

GOVERNORSHIP FOR ROOSEVELT

Friends of ex-President Want Him to Succeed Senator Depew.

ODELL BACK OF SCHEME

Ex-Governor Would Boost Roosevelt for Governor of New York to Get Rid of Him in Race for U. S. Senatorship.

BY LLOYD F. LONGERGAN. NEW YORK, Nov. 29.—(Special).—The Roosevelt "boom" for Governor, which has excited a number of newspapers hereabouts, is disposed of by the ex-President's friends in the one word: "Nonsense."

The "boom" was started by ex-Governor Benjamin H. Odell, who dashed for publication that "Roosevelt could have the nomination by lifting his finger. And he would be nominated, he would be elected."

Then State Chairman Timothy L. Woodruff followed this up by declaring he would gladly do anything he could, and heartily favored Roosevelt's nomination.

But many people overlook the fact that Odell is probably the most bitter enemy Roosevelt has in the Republican party here. It was Roosevelt who drove Odell out of power. It was Roosevelt who attacked Odell's political backer, the late E. H. Harriman.

Therefore it may be properly asked, why is Odell so anxious to see Roosevelt make the race for Governor next year? It is inconceivable that Odell is animated by friendly feelings. He frankly dislikes the ex-President and makes no bones of saying so.

Woodruff's Activity Explained. Woodruff's activity is easily explained. In January, 1911, the Legislature will elect a successor to United States Senator Chauncey M. Depew. Rumor has had it that Roosevelt wants the job. With a Republican Legislature it would all be over except the shouting. Woodruff is anxious to annex the job himself.

That is why he would enjoy seeing Roosevelt in the executive mansion at Albany. Billy Barnes of Albany; George W. Aldridge, of Rochester; Francis Hendricks, of Syracuse; Senate Leader John Raines, Speaker James W. Wadsworth, Herbert Parsons, of New York, in fact every big and little boss in the party, would welcome Roosevelt's candidacy with acclaim.

For it is the only way they see to "get rid of that terrible Hughes."

The Governor may not know it, but a number of his most bitter enemies went to Washington and begged Taft, "for the sake of the party," to put Hughes on the United States Supreme bench in place of Justice Peckham, deceased.

Plea is to Remove Hughes. "He is a mighty good lawyer," declared one county leader who hates Hughes, "and he would be an ornament to the bench. Please for God's sake, remove him from state politics."

The Hughes following is a mighty peculiar constituency. The bulk of his adherents are independent Republicans, and mighty independent at that. Their code is a simple one. When they find a Republican candidate who is opposed to Hughes, they vote for his Democratic opponent.

It is safe to say now that when the next state convention meets the majority of the delegates will be opposed to Hughes. But what would be the result of a third nomination, what are they going to do?

They have the votes and will be able to turn down Hughes. But if they hold the balance of power and his humiliation would undoubtedly mean a Democratic Governor.

Hughes Likes Roosevelt. With Roosevelt in the race, however, such a result would not occur. The Governor and the ex-President are great friends. Hughes would be perfectly satisfied to see Roosevelt succeed him. He would undoubtedly make that fact known and hold his followers in line.

But—Would he do it for any other candidate? The consensus of opinion is that he would not, unless the nominee was a high-class independent of whom he approved, and the swapping of one "crank" for another does not appeal to the practical politicians as being much of a victory.

So they would like to enlist Roosevelt, the only "practical reformer" in the state, and a man who has proved he can satisfy all factions.

An office holder in this city, who was a confidant of Roosevelt during his two terms in the White House, summed up the situation in these words today:

Roosevelt to Recoup Fortune. "Men who believe Colonel Roosevelt will enter the race for Governor do not know what they are talking about. When the former President left for Africa he had practically decided to have nothing more to do with politics. He told me at that time his political life had proved very expensive, and he proposed to recoup his fortune by literary work."

"At that time his name was being mentioned as a probable successor to either Platt or Depew, and he remarked: 'Say, it would be bully to go in the Senate and take a fall out of Aldrich and that crowd.' But there was nothing to indicate that he was anxious to secure the position."

"Colonel Roosevelt's real friends, of whom I am one, will advise him to keep out of the gubernatorial race. Mind, I do not know that he wants to re-enter politics, but if he does, the United States Senate is the place for him."

The man who is quoted above is a cool, hard-headed citizen, and an excellent judge of political conditions. His advice, being disinterested, will undoubtedly have more effect upon Roosevelt than all the pleas of Woodruff, who is anxious that the ex-President shall drop the organization's chestnuts out of the fire.

the passage of an irrigation warrant or certificate law bearing his name—a law that will hasten the completion of irrigation work in his own state, he will have one big feather in his cap, and one good argument to advance as to why he should be re-elected.

SAILORS ARE WRATHY

ASSAIL SHIPOWNERS FOR EMPLOYING COOLIES.

International Union Opens Fourth Annual Convention in New York.

NEW YORK, Nov. 29.—Coolie crews on Pacific mail steamships, controlled by the Harriman systems, and on steamships running from Puget Sound to China, controlled by James J. Hill, will be denounced at the fourth annual convention of the International Seaman's Union of America, which opened in New York today.

Under existing conditions," he said, "American sailors on the Pacific have to compete with the cheapest and lowest type of sailors, Chinese and coolie laborers, who receive from $5 to $8 a month in wages. This is a peril to everyone who travels on the ocean and lakes."

Battleship Off to Join Fleet.

NEW YORK, Nov. 29.—The battleship Rhode Island, which has been in the Brooklyn Navy-yard since the close of the Hudson-Fulton celebration last month, sailed today to join the battleship fleet at Hampton Roads. The other battleships detailed for service with the fleet are all expected to leave the yard here for the Southern rendezvous before tomorrow night.

IDENTITY IS ESTABLISHED

Would-be Chinese Suicide Declared Routed Tong Leader.

DENVER, Nov. 29.—Long Nyu, the Chinaman who attempted suicide in Denver's Chinatown Saturday night, and who now lies in a critical condition, is said to be no other than Sim Yuen, a leader of a tong in San Francisco, who fled from that city after the disappearance of several members of the tong and the subsequent finding of their bodies.

Yen was among those reported dead. Long Nyu swallowed a half ounce of crude morphine. In his pocket were found pieces of a letter written in blood and said to be a warning from tong leaders in San Francisco, stating that they had learned of his hiding place and threatening him with death.
