Dr. Mary Talbot Wigg, prominent in X-Radium Institute investigations, and in the trial of Ernest Heymans for e grave offense in the Circuit Court as "Dr. Mary Lane," is being sued by her husband, "Dr." George A. Wigg, for a The latter is an East Side saloonkeeper.

In order to avoid notoriety, the suit has been filed at Oregon City, but it was necessary to hand a copy of the complaint to Sheriff Stevens for service upon Mrs. Wigg in Portland. Jay Upton is the husband's attorney.

Wigg is said to have given his wife $250 some time ago, with the understanding that she was to go to Oregon.

$239 some time ago, with the understanding that she was to go to Oregon City and file a divorce complaint, he was willing to allow the suit to go by default. The complaint was fully filed, but the suit was not carried to completion. Attorney Upton was thereupon directed to secure the dismissal of Mrs. Wigg's complaint, and to file one on behalf of the husband. In this he alleges cruel and inhuman treatment on alleges cruel and inhuman treatment or

Parties Defendant Ask Release From Grover-Hawthorne Case

Merritt O. Collins and his wife, Catherine Collins, have filed a motion in the Circuit Court that the complaint of La-fayette F. Grover against Rachel L. Hawthorne, in which they are parties defendant, be dismissed so far as they are concerned. They base this motion upon an amended complaint, recently filed, which, they say, practically elim-inates them. Attorneys Cyrus A. Dolph and Zera Snow filed the motion.

Mrs. Hawthorne and the Hawthorne estate have filed a demurrer to the amended complaint, on the ground that the Grovers should have tendered to them in open court amounts admittedly due them under contracts. In the com-plaint it is alleged by Grover that he deeded property valued at about $200,-000 to Mrs. Hawthorne in trust, and that when she turned it over to the Hawthorne estate she did so in viola-tion of that trust. This allegation she tion of that trust. This allegation sh
