

MARY JOHNSON NOT 'FAKER,' SAYS JURY

Woman Accused of Buncoing Claim Agents Acquitted in Seattle.

ARRESTED AGAIN AT ONCE

Warrant From Pendleton Charges She Has Violated Parole Given After Being Sentenced for Misstating Her Debts.

SEATTLE, Wash., Dec. 17.—After deliberating six hours, the jury in the case against Mrs. Mary M. Johnson, accused of defrauding the Seattle Electric Company of $800 by means of a "fake" damage claim, returned a verdict of not guilty tonight.

Immediately after the return of the verdict acquitting Mrs. Johnson, she was placed under arrest again on a warrant from Pendleton, Or., charging that she had violated her parole.

A year ago Mrs. Johnson was given a short sentence in Oregon on a charge of making false statements of debt, but was paroled by the court. The defense will make an effort to secure Mrs. Johnson's release on a writ of habeas corpus.

The trial of Mrs. Johnson, which ended today, attracted much attention on account of the evidence introduced by the state in an attempt to show that the woman had defrauded several railroad companies in the Middle West by means of "fake" damage claims.

Extradition to Be Resisted.

W. A. Holzhelmer, counsel for Mrs. Johnson, expects to resist her extradition. For not obeying the order of the court, Judge Gilliam fined Dr. Hamilton Stillson, a witness, $100 and assessed him with the costs of bringing him into court on a bench warrant. Judge Gilliam issued a bench warrant also for Dr. J. T. Tate Mason, who also had failed to obey the summons issued by the court. Both Dr. Stillson and Dr. Mason were witnesses for the defense.

Assistant Prosecuting Attorney John H. Perry turned over to Sheriff Robert T. Hodie a warrant issued by the Governor of Oregon calling for the delivery of Mrs. Johnson into the custody of Deputy Sheriff Blakeley as a fugitive.

"They will attempt to take the woman to death," said W. A. Holzhelmer, her counsel. He then intimated that her extradition might be resisted.

Mrs. Johnson Weeps.

When the verdict was read Mrs. Johnson wept. In his statement to the jury Assistant Prosecuting Attorney Perry had reviewed Mrs. Johnson's past and denounced her in plain terms. Mr. Perry was denounced for his characterization of the defendant in his speech to the jury. By agreement the addresses to the jury were limited to half an hour.

Mr. Holzhelmer, counsel for the defendant, did not ask the jury to consider the evidence against her and did not determine why the Seattle Electric Company had settled with her if she had not been injured.

In his instructions to the jury Judge Gilliam said that they were not to infer that the defendant was guilty because she was not placed in the state hospital, the fact that a person charged with a crime did not go on the stand and testify was not, he said, to be considered an inference of guilt.

ELECTRIC ROAD IS HINTED

Water Frontage Purchase Made on Wishkah River.

ABERDEEN, Wash., Dec. 17.—(Special.)—To secure water frontage, possibly for an electric interurban road, six 40-foot lots, owned by Anthony Damico on the Wishkah River, north of the American Mill, were bought yesterday by George E. Hubble, of Montesano, president of the Wynoeche Lumber & Shingle Company. The deal was made through J. C. Pearson and the price paid was $100.

The real object behind the purchase cannot be ascertained. It is hinted, however, that the site is desired for use as a supply depot.

The proposed Eldridge Wheeler interurban project cannot use the county road entering Aberdeen, for the Northern Pacific expressly stipulated in surrendering rights of way for the construction of the county road to Montesano that no railway should ever be built on the county road, forfeiture of the rights being fixed as a penalty.

NEWBERG, Or., Dec. 17.—(Special.)—The enumeration for the Newberg school district shows 1010 children, of school age, 168 in excess of the McMinnville district. This puts Newberg in the list of districts of the first class, and the next school election two more school districts will be added, making five. Twenty teachers are employed, and public and high schools, the attendance being close to 500. A business house on First street is being occupied to accommodate the overflow.

was bought for $400. School buildings at present are badly overcrowded and even the completion of the new $125,000 schoolhouse now being constructed will fail to relieve the congestion.

