ESTATE IS NOT DIVIDED

Late John Green's Real Property Not in Shape for Distribution, Court Rules-Heirs Get $24,500 More.

County Judge Webster, sitting in robate, has denied the application of G. Whitehouse, one of the executors County Judge Webster, sitting in probate, has denied the application of B. G. Whitehouse, one of the executors of the John Green estate, for an accounting from C. J. Reed, the other executor, and for a final distribution of the estate among the devisees. The court held that the accounts are correct and properly kept, decided that the estate was not in proper shape for final settlement and ordered the disbursement of $24,500 cash on hand among those named as beneficiaries.

This decision by Judge Webster was made following a disagreement betwen the two executors as to the manner in which the affairs of the estate should be administered. Mr. Whitehouse refused to join with his associate. Mr. Reed, in petitioning the court for an order to make a partial distribution of the estate. At the same time he filed with the court his objections to that procedure. He decilined to join with Reed in the request until Reed should make an accounting of the estate from the time the will was admitted to probate 12

Bookkeeping System Defended.

In support of his application, Mr. Whitehouse submitted a report from expert accountants, who had examined the books and accounts of the estate which are kept by George F. Holman, in which it was charged that the system of keeping the accounts was faulty and should be replaced by a more extended method of bookkeeping. By insinuation, at least, this report intimated that the estate was not being administrated. ing administered regularly, and the books were alleged to be in a state of confusion.

The regular monthly meeting of the Thompson school circle of the State Congress of Mothers will be held this afternoon at 3 o'clock. Mrs. J. C. Elliot King will read a paper entitled "The Problem of the Growing Girl." These charges were resented with these charges were resented with considerable vigor by Mr. Reed, who, in answering the objections of Mr. Whitehouse to a partial distribution of the estate, contended that the estate was not in a condition to admit of was not in a condition to admit of final settlement and distribution among the legatees until Mr. Whitehouse himself had completed the payment of a balance of $2000 on a judgment held against him by the estate. In answer to the objections, Mr. Reed, by his attorney, F. V. Holman, alleged that ever since the executors of the estate were appointed in 1897 the bad

If a more elaborate system of books were required, contended Mr. Reed, it would be necessary to em-ploy an expert bookkeeper at a great expense to the estate. Mr. Reed fur-ther represented to the court that no disbursements of the estate had been made except upon checks signed by the executors, and that for all disbursements duplicate receipts and vouchers had been taken, one of which was included in the semi-annual reports of the estate to the court, and the other was retained by Mr. Holman for the executors.

After making an examination of the reports of the executors and the vouchers which accompanied those reports, Judge Webster found that the books were being kept accurately and that every cent of the funds of the estate had been accounted for. In the 12 tate had been accounted for. In the 12 years that the estate has been administered, $548,000 has been disbursed among the 40 devisees and legatees. among the 40 devisees and legatees. This total will be increased further by the disbursement of $24,500 which has just been ordered by the court.

Only a small part of the real property, of which the estate consists, has been disposed of the value of the property now held by the executors in trust being about $500,000, which yields a net income monthly in excess of $750. Because of this fact, Judge Webster decided that the estate was not in proper shape to make advisable at this time a final settlement and a complete distribution of such proceeds complete distribution of such proceeds as might be realized among those designated in the decedent's will.

DEVELOPMENT LEAGUE PLANS GOLDENDALE ASSEMBLY.

Hill Lines Grant Reduced Rates to Aid Enterprise-Secretary Ramsey Here Arranging.

C. W. Ramsey, secretary of the Klickitat Development League, is here arranging for a meeting of the league at Goldendale, February 10, when ways and means will be provided for continuing the effective exploitation work inaugurated by that Washington town, a year ago. At that time several hundred dollars was raised for publicity purposes. This money was expended in advertising that section of Washington with the result that Mr. Ramsey reports lands in Klickitat County have advanced $5 and Kilckitat County have advanced $5 and upwards an acre in the last 12 months. It is planned to conduct a more vigorous ublicity campaign this year.

The Hill lines have become greatly in terested in the work of the Klickitat County people and in addition to provid-ing special reduced rates on that date from all points between Roosevelt and Portland to Goldendale, will send several representatives to attend the meeting. The boosters' meeting will not be assem-bled until 3 o'clock in the afternoon, or immediately following the arrival of the irvington and Holladay Park Clubs Do Good Work-Carline Almost Finished to Alameda Park.

To correct an impression which many people have that the car service on the Broadway line is not what it should be, it is timely to state that the Broadway ar service is excellent. Thanks for this improved condition of affairs are due to the Irvington and Holladay Park Clubs, to the Portland Rallway, Light & Power Company and the Alameda Land Company. On the evening of the isth of November a joint meeting of the Irvington and Holladay Park Clubs was held at the Irvington Club Build-

Railway Company, and two more cars were added to the Broadway service. The new schedule is as follows:

5:45 to 7:15 A. M., 2 cars, 15 minutes apart. 7:15 to 9:24 A. M., 6 cars, 7½ minutes 9:24 to 12:23 P. M., 3 cars, 15 minutes

12:23 to 4:12 P. M., 4 cars, 12 minutes 4:12 to 7:07 P. M., 8 cars, 6 minutes 7:07 to 1 A. M., 3 cars, 15 minutes apart.

The extension of the Broadway line to Alameda Park is rapidly reaching completion, and the regular schedule will be in operation to Alameda Park by the 3d of February, just two weeks when the Broadway bridge and the Steel bridge are both accomplished facts, Alameda Park wil be less than 15 minutes' car ride from the business section of the city.
