

WARNING IS TARDY, WRECK KILLS TWO

Operator Runs With Danger Lights, but Grays Harbor Train Tumbles.

WATER UNDERMINES RAILS

Disaster Near Olympia Costs Lives of Engineer and Fireman—Pas- sengers Escape—Previous Trip Over Track Safe.

OLYMPIA, Wash., Nov. 29.—(Special.)—Engineer John Wyandt, of Tacoma, and a fireman, supposed to be Forest, of Oakville, were killed when the Grays Harbor train for Seattle was wrecked tonight while the local telegraph operator, L. D. Weyand, but a few hundred yards away, was running at top speed to warn the train crew of the danger.

At 4:30 o'clock tonight one passenger train and at 7 o'clock the train wrecked later had passed safely over the track. This Grays Harbor train had run to Astoria, and on orders that the tracks were impassable beyond, had reversed to return to Olympia. John Rollman, walking along the track, discovered that water pouring down from the hill had undermined about 30 feet of track.

Walker Warns Dispatcher.

Rollman ran at top speed to Olympia and warned Operator Weyand, who, after seeing the dispatcher and finding the train had passed the last wire station, grabbed red lanterns and started for the danger point. He was just this side of the fatal curve, not 200 yards away, when the train, running fast on the down-grade, struck the washed-out track. The engine left the rails and turned over, spinning down the engineer and fireman, who were probably both instantly killed.

Three Passengers Escape.

The only passengers were T. L. Chambers, of 25 South B street, Tacoma, and A. P. Morris and Paul Geshaw, loggers, who were employed by Wilson Bros. near Rochester.

CHARLES TABLER ACCUSED

Neighbors Rush to Seufert Home and Find Marie Bushkhal Locked in Bathroom, Where She Had Retreated in Fright.

Neighbors in the vicinity of the home of T. J. Seufert, North Twentieth and Brann streets, were startled last night when the maid, Marie Bushkhal, leaned out of the bathroom window on the second floor and uttered shriek after shriek. When people living nearby arrived at the house, Miss Bushkhal threw down the keys to the house, for she had locked herself in the bathroom. They found her in a hysterical condition, but after she had been quieted, she insisted that Charles Tabler, a clerk employed by Morgenson's Grocery Company, of North Sixth street, had just left the house. Miss Bushkhal admits she had been well acquainted with Tabler for four years. The Seuferts are absent in the East. According to the story told by Miss Bushkhal, she was sitting in an armchair when Tabler came up from behind and attempted to thrust a bottle of chloroform under her nose. She struggled as long as she was able, she declares, when the fumes began to have their effect, and she grew quiet. Then Tabler picked her up and laid her on a bed.

YOU couldn't get better authority on food values than Dr. James Crichton Browne, LL.D., F.R.S. of London, England.

He says: "Eat good oatmeal, eat it often and plenty of it. It is the food that has built the brain and brawn of Scotland."

The experts of the Seattle Exposition, just as all experts do when deciding about Quaker Oats, gave it the highest award over all others for purity, flavor and cleanliness.

It's the most economical food.