As the result of a trained nurse being employed in the public schools interesting figures are being obtained by the board. The regular report showed that out of 332 children examined but ten were absolutely sound physically, although the majority were suffering from minor ailments. Forty-four were found to have enlarged tonsils, 29 eye troubles, and 14 defective hearing.

"In looking through the list of non-promotion last year," says the report,

After his death she came to Portland, where she died at the family residence, 325 Meagly street.

Rev. Frank D. Findley, pastor of the First United Presbyterian Church, will conduct the funeral services. Mrs. Willis is survived by a son, James L., and a daughter, Mrs. E. W. Brown, of Portland. Mrs. Willis had a wide circle of friends.

Prisoner's Stories Change.

The witness told of the three conversations he held with Rosclair after he was a prisoner—how the first time the defendant had told him that the first blow was an accident, as when he picked up the knife he used it only with the intention of stopping the man which contained the milk which Mrs. Rosclair had thrown at him. The thrust missed the man and struck the woman. The second time Rosclair said he did not know how the fight happened, and the third time he said that he had struck out in self-defense.

Dr. Bailey was very positive in his answers as to his opinion in regard to the cutting of the throat, and was very positive that this had been done subsequent to the delivery of the blows on the skull.

Atorney Jeffrey asked several cleverly framed questions, but the witness was not able to answer and confined himself to the actual condition of the dead woman's body.

Dr. A. B. Bailey, the pioneer physician of the county, was called and in behalf of the state corroborated the expert testimony of the coroner's physician.

Married Against His Will.

District Attorney E. R. Tongue presented Rosclair's signed confession to the court this afternoon, and it was admitted into evidence. The confession, which read the instrument, which covered 15 pages of typewritten manuscript. The admissions cover the time of his first meeting with Lisabetta Dougan in a hurry to get married, and I was kind of pushed in."

He then tells how his wife's temper became so bad, how she abused him, and how this made him fear her. He said his wife had told him he was no man; that she had said to him, repeatedly, "You are no man; you are a pole on two sticks, with pants on."

Wife Refused Him Cream.

The wife, the confession reads, always kept the cream, and gave to him the skimmed milk, and when he protested against her treatment she would threaten to throw boiling water on him. He then informed by telephone from Mr. Watson, charging them with having taken a letter addressed to him from the Springfield postoffice.

Watson, in the course of conversation a few days ago, mentioned that he expected a letter containing money, Marr and Critz, on quitting Watson's employ, were to the Springfield postoffice. It is alleged, inquired for Watson's mail and received the letter, which, however, contained no money.

Throat Cut After Fatal Blow on Head, Doctor Testifies.

JURY HEARS CONFESSION

Rosclair, on Trial for Wife-Murder, Tells Prosecutor He Married Against His Will—Lived in Fear of His Spouse.

HILLSBORO, Or., Dec. 17.—(Special.)

Dr. A. B. Bailey, the physician who was with the coroner when the body of the murdered wife was found by the official, was a witness all forenoon today in the trial of John Kirk Rosclair.

Dr. Bailey testified that there were 33 wounds on the body, inflicted by the heavy salmon knife. There were 10 wounds on the head, some of which penetrated the brain; 5 on the neck, and 18 on the arms and hands. He swore that the largest wound on the head was of a composite nature, the result of several blows by the huge instrument. He found the throat cut in a horrible manner, the large muscles and the large arteries having been completely severed.

The witness gave it as his unqualified opinion that the throat was cut after the blows had been struck which penetrated the brain, and gave as his reason the finding of large clots of blood in the brain, which would have been impossible had the arteries of the neck been severed. The right arm above the elbow was cut in two, and hung only by the tissues. The physician located practically all of the wounds inflicted by outlining them on the body of the defendant's counsel. All this time Rosclair paid the closest attention.

The witness told of the three conversations he held with Rosclair after he was a prisoner—how the first time the defendant had told him that the first blow was an accident, as when he picked up the knife he used it only with the intention of stopping the man which contained the milk which Mrs. Rosclair had thrown at him.

