rate, call today at the Perkins Hotel and talk it over with the accredited representatives of the company. This opportunity will last until Tuesday, at least.
