Coarse Grains Rise.

An impression prevails in wholesale grocery cles that another advance in flour prices imminent. While a rise would probably be justified by the course of the wheat market. such advance is contemplated by millers at the present time, so far as can be learned.

*Flour is worth more money, but we have sides of raising prices now. With bluestem wheat worth $1.17 or more, anybody con-nected with the business who has a thimblefull of gray matter in his head knows there is no money in solling flour at $8.15 a barrel. At the same time, we believe that flour prices are high enough now and any further advance would work a great harship on the con-If wheat prices continue to climb, however, a readjustment of flour values will

The country markets were greatly excited by the bulge at Chicago yetserday. Farmers put their asking price of bluestem up to the $1.20 basis and were not anxious to sell even

There was not much trading in barley or eats, but the markets were as strong as ever. Buyers were not disposed to pay over $22.50 for cats, but holders held out strongly for Barley was quoted at $30.

HOP LIST NOT YET COMPLETE. Final Statistics of the Crop Will Be Available This Week.

The hop dealers have not yet completed

Available This Week.

The hop dealers have not yet completed their tabulation of the Oregon crop. but expect to have the work finished by the close of this wock. The list compiled at the Salem conference Sunday showed 79,665 bales produced, of which 55,235 bales have been sold and 24,427 bales are unsold. One or two individual lists remain to be compared with the conference list. It is probable the final statistics will show a crop of about $1,000 bales.

No dealings in Oregon hops were reported the sale of the Desmarie crop of 125 bales to Grafton at 21 cents. In California there were offers of 24 cents for choice Sonomas and 15 cents was paid for 1910 Sacramentos.

A California writer estimated the unsold stocks in growers.

A California writer estimated the unsold stocks in growers' hands in that state at 23,730 bales, divided as follows: 1906s, 5173 bales: 1907s, 8251 bales; 1908s, 1347 bales; 1909s, 13.959 bales.

dittions in New York State are reported by the Waterville Times as follows:

The market shows a much healthler tone than it has for the past ten days. There are plenty of buyers in the market ready to do business if the right kinds of hops can be bought. Holders of the best hops are still firm in their demands for a better price than the market at proceed warrants as most of the market at present warrants, so most of the trading is being done in medium grade goods. The remainder of the Curtis lot of about 68 bales has been sold at about 28 cents and there are numerous other sales at between 28 and 30 cents, all of these being common to medium grade hops. A higher price would be paid for the better grades. It is estimated that there are now not to exceed 2000 bales unseld in this and Madison County.

BANANAS COME IN OVERRIPE.

Sweet Potato Advance in the South Has Not Yet Been Felt Here. cars of overripe bananas, one car of eranges, two cars of cauliflower and one our of sweet potatoes were distributed yesterday and two cars of celery arrived after the close of business hours. The demand for all kinds of fruits and vegetables was good. Sweet potatoes continue to sell at the old price, notwithstanding the sharp rise in California.

The potato market is almost back to its norsmal condition. Front street now has an ample supply. Jobbing prices yesterday were 90 cents to $1.10 per hundred.

POULTRY MARKET A SLOW AFFAIR. No Demand for Chickens or Turkeys Eggs Steady and Butter Firm.

The poultry market was a slow affair at the opening. A good many chickens were carried over from last week and more arrived pesterday, but there were practically no bids received. A fair supply of dressed turkeys was also offered, but buyers held off, though choice birds could have been bought at 25 dants.

There was only a moderate demand for eggs last week's prices were maintained.

AND PREFERRED RETIRED

Advances in a Few Special Issues Give the Entire Market a Show of Strength, but Trading Is Not Active.

NEW YORK, Dec. 13—Beyond the mere chronicle of the fact of a desultory advance in prices of stocks today, there was little of laterest in the market. Feeble as the general demand was, there was a fairly comprehensive show of strength. This was largely accomplished by the sympathetic effect of disproportionate advances in a number of special stocks. The most conspicuous was Republic Iron, which rose to 45%, the highest in several years. The recent entry in the Lehigh directorate of the dominant flaures in the Rock Ieland property, of course, came into removed discussion. The allegation that Wabash was to be concerned in the linking of the two properties also played a part in the day's discussion, as it has on former occasions. A new suggression was that the Rock Island preferred atock might be retired in exchange for a bond lesue and the property put into the hands of the common stockholders.

It is a peculiarity of the Rock Island creanization that the preferred, which is but little more than half of the volume of the common stock, elects a majority of the directors of the company. The Rock Island Rescumbing its a holding company which owns the stock of the Chicago, Rock Island & Pacific Railway and until recently the St. Louis & San Francisco Railway. The enormous exock, itself a minority of the total stock of the company, constituted a striking example of the capability of this device for minimum of expital.

The call money rate touched 5 per cent.

ESTIMATE OF MACAULAY English Historian's Many Sided Attributes Are Noted. UNIVERSITY PARK, Or., Dec. 13.-(To the Editor.)—The recent analysis in The Oregonian of Lord Macaulay, as a thinker and a writer, is noted for its sanity. Possibly a word or two, in addition to the critical appreciation, could be spoken.

In the literary work of Lord Macaulay can be found compactness, rush, eloquence, appropriate to an orator, picquence, appropriate to an orator, pic-turesqueness, often an unwelcome mo-notony, and confidence in all he says. This remarkable "cock-sure" confidence is welcome to minds desiring teachers is weicome to minds desiring teachers free from apparent uncertainty and doubt. In penetrative insight, he was singularly deficient. Hence his observations were confined to the outside of men and things. I have always admired Macaulay's forte in making himself understood. He is willing to reneat a word a clause. willing to repeat a word, a clause, a sentence, to let daylight into his discussion of a theme. His essays give us a mass of information in lively and interesting style, but he was more at home in accessory than in the principal movement of his topics heading his essays. In Macaulay's essays covering philosophy, literature and politics, whether we style them critical, biographical or hisstyle them critical, biographical or historical, we find everything given from a historic point of view, and there is nothing there of a philosophical or analytic nature. The continuity of treatment is not real, and his unity in thought and expression is found in the covers of the volume put in print. If he wrote about Johnson, Bacon, Milton, Machiavelli or Dryden, it was as McMaster notes, to give a picture of the period in which these distinguished men lived. The essay on Cline and Hastings introduced us to the Mogul Empire itself. In the welcome, immediate and astonishing, given to his 'History of England,' the United States outstripped the mother country herself.

It was well for Macaulay to die in his easy chair, for he has made it easy for thousands to read words aiming for the best things. His treatment of Chris-tianity was reverential and free from sneers hard to answer. B. J. HOADLEY.