FOUR-MILL ROAD TAX PLAN

Marion County Good Roaders Adopt Resolutions.

SALEM, Or., Dec. 17.—(Special.)—The two days' general road meeting of Marion County closed last today after resolutions were adopted calling upon the County Court to levy not less than 4 mills tax for the development of county roads. Resolutions were also adopted, strongly condemning Salem for its bad cutting streets, which make entrance to the city for farmers extremely bad and sometimes almost impossible.

State-added roads proved to be another feature of the discussion and a request for state assistance in construction of highways was embodied in a resolution.

GOOD ROADS MOVE BOOSTED

Aberdeen Backs Plan for Campaign Over County.

ABERDEEN, Wash., Dec. 17.—(Special.)—Good county roads were given decided importance tonight at an enthusiastic meeting of prominent business men of this city and other advocates of good roads, held at the Elks' Hall at the instance of N. G. Brown, of Seattle, president of the State Good Roads Association.

Mr. Brown was the principal speaker, and stated that he not only wished to ascertain the views of this city toward the movement, but also to discover what channels County needed in the way of roads.

Coming at a time when the ranchers of the North River have been clamoring for an outlet for their products, Mr. Brown found unusual interest in this city, and as the result of his visit a determined and fruitful campaign will undoubtedly materialize.

TRACY TAKEN ON TRAIN

BRUTAL MURDER OF FRIEND FOR MONEY CHARGED. Fascination for Former Wife Believed to Have Led to Return of Man Sought in Va.

PENDLETON, Or., Dec. 17.—George Tracy, alias C. W. Arnold, was arrested on the evening of November 22, at Dallas and this city, by Deputy Sheriff J. J. Hecker, of Sherman County, and brought to this city this morning. He is in the County Jail. Tracy was a cab driver for one of the hotels in this city.

He is accused of the murder of Andy Rabael, a former convict, who was found dead in a ditch near the Little Coast, about 15 miles east of Umatilla Thanksgiving day, with the whole top of his head crushed in.

Andy Rabael was murdered near Umatilla on the evening of November 22. The accused man left Echo the next morning for Portland and San Francisco and has been trailed over a great part of California since that time. Not suspecting that the crime had been discovered or that he was suspected of it, Tracy is believed to have driven back to Echo through infatuation for his former wife from whom he was separated about four months ago and who is now living with their little daughter at Echo under her former name, Mrs. Belle Hamilton.

Tracy went to Portland from Redding three days ago, to the Dulles on a steamer yesterday, and the train there at midnight for Echo. Dell Smith, a former bartender at Echo, was about to get off the train, but recognizing Tracy and knowing he was wanted, stepped back on the train and turned the accused man over to Deputy Sheriff Hecker of Sherman County, who happened to be on the train.

The identity of the man accused of the brutal crime has been known to the officers for some time, and the entire Pacific Coast has been flooded with photographs and circulars. Officers in the different California cities had been informed he was wanted in their neighborhood, but they could not find him. Two days after the crime was committed it was ascertained by Sheriff Taylor that Tracy and Rabael had ridden two horses at Echo and ridden out toward the scene of the tragedy, and that in the early morning Tracy returned to Echo with his horses. He left on the next train.

When interviewed this morning, he admitted having hired the horses there, leaving the stable in company with Rabael, but declares that when just out of town he turned his horses over to a fellow named Louis, who is now in jail here, and who was to take Rabael out to a ranch to work. He says Rabael was as good a friend as he ever had, and that he did not possibly have committed the crime.

After Rabael's head had been crushed by a pile of railroad ties, the victim and dragged it in his arms more than 100 yards across the railroad track and toward the Columbia and I had told her he had killed her relatives of the murdered man have proved unavailing, and Tracy says that while he worked with Rabael on a ditch near Boise, and was with him in Baker City, Pendleton and Echo, he does not know where he came from or anything about his relatives.

