S. P. CASE TO JUDGE TODAY

ROAD FIGHTS FOR USE OF FOURTH STREET IN CITY.

Arguments Will Begin This Afternoon and Decision May Be Rendered Tomorrow.

Arguments involving the right of the Southern Pacific Railroad Company to operate the city ordinance to prohibit it, will begin this afternoon.

Attorneys for the road rested their case at 4 o'clock yesterday afternoon, and the city's evidence will be completed by noon today.

The Southern Pacific Company has endeavored to show by the evidence presented in the two days the case has been in court, that the right given the old Oregon Central Railroad Company, which originally built the road, to operate its trains on Fourth street, was perpetual and irrevocable.

Whether the trains should be permitted to operate on Fourth street is a question that has long been a source of much argument in Portland's City Council, but not until May 1, 1907, did this materialize into a bill which was introduced by the Mayor, and became effective a year and a half after it became valid.

General Manager O'Brien, of the Southern Pacific lines in Oregon, was then arrested for operating trains on the streets, and he obtained a temporary order from the United States Court, to prevent the city from making arrests on that charge.

The present case before Judge Bean is to determine if this temporary restraining order should be made permanent.

Obtaining money by false pretenses, larceny and assault and battery were among the charges made by the grand jury last night in seven indictments returned to Presiding Circuit Judge Bronson.

The theft of a watch worth $25, a Masonic chain worth $5, and $18.50 in cash from the house of A. B. Minkler is held to Henry Johnson. The alleged crime was committed November 18, 1909.

Agnes M. Boyd and E. H. Patterson are accused of having obtained $150 from Tull & Gibbs by false pretenses on November 8. The boys are said to have drawn a draft for this amount on W. H. Boyd, payable to Patterson, although she had at the time no money on deposit.

L. C. Plunkett is charged with assault and battery upon Catherine E. Linnemann, on October 14. Maintaining a disorderly house is the charge made against Michel Goldberg.

"Coney" Williams, who escaped from the State Penitentiary in August, was recaptured by Warden Curtis, of the Oregon State Penitentiary, and Detective Coleman and Snow, in a lodging-house at Second and Ankeny streets last night.

The noted contralto singer, Mrs. Miller, will give a concert at the White Temple next Tuesday night. She will be assisted by Mrs. Walter Reed's trombone and Mr. Fargo, tenor. It will be a musical treat. Tickets 50 cents. Reserved seats on sale Sherman, Clay & Co., Sixth and Morrison streets.
