SENATOR BRISTOW VOICES SENTIMEN

Declares Modern Improvements Should Insure Prices Cheaper, Not Higher.

BOYCOTT SCHEME GROWING

West Takes to Idea More Strongly Than East-Feared Small Packers Would Be Forced Out and Big Concerns Benefited.

CHICAGO, Jan. 28.-"Revolutions have been started by less than the American people are suffering now," says Senator Joseph L. Bristow, of Kansus, "Meat foots up to a quarter of the average household expenses, and it ought to be cheaper today, instead of dearer, than be cheaper today, instead of dearer, than it was 25 years ago, because of greater economy in its preparation and sale. When I was a boy 25 per cent of the carcass went to waste. Now nothing goes to waste—not even the blood."

Senator Bristow's words crystallize the sentiment of protest in all parts of the country against the higher cost of living.

East Slow to Give Up Meat.

Thus for the movement, which first West. The East has been slower to fol-low, influenced perhaps by a widespread feeling among small dealers and in the labor unions, that a universal boycott, though effective as a protest, would ac-tually play into the hands of the pack-ors, who, with their control of cold storors, who, with their control of coad stor-age houses and refrigerator lines, could carry their product through a prolonged beycott, though a 30-day cessation of trade would put the small independents out of business.

Packers Make Defense.

Against public clamor, packers reply that high prices for meats are attrib-utable to high prices of corn, and ad-vocate that the poor be educated to eat cheaper cuts.

"These cuts are just as good and more wholesome if properly cooked," says Harold Swift, of Swift & Co. "Prices are high, but there is every indication that they will go higher."

Actual consumption of meat is reparted by retail dealers everywhere to have dropped sharply.

The first organized stand in Minneapolis against the high price of meat apolis against the high price of mest was taken Saturday, when more than 500 men employed in the Chicago, Mil-waukee & St. Paul shops joined the Paulhan is scheduled to give a three-day flying exhibition at the Tanforan racetrack, 12 miles south of this city. The field was a sea of mud today and swept by a gale that drove rain before it in slanting sheets. The storm continues tonight, but it is hoped that it will abate in time to allow the aviator a chance Monday to show his skill. Paulhan and his manager, Edwin Cleary, narrowly escaped injury yester-day when the automobile in which they went to the track was struck by a street car. because of ill health. It completed his 29th season on the stage.

He made a success in "We, Us & Company" at the Fifth-Avenue Theater, New York. For years he was a monologist of renown. He is survived by a widow and six children.

Ezra Fremont Kendall appeared in Portland December 16-18 last. Although playing to large audiences, he could not overcome a craving for drink, and one day it was necessary to lower the curtain in the middle of a matinee performance at the Bungalow Theater. When his wife and manager wished to announce he was lif, Kendall insisted
