East Thirty-fourth street is the proper street to extend into the park on account of its length, and Councilman Kubil, who as present, agreed to render assistance. APPLE ORCHARDS OF OREGON are attracting people from all parts of the globe. Oregon apples bring much higher prices than those from any other part of the world, owing to their fine color, flavor and keeping qualities. The orchardist of the present day makes more money on his original investment than the average business man. Orchards produce on an average over $500 per acre each year—an equivalent of 10 per cent on a valuation of $5000 per acre. Statistic prove that 76 per cent of the Eastern people who purchase fruit lands in Oregon are conserva-tive, shrewd business men who buy bear-ing orchards ranging in price from $100 to $2500 per acre. These orchards net the purchaser from 20 to 50 per cent annually. However, the man with moderate means prefers to buy an orchard tract to be planted and cared for until the orchard comes into bearing. We offer Woodburn orchard tracts, 38 miles from Portland, planted and taken care of for four years at extremely low figures, giving you five years' time to pay for the land, besides we guarantee you a yearly income while paying for the land. If you intend to purchase apple land, see our liberal con-tracts, inspect the land, then judge for yourself. Our offices are open all day and evenings. Woodburn Orchard Company, Inc., 505-506 Henry building. DR. FOULKES GOES EAST.-Dr. William Hiram Foulkes, of the First Presbyterian Church, left yesterday for Cincinnati, O., where a meeting of the committee on theological seminaries, appointed at the last general assembly of Presbyterians, will be held. This is the second meeting to be held by this committee, of which there are about ten members. Dr. Foulkes is the only member from the Pa-elfic Coast. This committee has the over-sight of the seminaries of the denomina-tion throughout the United States. SIMPSONS UNDER ARREST.—George, William and Pearl Simpson, proprietors of the notorious Eagle House, at Third and Burnside streets, are again in trouble with the police and are awaiting trial before Judge Bennett on charges of pointing a revolver at Patrolman Montgomery. Patrolmen Montgomery and Long found the men standing on the stairway of their house threatening a passerby with a re-volver and a slung shot. The men re-sisted arrest. The woman in the case also assaulted Montgomery.

New Bills Open at the Vaudeville Houses

Orpheum.

A RATTLING all-round good performance is on at the Orpheum this week, and every act measures up to the standard of good vaudevillism. Head and shoulders above the average comedienne is Alice Lloyd, of the English singing variety. She is said to be a sample of what English music halls go wild over. After seeing her the assertion is believable, for she sings with a charm and plquancy that is irresisible.

Alice Lloyd's art consists of a series of Alice Lloyd's act consists of a series of songs, all well sung. Her enunciation is remarkably clear, and she warbles with a dash and vivacity that make a fine impression and captivates her listeners.

Her coster song "Never Introduce Yer Bloke to Yer Ledy-fren'," is a scregm. One of her songs is almost an act in itself—imagine then the half dozen dittles and in costume. One that she gives, each in costume. One that found instant approval and was enthusiastically encored was Miss Lloyd's interpretation of "Won't You Come and Splash Me in the Ocean Blue?" in which she appeared, a dainty package of blonds forming charms done up in a picture state. appeared, a dainty package of blonds feminine charms done up in a picturesque bathing suit, against a background of Old Briny. Another one of Miss Lloyd's good offerings is "Rings on Her Fingers and Bells on Her Toes," which she sings most delightfully. She alone is worth the price of admission.

Mr. Cross and Miss Josephine present an exceptionally clever skit entitled "Dying to Act." It is so far above the ordinary burlesque on melodrama that even the oldest and sourest grouch needs must laugh—not smile—but laugh good must laugh-not smile-but laugh good and heartify. Josephine is a graceful dancer and her fetching personal attractions are an asset. Cross also gives ex cellent work, indeed, the two vie for laurels in their sct. Their travesty on the meller-drammer is keen and is full of mirth provoking lines. It is without doubt one of the funniest, cleanest bits of entertainment seen in the realm of Latoska, who is billed as the talkative juggler, provides several minutes of in-teresting novelty departures in his line. His dexterity is wonderful, and he is one juggler who can legitimately earn encores.

Another product of England who makes good is an individual who gets his name from the land of the free and the home of the brave, at any rate. Constant Arkansas is he, and his soles on the concertina are positive delights. One can magine few instruments that suggest less doubtful music, but Arkansas pulls big beautiful melodies out of the interior of the hexagon-like apparatus, and the audience howls for more. Of course he played the inevitable "William Tell." His piano accompanist, who ably assists him is Miss Another importation, this time from the land of the garlic is Joe Garza, who is an equilibrist of merit. He accomplishes a number of most astonishing feats in an equally astonishing manner.

The Brothers Permaine are eccentric clowns, whose offering of "Nightingales Making Love," is as unusual as it is interesting. These birds warble and trill a dialogue that seems to be a bird version of Romeo and Juliet.

of Romeo and Juliet.

The McNaughtons, Fred and Tom, are comedians and also English. Their act is a melange of "different" patter, a wee bit of almost siap stick dialogue, and a burlesque duel that is great. All round the bill is a generous one that pleases.

Pantages.

HE Pantages management is fea I turing this week the Florenz family, who are the last word in the acrobatic line. The act is European, and one of the most entertaining performances which has ever been shown in local vaudeville. Six persons com-prise the sketch, four big husky men, a pretty and petite woman, who is as dainty as an orchid and a finy slip of a girl, also of Camille-like proper-tions. The aforementioned woman, of tions. The aforementioned woman, of the flower variety, proves a gay de-ceiver possessed of a Samsonian strength and nerves of steel. S PONTANEOUSLY funny is the comethis week at the Grand, in conjunction with Flo Grierson; late of "The Girl Question." Whitehead has a line of talk that is down to the minute, and he is a rattling good dancer as well. His fea-ture stunt is interpreting any dance that the audience demands. Each in turn was given with vim and to the accompani-ment of original foolishness that proved most diverting. Even the suggestion of a St. Vitus dance was accomplished, the only exception to the rule being the "Salome" dance, which the comedian refused to do at the prices. Whitehead is a late star of "The Red Mill."

A sensational act is that of Delmore and Lee. They work upon a revolving ladder suspended in the air, which makes 70 revolutions a minute, and do most haz-ardous gymnastics. The stage setting is elaborate, the entire rostrum being cov-ered with velvet and outlined with an al-leged silver frame. The paraphernalia-upon which the acrobats cavort is of bright steel and resembles an airship. The spot light adds to the effectiveness, and also serves as an excellent underware and also serves as an excellent underwear and also serves as an excellent underwear advertisement. Kathieen de Vole is dainty, but her work is mediocre. A sketch bordering on the melodramatic is called "The Banker the melodramatic is called "The Banker and Thief," however, proves interesting. A woman who, in the language of the village Sunday school, had done those things that she "hadn't oughter," reforms and all ends amicably. Idalene Cotton, who plays the role of converted thief, is a capable actress. She is a daughter of the ministrel veteran, Ben Cotton.

Another skit offered by Wilson and De Mondeville is unique, and represents a German Thanksgiving. Jimmy Wall is a German Thanksgiving. Jimmy Wall is a dark-hued monologuist who has a lot of amusing piffle to introduce and a particuparodies, strange to say, are spick