Tracy's parents are respected residents of Weiser, Idaho, where his father is court bailiff.

SAIT MINE IS OREGON'S

ATTORNEY - GENERAL ASSERTS TITLE TO SUMMER LAKE.

Federal Government Asked to Make Land Grant to Aid Development.

SALEM, Or., Dec. 17.—(Special.)—That the title to the bed of Summer Lake, in Lake County, is in the State of Oregon, and that the state should assert its authority to control the bed of this lake, is the view of Attorney-General Crawford in a letter addressed to the State Land Board this afternoon.

Summer Lake is said to contain valuable deposits of salt and recently nearly all the beds of all non-navigable inland lakes belong to the state by virtue of her sovereignty. It is without doubt one of the most valuable, if not the most valuable, asset the state has left.

It is suggested that the State Land Agent be sent to Lake County at once to assert the authority of the state. It is suggested also that the Oregon delegation in Congress be notified and the Federal Government be requested to grant to the state all lands not heretofore disposed of, surrounding and adjoining the lake, to the extent of at least two miles in width on three or four sides. This is suggested as the best and most remarkable preparation in use. Sold by all dealers.

CANAL IS SURVEYED

Engineers Revive Interest in South Bay Project.

MAP AND ESTIMATE MADE

Chain of Lakes Will Be Utilized to Lessen Cost—Eventually, Waterway Will Reach Columbia Near Onclida.

ABERDEEN, Wash., Dec. 17.—(Special.)—Interest in the proposed canal between Grays Harbor and the Columbia River has been revived by the report brought to Aberdeen yesterday that a company of surveyors has been engaged more than a month in running preliminary lines for the canal in the South Bay country.

A man who makes his home in a cabin on Laidlaw's Island is authority for the statement that the surveyors used his cabin for shelter. They made maps showing the topography of the country through which the canal would pass and also estimates of the amount of earth to be removed.

According to the plan outlined the canal will be 30 feet in width, having a mean depth of 12 feet. It is estimated that there are between 20 and 25 miles of excavation between South Bay and Willapa Harbor. Much of this is easy to excavate, and a chain of small lakes will be utilized. From the southern shore of Shoalwater Bay the canal eventually will find its way into the Columbia River a few miles east of Onclida.

It is the intention of the promoters to use the canal for freight and passenger service and across a large section of country now wooded about the middle of November a company of Seattle and Portland men arrived in Aberdeen and made the trip along the proposed route.

John Milne came to America from Scotland four years ago and to the Dalles in the Spring of 1908. He conducts the independent meat market in partnership with his two brothers.

He was injured on the night of September 30 in a collision with a buggy while riding home on a bicycle. For a time he was in a hospital, but he has been at work for a month.

IRIDON FIRM WINS CASE

STATE GRANTS RIGHT TO IRRIGATION PROJECT. Twenty-five Thousand Acres in Sucker Creek Valley Will Benefit by Company's Work.

BOISE, Idaho, Dec. 17.—(Special.)—Although a fierce fight was waged before the State Land Board over the conflicting claims of the Iridon and the Gem Irrigation Companies for contracts with the state to reclaim lands in Sucker Creek Valley, the Iridon Company won, having been granted the right to promote the project, which is another project added to the list in this state.

In many respects the granting of this segregation is of vital importance to a large number of settlers in Oregon and Idaho, for the land is included in both states and the settlers are demanding that they be given relief.

The 25,000 acres of land which will be covered immediately by the Iridon Irrigation Company, whose segregation was confirmed, constitutes probably as fine a body of land as there is anywhere, and it is widely predicted that within six months it will sell readily at $200 an acre.

The company's officers are: F. C. Woodford, president and treasurer; H. D. Page, engineer and manager; Edwin Snow, attorney and secretary, while those with E. J. Cherry and E. L. Page complete the Directorate. The company's land lies along the south side of Snake River in Idaho and Oregon, a distance of 17 miles from Henderson Flat, opposite Formans Ferry, down the river into Oregon, and runs back toward the foothills a distance of five and six miles.
