

CENTRAL OREGON DEPOSITS NOT SOLD

Railway Pact Refers Only to Rights-of-Way Controversies.

BEND TRUNK LINE'S GOAL

Stevens Tolls Plans of Construction. Sections to Be Served Not Yet Known - Trains May Run in Fall.

No agreement as to what Central Oregon points shall be touched or what sections shall be served by either line is contained in the compact concluded between the Oregon Trunk Line and Deschutes Railway Company concerning right-of-way conflicts according to both parties to the understanding. The agreement deals wholly with right-of-way controversies, most of which occurred where the route touched the tonnage-producing territory of the state's interior and does not include a division of territory. The principal bearings of the line are on Madras, where the two lines come together on the plains and Crooked River, where the two lines cross more or less at right angles. The line will now parallel each other to Crooked River crossing the Harriman road, go on the west of the Fall road, Crooked River canyon to be crossed over the same bridge.

Following the settlement of these points, John F. Stevens, president of the Oregon Trunk Line, yesterday consented to make the first definite statement of construction plans of the Oregon Trunk Line south of Madras.

Road to Bend Sure. Mr. Stevens said that the road would be built at least to a point as far south as Bend, 40 miles beyond Madras, but he would not admit that the company had definitely located its line through Bend.

"The Oregon Trunk Line will be built as far south as the center of Crooked River," said Mr. Stevens, "but as to how far south I am not in a position to say definitely at this time, except that I know that we are not going to California."

"It is no secret that we now have surveys at work in the Klamath Indian Reservation. Permission was granted them by the department to cross the reservation several days ago. The party will work as far as Klamath Falls and will then probably be recalled until we decide whether to build the line that far or just what we should do.

Southern Oregon business, so far as distances are concerned, can be divided into two classes, those of the coast and those of the interior. It is rightly Portland's territory, however, and I see no reason why the railroad, if it is to be built, should not be extended into that section and the trade brought to this city.

In Central Oregon the railroad business derived from the farming communities is bound to be light for a time. The country cannot be developed all at once, but it is hoped that by the time the railroad reaches the timbered area large mills will have been established and a ready market for yellow pine lumber."

When asked when the Oregon Trunk Line would be completed, Mr. Stevens said that he hoped it would be early next fall, but that he could not make a definite promise, as much of the work yet to be done is very heavy.

Mr. Stevens' assertion regarding the extension of the road beyond Madras is an authoritative one concerning the subject already definitely indicated.

Right-of-way men have been at work for weeks between Madras and Bend and it is known that practically all the necessary lands have been acquired. Graders have been at work south of Crooked River crossing several months ago and men have been engaged in blasting approaches for the bridge spanning the stream. This is 10 or 12 miles south of Madras.

Bridge is Remarkable. The Crooked River bridge, says Mr. Stevens, will have only one other counterpart anywhere so far as he knows. There is a steel arch over a canyon on the Victoria Nyanza route in Africa that is very similar. This arch bridges the canyon in the Selkirk, has a height of 300 feet, but the canyon approaches for the bridge spanning the stream. This is 10 or 12 miles south of Madras.

90 DAYS THIEF'S SENTENCE. Man Who Stole $25 Punished for Retaining $5.

Tom Herrera, a thief, was sentenced yesterday to some 90 days in the county jail. Herrera tried to rob George Moore, an intoxicated logger, in Blazier's saloon last Saturday night, thrust his hands into Moore's pockets and getting $25 in gold ran down the street.

Moore overtook Herrera several blocks away, threw him to the ground and threatened to kill him if he did not return the money. Herrera thrust a handful of coins into Moore's hand and Moore, believing he had recovered all of his money, went away.

The police arrested Herrera, but were unable to find Moore. Later Moore found that Herrera had kept $5 of his money and reported to the police. He was held as a witness and released yesterday.

DAYTON GIRLS SCOFF AT BACHELORS' CLUB

"Just Kids," Says Young Woman Who Says She Knows Them - Men Worth Having Already Attached.

"Just not a lot of high school 'kidds'." Not one old enough to be called a bachelor. Girls don't want to have love made to them by children, said a young woman from Dayton, Wash., who lives in Portland, when asked why it has seemed necessary for the young men of that city in Washington to publish notices and advertise for feminine companions.

"Wives" snuffed the young woman, "I know every young man in Dayton, and there's a young man in the so-called Bachelors' Club who has money enough to support a wife or is old enough to be entitled to one, I'm much mistaken. Why, when I left Dayton there were plenty of girls right at home. The whole town was paired off."

"DRY" FIGHT BEGINS SOON

Debate With "Wets" February 2 to Mark Campaign's Opening.

What may be considered as the opening skirmish between the "wet" and the "dry" forces in the battle for state prohibition will take place in the parish house of the Trinity Episcopal Church, Nineteenth street, near Couch.

The resolutions recently passed by the Oregon State Prohibition Labor party against state-wide prohibition in Oregon, on the ground that such action would work an injury to organized labor, has brought out a challenge to a debate from the Young Men's Bible Class of Trinity Church, an organization of two scores of young men, and citizens, or citizens with I. H. Amos as their leader. The challenge has been accepted by H. J. Parkison, editor of the Portland Labor Press.

Backache

is quickly relieved by using SLOAN'S LINIMENT

Every old sore is an external symptom of a depraved or polluted condition of the blood. These festering places on the flesh are kept open and in a state of irritation because the circulation is continually discharging into them the impurities and morbid matters with which it is filled. This polluted condition of the blood may be the result of some constitutional trouble; the effect of a long spell of sickness, which has left the blood thin, weak and germ-infected, or because the natural refuse of the body, which should pass off through the proper avenues, has not all been eliminated and has been absorbed into the circulation. External treatment may clear the place to scrub over temporarily, but the blood is not made any purer by such treatment, and soon the sore will return. Break with it at another place and be as bad or worse than before. S. S. S. heals old sores by removing every particle of impurity from the circulation. It goes down to the very bottom of the trouble and so completely changes the circulation that there is no longer any impurity to drain through the sore, but the place is once more nourished with rich, healthful blood. S. S. S. heals the sore from the bottom, the skin regains its natural color, and when S. S. S. has thoroughly cleansed and purified the blood the place is permanently healed.
